New Secret Out About Indochina U.S. Involvement

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Eisenhower administration tried in 1954 to delay proposed elections in Vietnam for feat the late Ho Chi Minh would win, and was actively considering limited military intervention before the 1954 Geneva Convention, according to a secret Pentagon document published today by the Washington Post.

The report said President Dwight D. Eisenhower's Special Committee on Indochina met six months before the convention to discuss sending 200 military mechanics and aircraft to aid the French.

The Post said the documents "reflect this consideration (military intervention) at many points," but it cited only the discussions raised in the January, 1954 meeting of the Committee on Indochina.

The Post also said the papers "do not include any Eisenhower decision not to intervene at any of the several points during 1954 when that was under consideration."

There was no direct indication the report was the same one used as the basis of a New York Times series on the Vietnam war. The Times was placed early this week under a temporary federal court injunction not to print the final parts of its series.

The Post, in what it said would be the first of a series, said it had culled the information "from sections of the Pentagon study on the origins of the Vietnam war made available to" the Post.

The Post said that Eisenhower, under the prodding of Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, made his attempt to delay the elections during 1954 Geneva Convention.

Dulles said in a telegram to U.S. diplomats dealing with the Vietnam question in 1954 that "since (it is) undoubtedly true that elections might eventually mean unification (of) Vietnam under Ho Chi Minh, this makes it all the more important they should be only held as long after cease-fire agreement as possible and in conditions free from intimidation to give Democratic elements best chance."

The U.S. effort to head off the elections failed at the convention, which was called after the French were defeated at Dienbienphu May 8, 1954.

But there were no elections in 1955 because South Vietnamese president Ngo Dinh Diem, who was eventually assassinated during the military coup of November, 1963, refused to allow them.

The Post said that among the documents in its possession there was no clear indication how Eisenhower felt about the possibility of military intervention in Indochina.

"The closest thing to a clear definition of the chief executive's thinking" said the Post, "is a May memorandum to the

DISCREPANCIES HINTED

Dispute Arises In Pilgrim Park Housing

By ERIK M. INGRAM

A game of musical apartments in violation of existing policy is being played by the Marin County Housing Authority, the Independent-Journal learned yesterday.

Investigation by the I-J showed the policy violation was only one of several discrepancies involved in the filling of 17 apartments at Pilgrim Park in San Rafael with leased housing recipients.

Other inconsistancies include the lack of a signed agreement between the management of the low and moderate-income project and the housing authority and the filling of units after the housing board ordered a halt June 1 because of safety hazards.

Of the 17 leased housing families, at least five lived at the housing authority's low-rent project in Marin City and three at other housing before the move to Pilgrim Park.

Housing authority policy states that it will approve no transfer of recipients who already have housing since there is a waiting list of more than 1,000 applicants.

An employee of the housing authority's central applications office said today that the eight were moved for hardship reasons authorized under the policy. Those hardships were listed as medical needs and transportation problems. The nature of the medical and transportation problems were not described and others said they do not exist in most cases.

The 61-unit apartment complex at 8 North San Pedro Road, completed just weeks ago, features two and three story apartment buildings for tenants with income between $4,900 and $7,500.

The authority's leased housing office has placed subsidized tenants in 17 units. A Department of Housing and Urban Development policy limits filling to 20 per cent of the total or in this case 12 units, accoridng to a HUD spokesman.

The management firm running the project, Barcelon-Burger Management Corp. of Sausalito, acknowledged yesterday that a formal lease with the housing authority for the apartments had not been signed. It said it expected one soon.

Without a lease, the relationship of tenant to housing authority, housing authority to management firm and management firm to tenant is in question.

A visit to the apartment of one tenant yesterday showed that the tenant had a lease with the management firm but the firm had no lease with the housing authority, even though the authority is paying a portion of the rent.

The leased housing program — highly successful in Marin — works on an equation based on family size and income. The lower the income and larger the family, the more the tenant is subsized. As income increases, the subsidy decreases in a manner leading to full rent payment by the tenant.

Leased housing recipients at the new development said yesterday they were "very satisifed" with Pilgrim Park and were reluctant to speak of cited safety hazards.

Those hazards include some improperly hung doors which swing outward onto a flight of stairs, reportedly untempered bathroom glass which could be accidentally kicked in while using the stairs, two-story windows only inches off apartment floors, jagged stucco on building exteriors and an unfenced play area adjacent to a busy road.

(Workmen are currently in the process of changing the imporperly fitted doors.)

It was because of these hazards that the housing authority board on June 1 directed its staff to not move any more tenants into the projects.

Some tenants, however, were moved in after that order and yesterday management at Pilgrim Park reported the entire project filled, including those units allocated to the housing authority's leased housing office.

The spokesman for the housing authority's central applications office, Shirley Williams, said the tenants were notified March 26 they were moving into the project, which was completed May 25.

Disclosure of the authority stall's dealings at Pilgrim Park followed authority board approval Wednesday of controversial centralization of the housing authority's administrative function's at its main office in Marin City.

Statements by the executive director supporting the reorganization plan proved yesterday to be in contradiction with those of federal housing officials.

Shepherd has repeatedly said the reorganization was needed in order to handle adequately handle an expanding program. In past week, he has cited as an example of expected expansion his application to HUD for authorization to subsidize 500 more units of leased housing.

However, HUG officials said they have received no request from the housing authority for 500 additional units.

Late yesterday a spokesman for HUD's application office reported that she had been informed by Marin officials that the elusive document "was on its way."

She said discussions yesterday afternoon with the local housing authority's controller, William Emanuel, indicated the application would be forwarded to HUD soon.

McCloskey Given Secret Reports

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Anti-war congressman Paul McCloskey says he was given documents dealing with a top secret Vietnam war study by the man who has been described as the source of the information the New York Times received on the subject.

McCloskey, a California Republican who has threatened to challenge President Nixon for the GOP nomination next year over the war issue, said Thursday he received the documents more than a month ago from Daniel Ellsberg, 40, a former adviser at both the State and Defense Departments.

Ellsberg, holder of a doctor's degree from Harvard University, now is a senior research associate at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

He last was reported seen Wednesday after eating lunch at the MIT faculty club. The Washington Post reported in its Friday morning editions it received a call Wednesday night from a man who identified himself as Ellsberg. The newspaper said the man refused to confirm or deny he had leaked any documents. It said the man indicated he believed he was under surveillance and was calling from a public telephone booth in Boston.

Reporters who went to Ellsberg's Cambridge, Mass., apartment Thursday found Wednesday's mail still in the mail box.

Ellsberg, described by associates as "conscience-stricken" because he was involved in the origins of decision-making on the Vietnam war, was named by two sources as the person who had leaked a massive government study on the war to the New York Times.

Sidney Zion, a former Times reporter, first named Ellsberg in a radio interview. The St. Louis Post Dispatch then published a story saying Ellsberg had been named by "a senior official of the executive branch" as the man responsible for the leak.

The Times had no comment on the reports.

McCloskey said Ellsberg sent

$7 Billion Proposed Budget Passes Assembly, To Senate

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The Assembly yesterday voted 55-18 its approval to a $7.013 billion proposed state budget, more than $250 million over Gov. Ronald Reagan's request.

The budger proposal now goes to the Senate Finance Committee, where Sen. Fred Marler Jr. said he will urge fellow Republicans on the committee to supply the votes needed to send the budget to the floor and ultimately to a two-house compromise committee.

All the opposition votes were cast by Republicans after a two-hour floor debate that was relatively free of the usual partisan bickering.

When Republican Assemblyman William T. Bagley of San Rafael delivered the 54th and deciding vote, colleagues showers the bill's manager, Assemblyman Willie Brown Jr., D-San Francisco, with brightly colored carnations donated by a flower growers association.

The 80-member lower House must hass the budget bill by a two-thirds majority, at least 54 votes. The Assembly is divided 43-37 in favor of the Democrats. Fifteen Republicans joined 40 Democrats in voting for the budget bill.

Traditionally, each house rejects the other's version of the budget and the measure is finally written behind closed doors by a conference committee of three Senators and three Assemblymen.

"This is the kind of political pirouette and dance that we must go through to resolve these questions," observed Assemblyman Frank Lanterman, Republican vice chairman of the Ways and Means Committee.

He urged passage as a way of getting the bill into the conference committee and added, "We all know that the governor will exercise the blue pencil (item veto) very substantially."

Brown, chairman of Ways and Means, voiced assurance the measure was balanced but said "it is not the kind you can be enthusiastic about."

"This is a stand pat version of a budget," he said. "There is no fat in this budget."

But Assembly Republican leader Robert T. Monagan argued it was $254 million out of balance and offered amendments which would have had the effect of cutting it back to the original $6.7 billion proposed by Reagan. The amendments were defeated 39-33 on a partisan vote.

Monagan, while stopping short of recommending defeat of the budget, said it was tilted

Angela Case Prosecutor Plans Move

By MARY LEYDECKER

The prosecutor in the Davis-Magee case said today that he will file a motion in federal court in San Francisco aimed at getting the long-stalled case moving.

A federal judge made an order yesterday remanding the case back to Marin Superior Court, but apparently Judge Richard E. Arnason did not consider the order sufficient.

The case is bogged down because of San Quentin convict Ruchell Magee's repeated petitions to federal court asking that the case be transferred there.

U.S. District Court Judge Samuel Conti yesterday ruled on one of Magee's many handwritten motions but apparently chose the wrong one in the eyes of Judge Arnason.

A clerk in Marin Superior Court said that the judge wanted a ruling on a petition filed in January not the March one on which Judge Conti ruled.

Asst. Atty. Gen. Albert W. Harris Jr. today said he will ask a formal ruling on the January petition.

Magee has sent scores of handwritten writs and petitions to the federal court charging that his civil rights are being violated in state proceedings. Judge Conti has accuscd the

Government To Seek Viet Ban On Others

NEW YORK (UPI)—The New York Times today denied government charges that articles it published based on a "top secret" Pentagon report on Vietnam prejudiced the defense interests of the United States.

In a brief filed in federal court The Times said the government had not made the slightest effort to prove that the defense efforts of the nation would be harmed by publication of the series.

The newspaper accused the government of seeking to enjoin The Times from performing its function as a newspaper.

"It seeks to do so with respect to news articles dealing with the single, most controverxsial war in American history which is today the single most controversial issue in American life."

The government has charged that The Times articles threatened the nation's defense efforts and jeopardized our foreign relations. Michael Hess, chief of the U.S. Attorney's civil division, also charged taht the papers used by The Times in preparing its articles "were stolen and are the property of the United States and we are entitled to have them returned."

The Times brief claimed the information revealed in the three articles published so far in no way endangered or injured the American armed forces or that there was any prospent of future articwes ..a ing this effect. ,

Federal Judge Murray I. Gurfein last Tuesday granted a government request for a temporary restraining order to prevent The Times from publishing the final two parts of the five-part series which unmasked decision-making at the White House level.

Deputy U.S. marshals barred the courtroom go most reporkters for today's hearing on the government's request for a permanent injunction against further publication. Protest by the newsmen that the issue of freedom of the press was on trial and that the press was being barred from covering it were ignored.

In its brief presented to the court today and made available to newsmen, The Times said that in effect all it was guilty of was publishing "part of an historical record and, we submit, in doing so have served the nation as the first amendment intended it to."

The Times also filed with the court a number of affidavits and depositions taken from several of the writers who took part in gathering the information and preparing the top secret Pentagon report. The newspaper also pointed out that in most instances material was

Astronaut Vents Criticism, Quits

"The space program is receiving smaller and smaller support with appropriations from Congress," the 39-year-old civilian said. "I think that's a terrible mistake.

"I think we find ourselves in the space program in the position of having built the dam, and it's filling up behind it, and there's precious little interest in putting the turbines in at the bottom to take out the energy, take out the resources we've built up.

"I can only hope that in the next year to 18 months we can see an upturn to it because we're going into a area of Earth orbital operations that's going to be a payoff for everyone in the country."

Cunningham, who has been connected with the Skylab space laboratory program since his Apollo 7 flight in October, 1968, said the Soviet space station Salyut now orbiting Earth was a "significant step" for the Russians that indicated they led the United States by 4 to 5 years in the space station race.

Cunningham spent 20 months in charge of the astronaut office's Skylab branch and was considered a prime candidate to command the first three-man skylab crew.

GOP Solidarity Kills Strong Peace Vote

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Peace forces in the House of Representatives made their strongest showing on the Vietnam war issue, but heavy Republican support Thursday gave President Nixon yet another vote of confidence on Indochina.

The House defeated 254 to 158 a proposal to endorse a total U.S. withdrawal from the war by Dec. 31, and beat 238 to 146 a second measure calling for withdrawal by June 30, 1972, conditioned on release of all U.S. war prisoners.

Wednesday the Senate also refused to impose a peace deadline on the Nixon Administration. The Senate today went back to debate on the draft extension bill, with just 13 days left before the draft law expires.

Sen. Mike Gravel, D-Alaska, called up his proposal to bar the use of draftees except during a war declared by Congress. Two dozen more amendments were stacked behind it waiting for action as the Senate entered its sixth week of debate on the draft extension.

Gravel and Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif., urged fellow doves to join them in filibustering the measure to cut off manpower for the Vietnam war. But Senate leaders said they would file a cloture petition Monday in an effort to shut off the draft debate.

The Dec. 31 pullout date turned down by the House would have been largely a symbolic gesture because the weapons spending measure to which it would have been attached would have had only a limited impact on Vietnam operations.

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Leaving For N.Y.

SEATTLE (UPI)—Blonde antiwar activist Leslie Bacon, who will leave soon for New York City to face charges of conspiring in a bank burning plot, said Thursday she wasn't concerned about the federal indictment.

"I'll be going back in a few days," Miss Bacon, appearing nervous and tired, told a news conference. "I don't really think I have anything to be afraid of."

But Jan Peterson, one of her attorneys, advised Miss Bacon, 19, of Atherton, Calif., not to answer any of newsmen's questions about the New York charge.

She was indicted in connection with the unsuccessful firebombing attempt Dec. 4 after telling a federal grand jury in Seattle that she sat in on early planning sessions but later withdrew from the plot.

Peterson said his client must report to New York by June 30.

Cool To GOP Bid

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UPI)—Unenthusiastic San Diego officials agreed Thursday to submit a bid for the 1972 Republican National Convention, which President Nixon would like held in this city near the western White House.

But they balked at an immediate commitment and told the GOP Site Election Committee that further evaluation of the financial implications is needed before a proposal will be made. The Republicans are seeking about $1.2 million in cash and services.

"We're not going to give away the store and roll over and play dead because either party wants to come to San Diego," said Councilman Sam T. Loftin.

He said he would support the bid for the convention if businessmen and local and state Republicans assist financially.

Superjet Down

WARSAW (UPI)—The Soviet TU144 supersonic transport (SST) jetliner made an emergency landing at Warsaw Thursday en route home from the Paris Air Show after two engines failed and a crack showed up in a wing, airport sources said.

The sources said the pilot radioed Warsaw's Okecie Airport his No. 1. and No. 2 engines both had quit and the craft landed with fire engines standing by.

Mechanics said they saw a three-quarter-inch crack in the wing mounting between the two engines which failed. They said it indicated the plane had encountered heavy vibration in flight.

One Boy Alive

SYDNEY (UPI)—The eighth of nine children born Sunday to an Australian housewife died today, leaving only a six-inch-long, 12-ounce boy still alive. Doctors said his chances were very slim.

A bulletin from the Sydney Royal Women's Hospital said the boy's sister, who weighed one pound, died at 2:40 a.m. of lung complications. It said the boy's condition "continues to remain critical."

Chores In Space

MOSCOW (UPI)—The three Soyuz 11 cosmonauts aboard the Soviet Union's Salyut space station resumed their chores today after a day of rest that ground control said completely refreshed them.

Cosmonaut Georgi Yeliseyev, who was flight engineer aboard the previous Soyuz flight, said the three citizens of man's first space station "feel as if they have just started the flight," according to Tass, the Soviet news agency.

Soyuz 11 blasted off into orbit around the earth on June 6 with cosmonauts Georgi Dobrovolsky, Vladislav Volkov and Viktor Patsayev and docked with the unmanned Salyut one day later.

Writing History

MOSCOW (UPI)—Soviet scholars have begun compiling a 10-volume history of the World War II that will be the definitive Soviet account and counter "distortions" made by the West.

"Historians in the bourgeois West distort the nature of the war, the reasons for it, and the contributions made to victory over the Fascist bloc by various countries and peoples," the Tass news agency said Thursday in announcing the plan.

The six-year project under the guidance of Defense Minister Andrei A. Grechko will counter Western "distortion" of events by making a full Marxist-Leninist analysis of the war, Tass said.

The first volume is due for publication in 1974. The series will be completed in 1977.

Strike Ends

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—A nationwide strike of coal miners loyal to United Mine Workers Union (UMW) President W.A. "Tony" Boyle ended today in response to a courtdirected order from the tough union boss.

Boyle, whose court removal as a trustee of the union's welfare and retirement fund prompted the walkout, issued a letter Thursday instructing the rank-and-file to "return to work immediately." He wrote the letter under the threat of a contempt of court citation.

Troops Due Dope Tests In Vietnam

SAIGON (UPI) — American troops will be tested chemically before they leave Vietnam for home, to determine if they are narcotics addicts, the U.S. command announced today.

The program was ordered by President Nixon as part of his plan for rehabilitation of addicted GIs and will begin on Sunday, the command said.

A spokesman said the testing will include newly developed urinalaysis machines and has been dubbed the "Drug Abuse Counteroffensive." He said the military hopes to extend the program to include all troops leaving the war zone temporarily on rest and recreation leaves and to all new incoming personnel.

Soldiers found to be drug users will be confined to withdrawal wards in Vietnam for less than a week, then taken home by medical evacuation planes for extensive treatment.

A Congressional subcommittee report prepared by Reps. Robert Steele, R-Conn., and Morgan Murphy, D-Ill., estimated that up to 10 per cent of American servicemen in Vietnam used addictive narcotics.

The command outlined the antidrug drive to newsmen after President Nixon's message to Congress requesting additional funds to counter drug abuse, which he said was "especially disheartening in Vietnam."

New Charges Leveled By Crime Committee

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Mentally ill policemen and officers with drinking problems are allowed to remain on duty in San Francisco because of poor supervision, the city's crime committee charged Thursday.

The 28-member panel, appointed by Mayor Joseph Alioto to study the city's laws and law enforcement, cited two examples of "emotionally unstable" officers:

—An officer who carried a gun in an attache case in the city prison so he "could protect himself if the Communist revolution suddenly took place and the jail was stormed."

—A sergeant who forced a patrolman at gunpoint to arrest a boy because he was part of "the conspiracy."

"The safety of both officers and the community is jeopardized by the failure of the (police) administration to take appropriate action when men have obviously become emotionally unstable or mentally ill," the report said.

The blue-ribbon committee, which police Chief Al Nelder had accused of turning out a "hatchet job" of a report, issued an equally critical report last week.

That report charged that police slept on the job, solicited free meals from downtown merchants and strewed "girly" magazines around station houses.

The latest report noted that police rules forbid drinking on duty and excessive drinking off duty, "yet there are some officers in the department whose drinking problems are well-known to the administration."

The committee quoted a "reliable source" in the department who said there were about 60 officers with known drinking problems who have refused to participate in the Fellowship Club, an informal police organization similar in purpose to Alcoholics Anonymous. About 35 officers are participating.

"While officers with drinking problems should be handled sympathetically and given a chance to reform, when an officer who has been given the chance fails to reform, he should be removed from the force," the committee said.

"We are not suggesting there are many such men," the committee added. "But there are some, and they are known to the officers who work with them or supervise them."

Two Cong Arms Piles Are Seized

SAIGON (UPI)—South Vietnamese police said today they had seized two Viet Cong arms caches in what the government said was a Communist plot to infiltrate Saigon Saturday to disrupt a massime Armed Forces Day parade.

Communiques from Phnom Penh said Communist forces bombarded Cambodian army posts on all sides of the capital early today. A Cambodian officer said U.S. jets had been called in to help in the battle against North Vietnamese in the marshlands east of the city.

Military spokesmen in Saigon said thousands of military and civilian police were searching the South Vietnamese capital for possible Communist arms hiding places. American servicemen were ordered off the streets except when on official business.

Ousted Indians Vow They Are 'Just Starting'

RICHMOND, Calif. (UPI)— Indians the government ousted from an unused Nike missile base said today they were just beginning their quest for a piece of land in the Bay Area.

Nearly 300 policemen and soldiers at dawn Thursday ended the Indians' occupation of the abandoned site in the hills on the east side of San Francisco Bay. "We're just starting, baby, just starting," said Stella Leach, a nurse who served as medic for the Indians who occupied Alcatraz Island and later the Richmond base. She was part of a group that straggled back to a San Francisco Indian center after the government cleared the Nike base.

The 65 Indians who occupied homes and buildings at the site Monday were caught sleeping by 110 police officers, backed by 172 soldiers from the San Francisco Presidio, who moved on the base.

Big Cities Hit By Rise In TB

NEW YORK (UPI) —Tuberculosis is on the rise in many of the population centers of the United States despite new forms of treatment and a general decline in the number of cases nationwide, medical officials said Thursday.

At a special TB briefing at the Harlem Hospital Center, doctors said about half of the 56 U.S. cities with populations over 250,000 had TB case rates above the national average.

Dr. Gordon M. Meade, medical director of the National Tuberculosis & Respiratory Disease Association, listed Birmingham, Ala., Boston, El Paso, Tex. and Jersey City, N.J. among major cities where the new-case rate was higher in 1970 than in 1968.

Jury Finds Four Guilty Of Charges In Antiwar Sit-In

A Marin Municipal Court jury took a little less than three hours yesterday to find four persons guilty of misdemeanors stemming from a sit-in at the San Rafael office of the U.S. Selective Service last month.

Found Guilty of willfully obstructing a public place and failing to disperse were Thomas Louis Oleari, 22, and Bryan Thomas Geddy, 23, both of Fairfax; William Gaston Begelow, 19, of Tiburon, and Lillian Lee Cunningham, 19, of San Rafael.

During its deliberation, the jury of four men and eight women asked for reshowing of a television news film of the sit-in which had been shown by the prosecution during the five-day trial.

Begelow is to return to Judge Peter Allen Smith's court July 2 for sentencing, and the three others are to return July 16.

Final arguments in the case included a moving plea for acquittal by defense attorney Carl B. Shapiro of San Anselmo.

At least one female spectator at the trial was in tears when Shapiro finished his argument, which traced the history of protest and civil disobedience from the Magna Carta, through the Boston Tea Party and the black civil rights movement in America.

Shapiro said the defendants should not be found guilty of the charges. If they were charged with deterring the Selective Service laws or attempting to shorten the Vietnam War, he said, they would plead guilty.

Their only motive in being at the draft board office, he said, was to protest the war.

If they are found guilty, Shapiro continued, it would be the same as finding the Boston Tea Party guilty of stealing property or telling black civil rights activists during the 1960s that all they wanted was to sit in a restaurant.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Vernon F. Smith replied in his argument that it was not the jury's duty to decide if it agrees with the motives of the defendants, but rather it is to decide if they violated the law.

In a reference to the Boston Tea Party, Smith said that if a group of young men went out to a ship today and dumped millions of dollars worth of property overboard, he would expect them to be arrested and brought to trial.

Just as he would, he said, expect members of the Klu Klux Klan who violated the law in Marin County to be arrested and tried.

He told the jury that the statue of justice is blindfolded, and the jurors must act on matters of law, not on their personal political feelings.

Four other persons of a total of 37 arrested at the May 5 sit-in have pleaded guilty to failing to disperse. They are to be sentenced Sept. 10.

Four of the 37 were juveniles and were booked at Marin Juvenile Hall.

The other 25 have cases pending in Marin Municipal Court.

Malta's Premier Begins Job Of Picking Cabinet

Mintoff, 54, was sworn in Thursday as this Mediterranean island nation's first Labor premier since its independence from Britain in 1964.

His party's one-seat margin in the 55-member parliament ousted the government of Dr. Georgio Borg Olivier, whose nationalist party had ruled for nine years.

Final results of weekend balloting showed Mintoff, premier of the island from 1955 to 1958, received 50.8 per cent of the more than 165,000 votes cast.

The World's finest Bourbon since 1795

JIM BEAM

Generation gap? We never heard of it.

Orson Welles and his daughter Rebecca are both performers. Different generations. But with the same love for their craft. The Beams too have a craft—the distilling of Kentucky Bourbon. And for 6 generations, sons have followed fathers with a love for that craft. The result is a proud Bourbon. Smooth, light, mellow. The world's finest since 1795.

POST

Secretary of Defense and the chairman of the Joint Chiefs by Robert Cutler, the special assistant to the President" for National Security Council affairs. The memo, the Post said, expressed "unhappiness over (British Prime Minister Anthony) Eden's proposals, which fell far short of intervention."

The documents indicate that Eisenhower did approve a policy statement of the National Security Council that said, "Communist domination, by whatever means, of all Southeast Asia would seriously endanger in the short term, and critically endanger in the longer term, the United States security interests."

The Joint Chiefs statement advocated supporting the French in "an aggressive military, political and psychological program, including covert operations, to eliminate organized Viet Minh forces by mid-1955."

It also said a Communist takeover of Southeast Asia "could result in such economic and political pressures in Japan as to make it extremely difficult to prevent Japan's eventual accommodation to Communism."

The statement said "overt Chinese Communist attack" was not likely unless the "United States participates in the fighting."

The Pentagon document, however, said Eisenhower, although he had approved the planning outlined in the National Security Council statement, wanted the approval of Congress and the support of U. S. allies before implementing it.

During the 1954 meeting of the Committee on Indochina, Deputy Defense Secretary Roger Kyes said sending the 200 mechanics to help the French might "so commit the U. S. to support the French that we must be prepared eventually for complete intervention, including use of U. S. combat forces."

The document said Undersecretary of State Walter Bedell Smith argued that "the importance of winning in Indochina was so great that if worst came to the worst he personally would favor intervention with U. S. air and naval forces—not ground forces."

Among the voices raised against sending any U.S. forces to Indochina was Sen. John C. Stennis, D-Miss., who was then a low-ranking member of the Armed Services Committee he now heads.

"It seems to me that we should certainly stop short of sending our troops or airmen to this area, either for participation in the conflict or as instructors," Stennis said in a letter to Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson.

Jail Term For Possessing Pot

Craig R. Westling, 23, of Inverness, was sentenced to one year in Marin County Jail yesterday for possessing marijuana for sale.

Judge Henry J. Broderick of Marin Superior Court also placed Westling on probation for two years and gave him a three-month sentence — to be served concurrently with the one-year sentence — for possessing marijuana in connection with another case.

Westling was arrested with three other men in May 1969 when agents raided an Inverness house where they said they found large quantities of hashish.

Two of the men have been sentenced previously, and the other, John Lipinsky, 23, formerly of Inverness, is a fugitive.

The three-month jail sentence for Westling stemmed from a visit to his residence in March 1970 by a constable who went to the home to warn Westling to keep his eight dogs tied up. The constable found marijuana in Westling's kitchen.

Papers Quoting Ky Are Seized

SAIGON (UP)—The South Vietnamese government said today it had confiscated 15 editions of Vietnamese-language newspapers, 13 of them for carrying a speech by Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky criticizing the government.

Ky is running for president in the Oct. 3. presidential election for the seat held by President Nguyen Van Thieu, also expected to run.

The speech, delivered by Ky at a meeting of Chinese Vietnamese, said "we should reform our internal affairs, because the strength of the army is consequent to it. The strength of the army now is a boast—artificial—and it will collapse any day."

Grant For Ferry Fleet Supported

I-J Special Report

BERKELEY — A $12.6 million federal grant sought by the Golden Gate Bridge District for its ferry fleet was approved by the Association of Bay Area Governments executive committee last night.

Lizette Weiss, ABAG community relations representative, said the only opposition to the grant came from Roger Peters of Harbor Carriers which operates ferries from Tiburon to San Francisco.

It had been rumored that the state Office of Intergovernmental Management, which next must review the grant, might send a representative to oppose it last night but none appeared, according to Miss Weiss.

The grant is being sought to help pay for two-thirds of the cost of an $18.9 million ferry fleet, scheduled to start operating late next year or early 1973.

In other action last night, the executive committee agreed to allow an ad hoc citizens committee formed to advise ABAG on housing matters broaden its scope to other activities.

The committee also agreed that more citizens, especially those from low-income and minority groups, should be encouraged to join the citizens committee and become involved in regional planning.

TIMES

released to the writers without restrictions.

Alexander M. Bickel, a Yale law professor arguing for The Times, asked Gurfein to remove the temporary restraining order on grounds the Washington Post and other newspapers have printed the same material.

Hess, the government attorney, said the Justice Department is considering similar action against other newspapers who published information labeled top secret.

Ted Sorensen, a former speech writer and adviser to former President John F. Kennedy, said n an affidavit that he was familiar with government documents and their labeling and that sometimes top secret stamps were routinely applied to documents with only the briefest and loosest consideration.

The Justice Department had a descriptive list of the materials upon which the Times based its stories. The newspaper supplied the list Thursday at Gurfein's suggestion.

The department claims publication of the report, which was ordered in 1967 by then Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara, could damage national security.

The Times has refused to say who leaked the information to the newspaper but several sources Thursday said it was Daniel Ellsberg, a senior research associate at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and a former employe of Rand Corp. in Santa Monica, Calif. Rand held two of the 15 copies of the Pentagon report.

The FBI was known to be investigating the leak and the identification of the informer.

The Times published three installments of the series — which essentially showed that policy decisions of the Johnson administration did not correspond to public statements on the war — before Gurfein's order stopped the last two installments. The Times refused to stop publication voluntarily.

In Thursday's hearing, the Justice Department argued it needed to see what documents the Times had in order to formulate its case. It said the court should see them too, so it could be aided in its ruling.

"The court cannot frame an injunction unless the court knows what needs to be enjoined."

MARY P. BROCKMANN

Crash Fatal To Larkspur Woman, 72

I-J Special Report

HAYFORK — Mary P. Brockmann, 72, of 461 Cane Street, Larkspur, was killed and her grandson, George Brockmann, 17, seriously injured yesterday in a car-truck head-on collision about 20 miles north of this Trinity County town.

Brockmann was reported in serious condition today in Mercy Hospital in Redding, Shasta County, with a broken hip, leg and knee.

He was driving on Highway 3 when a septic tank truck crossed the road's center line and collided with the car, according to the California Highway Patrol.

Brockmann's sister, Julie, and a friend, Tige Andrews, also in the car, received minor injuries.

Mrs. Brockmann had accompanied the three youths to Weaverville, Trinity County, to dig for old bottles, a new hobby of her grandson who lived with her.

Brockmann, a student at Redwood High School, has been working with a Corte Madera printer.

Mrs. Brockmann has lived in Marin County 14 years and was on the board of directors of the Episcopal Women of the Church of Our Savior in Mill Valley. Her husband, George Brockmann Sr., died several years ago.

She is survived by a son, Jack Brockmann of Modesto; daughter, Janice Welch of Stockton; and several grandchildren.

Another son, George Brockmann Jr. died in October. He was the owner of Brockman Real Estate Inc. in Mill Valley and was a nationally known racing pigeon expert.

A memorial service will be held at 4 p.m. Sunday at the Church of Our Savior. Burial will be in Woodlawn Cemetery, Colma.

ANGELA

convict of "abusing the processes of the court" and recently ordered that no more of his petitions be accepted calling them "legally frivolous."

Judge Arnason, a Contra Costa County jurist, is moving cautiously, however, in the celebrated case and has asked a firm and clear order that the state court can proceed.

Meanwhile, as debate raged on whether the state or the county (see story page 13) should pay for costs of the trial, Assemblyman William T. Bagley's office announced that he today had amended a pending bill (his AB644) related to the Department of Corrections, to obligate the state to pay.

He said the bill, which has the support of the attorney general's office, is to be heard next week.

Magee and Angela Davis are charged with murder, kidnapping and conspiracy in connection with the August shoot-out at the Civic Center in which Judge Harold J. Haley and three others were killed.

BUDGET

out of balance because it would spend reserve stores of cash on a month-to-month basis and would "wipe out" such funds.

He also charged the "budget is out of balance in the area of welfare, unless we pass the governor's welfare program or something like it. It simply does not address itself to the problem of 'we ought to reform welfare.' "

Brown denied that reserve funds should be depleted and noted the budget contained no more for welfare than the $676.5 million originally proposed by the governor.

Major features include a provision that the counties would be "held harmless" if welfare costs more than the state had expected.

Another provision grants a 10 per cent pay raise to faculties at the state colleges and University of California and a 5 per cent pay raise for state employes for a cost of $116.9 million. Reagan proposed expanded fringe benefits but no cost-of-living pay increases.

Senate leader James R. Mills, D-San Diego, said as far as he was concerned any action to move the Senate budget bill was up to the Republicans.

"We've taken our turn," he said, "now it's their turn."

He expressed doubt the budget would be finally enacted and sent to Reagan by the constitutionally-mandated July 1 deadline even if the Senate acted immediately. For the past two years, Democrats have delayed passage past the deadline.

Sen. Randolph Collier, D-Yreka, chairman of the Finance Committee, said when the Assembly bill reaches his committee "it won't do anything. It'll just sit there."

Marin City Flea Mart Is Backed

The concept of a weekend flea market for Marin City was endorsed last night by directors of the Marin City Community Services District, Lillian Lee, district secretary, reported.

Arlene Atkinson and Dennis Monahan, owners of the People's Community Market in Corte Madera, told the services district board their market is currently located near the freeway in Corte Madera. They said they have learned they must vacate the premises where it is held by the end of this week.

The owners indicated they are considering three sites for a new operation — in Marin City, San Rafael and Corte Madera —but that the Marin City location, behind the Standard service station, would be their first choice.

The board approved the location, with the stipulation that permission to use the land be obtained from the Marin County Redevelopment Agency which controls it.

The couple has four children and the family home is at 57 Vallejo Way in San Rafael.

him some xeroxed copies of documents after he met with Ellsberg at Princeton University April 19. The congressman said Ellsberg told him he had "information relevant to Vietnam, in particular, my concern over the deception of Congress by the executive branch with respect to Vietnam."

McCloskey said he could not tell whether the copies he received were part of the 47-volume report on which the Times based its series, which has led to a government attempt to stop publication of the information.

On the basis of the information in the documents he received, McCloskey said, he told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee May 27 that there was a Vietnam task force study. McCloskey advised the committee to request the study from the State Department.

McCloskey said the documents he received were locked up in his office safe. He said that although the material he received dealt with the same decision-making process that got the United States deeper and deeper in Vietnam, "I cannot remember that anything I have seen is what's been published." He said he had not read the third installment of the Times series, only the first two.

Ellsberg joined the Defense Department in 1964 as a special aide to John T. McNaughton, the assistant secretary for international security affairs. McNaughton was responsible for coordinating the Vietnam report.

Ellsberg was with the State Department from 1965 to 1967, spending much of his time in Saigon where he was a special assistant to the deputy ambassador.

FLAG DEBATE

U.N. Foe Lashes Hub's World Link

Susan M. Tennler, leading opponent of the mundialization of San Anselmo, yesterday said she would call for a congressional investigation if the United Nations flag were raised beside Old Glory.

Mrs. Tennler, lieutenant governor of the United Republicans of California, speaking on radio KTIM's "Marin Sounding Board," called recent city council action favoring mundialization part of "a deliberate plan to abolish the United States as a nation."

The term "mundialization" —a word so new it cannot be found in the dictionary — means acknowledgement of world citizenship and responsibility, according to its proponent, Norman B. Leach, executive director of World Federalist Youth-USA.

Controversy over San Anselmo's mundialization came following a 3-2 council vote to adopt the concept and fly the U.N. flag along with the American flag and to be paired with a sister city chosen from another country.

The U.N. flag has been removed, however, for lack of a pole. It had been flying beneath the American and California Bear flags until U.N. officials advised the council it had to be flown on a separate pole.

During the panel discussion, Atty. Warren R. Perry, a San Anselmo councilman who voted against mundialization, said he didn't support the action because he didn't believe it was a function of the city council.

"But even if you're opposed to it, it's not the end of the world. San Anselmo did not sell out and I don't believe the U.N. is a communist organization," Perry declared.

Another councilman, James F. Reed III, supported mundialization which he said "is baiscally a symbolic act."

"We're just saying we are world citizens," Reed said. "It in no way detracts from our support of the United States or our respect for Old Glory."

Barbara Schugt, cochairman of the Marin Chapter of United World Federalists, called the mundialization of San Anselmo "a small step toward peace."

Several questions phoned in during the live broadcast regarded the council's right to decide whether or not residents of San Anselmo should become world citizens.

"I feel we were acting beyond the power of our scope. I don't think we have the right to speak for the community on national or international affairs," Perry declared. He, along with Mrs. Tennler, supported a referendum vote by citizens on the question of mundialization.

Responding to a question that the World Federalists forced their views on the city council, Reed was emphatic in his denial.

"I don't think the World Federalists forced themselves on us. They proceeded in the normal manner. There was no force used. It was an action taken because we believed in it," Reed said. He added that the resolution favoring mundialization did not carry any endorsement of the World Federalists.

When Mrs. Tennler questioned the council's disregard for the petitions presented opposing mundialization, Perry noted that at least two of the names on the petition were inaccurate.

Mrs. Tennler did not comment on his charge.

The question of a new flag pole was answered by both councilmen who agreed public monies would not be used to purchase one. However, a public group is collecting funds to donate the pole.

The panel discussion will be rebroadcast by tape at 10:05 a.m. Sunday. Kitty Oppenheimer moderated the program.

Sausalito Trustees Employ 32

After accepting a hearing officer's findings that sweeping staff reductions proposed by the district are in accordance with the state education code, the Sausalito School District board has voted to employ 32 certificated staff members for the 1971-72 school year.

Excluding staff resignations and dismissals, the board's decision brings to 12 the number of certificated employees who will not be rehired for the coming year, Supt. Lawrence A. Lindberg reported. The board voted 3-0 to employ the personnel, with trustees Robert A. Thompson and Nathaniel Johnson absent.

TOLIVER NEXT

In order of seniority, special assistant James T. Toliver Jr. would be eligible for reinstatement as the result of last night's action, but he was not included in the rehiring because of dismissal charges which the district has leveled against him.

The board voted earlier this week to file charges in Marin Superior Court against Toliver and teachers James E. Pockrus and Cliford A. Munger, who were notified by the district they were being fired for cause.

Included in the 32 persons to be rehired are Superintendent Lindberg, Principals Henry E. Hopkins and Armando Renzullo, librarian Estelle K. Sutherlin, reading specialist Frances Evergettis and 27 classroom teachers.

TEACHERS HIRED

Elizabeth G. Jones, Ray Menaster, Kent R. Kincaid, Margaret J. Muldary, Thomas P. Flynn, Eleanor L. Spells, Barbara Zimmer, Barbara W. Thurman, Alice C. Coss, Jane C. Pokorny, Julianna B. Whitten, Helena Richardson and Judith E. Feinglass.

Lindberg said the board also voted to eliminate seven classified positions in the district, including a secretary's aide at Martin Luther King School, a district office secretary, junior accountant, school secretary, custodian, two bus drivers.

Tax Increase Predicted For Bolinas PUD Budget

A $117,315 preliminary budget for 1971-72 has been adopted by directors of the Bolinas Community Public Utility District, Board Chairman Jose A. Silva reported.

The board voted 4-1, with Silva dissenting, to approve the spending program at a meeting Wednesday.

He said the proposed budget is about $9,000 more than this year's $108,348 budget and will result in a slight tax increase for district residents. The current tax rate is $1.93 per $100 of assessed valuation And he said the exact amount of the hike will be determined by the Marin County Auditor's office.

Silva said he voted against the budget because he objected to including a $10,000 expenditure for engineering services for the district's proposed $5.2 million sewage disposal system. He believes the engineering costs should be paid through an assessment district being established to finance the project.

The budget as adopted includes $44,239 for salaries, $19,660 for maintenance, a $15,500 reserve fund for land acquistion for future water supply and $37,916 for capital outlay, Silva said. In the capital budget is the money for engineering services and funds for a new water storage tank, service meters and a sprinkling system for the utility district office.

The district's estimated revenues for 1971-72, derived chiefly from water and meter installation charges, will be $36,000, he said, leaving $81,315 to be raised through taxes.

The board also voted to hire the San Rafael accounting firm of Sleezer and Eckhoff to prepare the district's 1970-71 audit.

Trading Stamp Bill Is Killed

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) —A bill to give consumers the option of taking either trading stamps or cash with their purchases was killed Thursday by a State Senate committee.

Sen. Anthony C. Beilenson of Beverly Hills, author of the measure called stamps "parasitic" and said they only add to the cost of merchandise. He noted his bill still permitted an option.

The Business and Professions Committee also killed another Beilenson measure to require groceries to list the unit or per pound price of commodities.

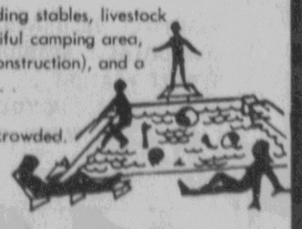
The truth is: you can.

At Rancho del Norte in the Sonoma Hills — a mere hour's drive from the Golden Gate Bridge — you can enjoy all the convenience of a private club without the overwhelming expense. For annual family membership of $200 and monthly dues of $5.00, you have 305 acres of outdoor recreation available to you 365 days a years.

When you compare that to the total cost of weekend excursions with your family over the year, the economics alone show you the advantage of belonging to Rancho del Norte. But there are many other advantages, too.

Rolling hills, a year-round creek, riding stables, livestock corrals, a large swimming pool, beautiful camping area, a five-acre lake (currently under construction), and a recreation lodge — all for you to enjoy as you will . . . when you will. Reservations are never necessary. And because our membership is limited, you'll never be crowded.

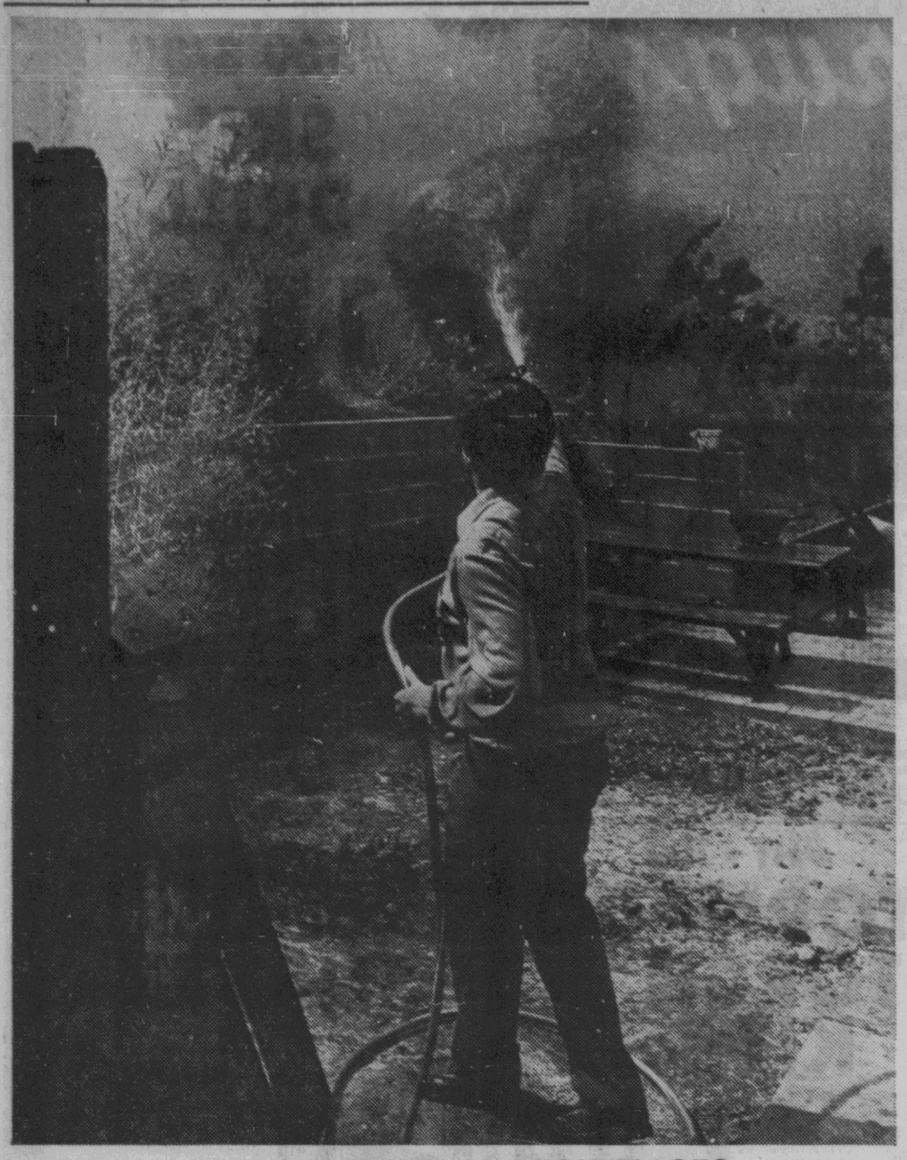


A Free Family Day at Rancho del Norte

Come take a look for yourself . . . this weekend or next. Bring the entire family and enjoy a full day at Rancho del Norte at no cost to you whatsoever. There's a free barbecue, a large open space where your children can wander, and ample time for you to explore the grounds and lodge on your own.

How to get to Rancho del Norte

Go north on Highway 101 to the River Road exit (approximately 4 miles above Santa Rose). Proceed east. You'll know you're on the right road if you come to a stop sign in a couple of blocks with a Texaco station on the right. Continue on this road (which goes to Calistoga) for 8 miles. (This road changes names twice — from River Road to Mark West Springs to Porter Creek Road, so do not be confused.) At this point watch for our mailbox and small sign on the right. The address is 3485 Porter Creek Road. Turn immediately to the left over a small bridge and follow the signs to the lodge. The Resident Manager will be there to greet you. Our telephone number: (707) 545-4898.



FIRE THREATENS RESIDENCES

An unidentified man fought yesterday to keep a roaring wind-whipped grass fire between Terra Linda and Marinwood from reaching a house at 12 Cherry Hill Drive. The blaze, which burned 12 acres, took almost an hour to bring under control. Firemen said it was started about 4 p.m. by children playing with a candle in a tree hut. Firemen from San Rafael, Marin County and Terra Linda departments fought the blaze, which caused no structural damage.

Accident Victim Identified As Oregon Man

The man killed in an accident on Highway 101 at Petaluma Tuesday has been identified as Bruce Boyd Webb, 27, of Cave Junction, Ore.

The Sonoma County Coroner's Office said the license plates on his car were traced to that city and an acquaintance found in Santa Rosa made positive identification.

Webb, who carried no identification, died when his car overturned in the center divider strip. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Webb of Grant City, Mo., and the brother of Curtis Webb of Big Sur.

Ulbricht 'Sick' Misses Conclave

BERLIN (UPI) —Walter Ulbricht, 77-year-old East German head of state, has been absent from the country's Communist party convention because he has been sick in bed, the official news service ADN said today.

There had been speculation in the West that the absence of the aged Stalinist from the June 15-19 East German Communist Paty convention in East Berlin was a sign he was being sidetracked in favor of the new party leadership.

Wornum Beaten In Animal Budget Trim

Marin County's animal control budget escaped an attempt by Supervisor Michael Wornum to trim 10 per cent from the $206,000 contributed by property taxes to the pound operation. In a split vote yesterday the board of supervisors left the budget intact at a total of $368,424. About one-third of the expense is financed by dog licenses, kennel licenses and impound fees.

Marin County Humane Society Director Mel P. Morse and Asst. County Administrator Thomas F. Campanella reported that though several cities were "dissatisfied with the level of enforcement" there was not enough animal control manpower as it is to keep stray dogs off the streets.

Also, the courts "have indicated very strongly" that they do not wish to presecute owners whose dogs are impounded, Campanella said. When the cases are dismissed the county must return impound fees to the owners, thus cutting county revenues.

Morse said he has unsuccessfully proposed that animal control violations be made infractions rather than offenses. He said he had also urged that a school be set up for offending dogs' owners similar to the county's existing traffic control.

Declaring that "half my district hates dogs and the other half thinks they're more equal than people," Wornum moved the trim, but was unable to get a second. The budget then was passed.

UC Regents Balk On Talks Over 'Peoples Park'

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The UC Board of Regents refused Thursday to open negotiations to turn over to the city of Berkeley the controversial "peoples park" near the UC Berkeley campus.

The Committee on Grounds and Buildings rejected a motion that they meet with a committee of Berkeley city councilmen and said they should talk with UC Berkeley administrators before approaching the regents.

However, Berkeley Chancellor Roger Heyns and regent Joseph A. Moore Jr. had told the Berkeley councilmen they had a right to take the matter up with the regents because the regents took the issue out of the hands of campus administrators two years ago.

Council Eyes Budget In Petaluma

The Petaluma City Council last night made its way through the study of 10 departmental budgets for 1971-72 and designated very few cuts.

Drawing the most consideration was the request from librarian Alice M. Hanna for a budget of $101,360, although City Mgr. Robert H. Meyer said he could not recommend more than $84,909.

Miss Hanna explained she needs two additional employees to meet the increased demand for services and requested $21,289 for supplies to step up book acquisition. Meyer recommended only $14,341.

Miss Hanna said she intended to work toward a goal of two books for each resident and that under her budget request the current book collection of 41,000 would be increased to 45,000 next year.

The council agreed that the library collection should be enlarged, but withheld a final decision until next week so it could determine that other departments would not be shortchanged because of it.

In the Parks and Recreation Department budget, the council increased the recommended figure of $118,596 by $1,100 to provide more materials for dawn care since park areas will be expanded in the next year and to provide $100 for professional entertainment at the Fourth of July celebration.

The council made no cut in the requested fire department budget of $395,531 and took a look at its capital outlay requests. The council approved $3,000 for the purchase of new hydrants, mattresses and fire alarm equipment and $500 for firefighting apparel. A proposal by Gage-Babcock Co. to do a survey of fire protection facilities at a cost of $4,000 failed to receive the support of either Fire Chief Roscoe A. Benton or the council.

Benton also received approval on the proposed budget for the Ambulance Department of $20,672 and a capital outlay expenditure of $3,174 to purchase a new ambulance. The money will be added to $12,826 already in the fund.

Other department budgets approved without cuts were weed abatement, $13,461; swimming pool maintenance, $23,831; recreation and instructional swimming, $16,894; sanitary sewer, $201,479; and water department, $509,680.

The council will review the proposed budgets of other departments Wednesday at 9 a.m.

Truck Plunges Into Barn, Killing Driver

A 57-year-old Sleepy Hollow man died yesterday as his pickup truck careened down a grassy slope in his front yard and crashed into the side of a barn.

Benjamin Masten Perkins, of 200 Deer Hollow Road, was dead on arrival at Marin General Hospital following the 2:37 p.m. accident.

The Marin County Coroner's office scheduled an autopsy to determine if cause of death was the accident or whether Perkins suffered a seizure just before the accident.

The California Highway Patrol said Perkins was just entering his steep driveway when his truck swerved to the right and then the left, and rolled down a grassy hill, striking several trees along the way and coming to rest against a barn.

Perkins was a marine surveyor for James E. Dillon and Associates of San Francisco. A retired ship's captain, he had served in the Navy during World War II. He had lived in Marin approximately seven years.

Perkins' wife, Ellen, and children, Mollie and Thomas, who were vacationing in Oregon, were due to return to Marin today.

Funeral arrangements were pending today at Russell and Gooch Funeral Chapel, Mill Valley.

Are 11 minutes enough for an affair?

Some say no. But unfortunately that's all it takes to fly between Marin and the San Francisco Airport. Doesn't give you a lot of time to get acquainted with one of our lovely new stewardesses. You can get a good 11-minute look, though.

Floodwater Bypass Is Suggested

A committee studying flood control in Mill Valley, after discussing and rejecting various plans, has asked the Army Corps of Engineers to study a proposal for an enclosed bypass along Miller Avenue.

Chairman Jerome C. Hauke said the corps will investigate the engineering feasibility of a bypass from Valley Circle to Richardson Bay to bear floodwaters from Arroyo Corte Madera Del Presidio.

Such a bypass has been mentioned frequently as a solution to annual flooding along the creek. It would allow the natural streambed to carry a small amount of water and excess amounts of water to be borne by a concrete channel under Miller Avenue.

The corps's findings on the bypass, Hauke said, will be presented to the 12-member committee at its third meeting at 7:30 p.m. July 14 in the board room of the public library.

Other proposals discussed Wednesday but rejected were a holding basin in the harbor area to store excess floodwaters, a system of check dams and enclosed conduits to bear water from mountain streams to the bay and an earth-lined channel from Valley Circle to the bay to avoid the necessity of a concrete channel.

Aid Asked To Halt Riots, Arson, Looting In Florida

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (UPI) —Officials called in another contingent of state troopers today following two nights of street violence by blacks which has resulted in at least 150 arrests and damage totaling nearly $250,000.

About 45 troopers and a 20-man Florida Marine Patrol riot squad were summoned as reinforcements, and Mayor Hans Tanzler said he would let sheriff Dale Carson decide whether any additional help was needed to quell the outburst of burning, looting and sniping.

Carson said he would ask for National Guard assistance only as a "LAST RESORT." The disturbances began Wednesday night with angry blacks protesting the shooting of a black teenager by a white patrolman last week. Patrolman Frank Fouraker was scheduled to go before the Duval County grand jury today in connection with the shooting.

Fouraker was relieved of his duties following the shooting of Donnie Ray Hall, a 15-year-old escapee from the juvenile shelter. Officers said Fouraker shot the youth in an alley following a chase. A large knife was found near the youth's body.

Officials said 162 persons were arrested Thursday night and early today but only about 120 of those arrests were connected with the disturbances. Most were charged with creating a disturbance but a few were charged with looting.

Carson credited the Florida highway patrol's anti-riot tank, called the "monster," as being the major factor in quelling the disturbance.

Early today police reported they shot a black youth in the foot after he opened fire on them. The youth—the only gunshot victim during the two nights of disorder—was not immediately apprehended but later surrendered at a local hospital for treatment.

This morning police were faced with the task of processing the prisoners for early arraignment in this city of 528,000. A chief jailer said, "we want to maintain the dignity and rights of every single person, and allow anyone who can raise bond to return home."

Two policemen were treated at hospitals for minor injuries, and several others, including Duval County Sheriff Dale Carson, were hit by missiles.

At one point police tried to disperse 75 children and teens looting a grocery in a residential section, but were forced back by a barrage of rocks, bricks, and bottles. The crowd reportedly grew to 400 and police pulled back, returning a half hour later with the "Monster" and tear gas.

Firemen said looters and arsonists were responsible for "60 separate fires, 10 of them major structural blazes."

The fire department confirmed some of its men had been shot at, and Carson said.

Fire Damages An Apartment

Fire officials said the fire started at 4:30 a.m. in an apartment on the lower floor at 338 Keller Street occupied by D. Jacobson.

Firefighters said damage to the lower floor and its contents was extensive, but said damage to the second floor apartment was light.

Officials were investigating the cause today. No damage estimate was available.

Computer Bid To Replace Checks

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Federal Reserve Board, warning that the nation's banks could strangle on the 22 billion checks Americans write each year, Thursday urged adoption of a computer system which would automatically transfer funds between bank accounts.

Under the board's proposal, for example, a person's pay could automatically be credited to his bank account by his employer, without the writing of a paycheck; and regular payments which the worker owes —such as car payments or rent —could automatically be sent to his creditors' accounts when due.

George W. Mitchell, a member of the board, said the policy statement issued Thursday had been in preparation for a year. He said there is an urgent need to reform the checking system before the economy smothers under a pile of paper.

Mitchell estimated that at least half of all checks could be eliminated in favor of an automatic transfer of funds directed by computers. This was particularly true, he said, of checks which are the same every month, such as for car or mortgage payments.

Mitchell also suggested that the use of checks for retail purchases could be eliminated in favor of a card, similar to a credit card. Some checks would have to remain for such items as irregular purchases or for cash.

To encourage development of the transfer system the Federal Reserve Board plans to expand its wire communication system and permit banks to use it free to transfer amounts of $1,000 or more. This will allow the nation's commercial banks to make virtually instantaneous payments anywhere across the country.

Mitchell also said the board would expand the regional clearing system which surrounds each of the 12 Federal reserve banks.

Unless changes are made, the number of checks —now 22 billion a year —will double by 1980, Mitchell said. In addition to the volume the problem for banks is compounded because the average check is handled 10 times before it is cleared.

The direct automatic payment system, Mitchell said, would save money for both bankers and customers since, for one thing, it would eliminate the need for paying postage because bills would no longer have to be mailed.

PIONEER APPROACH

Petaluma Meeting Growth Head-On

By BONNIE BARD
(First of two articles)

The city planning approach of past decades — based on the belief that growth at any price is good — is under serious question in California as residents seek a better quality in their surroundings, even to the point of restricting growth.

Residents of Marin andSouthern Sonoma counties especially are taking close looks at the character of their towns and untouched open space and are weighing past policies that would encourage more growth. Visions of a sea of rooftops and seemingly endless subdivisions reminiscent of hurried development in the South Bay region cause many to fear the same future might be in store for the North Bay.

In Marin the changing attitudes are seen in protests of plans for a new rapid transit bus system that was construed by some as an open invitation to more population and more undesireable development to house it. The Marin Municipal Water District heard residents complain that increased water supply from the planned Sonoma-Marin Aqueduct created development possibilities, while limited water supply would limit growth.

The future of West Marin and renewed planning to restrict zoning and density there to control the future population is again an indication that a new approach to planning is on the way.

While most of these new and restrictive policies are not yet established policy in many regions in Petaluma they are an accepted fact. The city council adopted a five-year development policy aimed at cutting the growth rate by half to contain future growth so that amenities can be provided for present and future residents.

Planning consultant Sidney Williams of the San Francisco firm of Williams and Mocine said that with the exception of a city somewhere in Southern California, Petaluma is the only city to come to grips with its growth problems and is meeting them head-on.

"Petaluma is in the forefront," Williams said, "and reflects a change of attitudes in the past three or four years."

"The Chamber of Commerce approach of growth at any price was the basic philosophy in the 1960's," he said. "Attitudes have now changed, in part because of sophistication and the fantastic concern with environment."

In a questionnaire distributed to all residents and returned by 2,400, the consultants found most Petalumans want the city to remain below a population of 40,000. Williams said he believed that many new residents chose Petaluma for their permanent home to escape from more urbanized locations.

"A lot of them moved to Petaluma because it was cheaper than Marin County, but only later found the reason for that was that the city didn't have parks, playgrounds and other facilities," Williams said.

When did Petalumans come to realize that further rapid growth must be halted until facilities can be improved to meet the needs of those already there?

Accepted by most as the prime impetus for the "slow growth movement" are the crowded conditions at Eastside schools. Not only did parents find their children forced on double sessions at crowded schools, but discovered they had virtually no place to play after school hours.

This lack of city and school facilities spawned the establishment of homeowners associations like the Petaluma Gardens Homeowners, East Petaluma Civic Association, Petaluma Valley Homeowners and Adobe Community for Improvement of Our Neighborhood.

Marvin Hale, civic association president, said of his fellow residents living east of Highway 101, "Many moved here from other parts of the Bay Area where community services were available to them and they think the same services should be offered here."

The groups, both individually and en masse, have urged the city council to provide better facilities in parks, playgrounds, fire, ambulance services and school facilities.

"We (eastsiders) had 40 per cent of the population, but no representation on the city council and everyone was aware of that and blamed the council as the reason for our having fewer facilities," Hale said. Since the formation of the organizations, two Eastside residents, Robert E. Daly and Richard W. Clecak, have been elected to the seven-member council.

City Mgr. Robert H. Meyer, who has headed the city staff since 1962, says he believes that no one could have foreseen the rapid growth that was then in Petaluma's future. "The planners would have needed a crystal ball," he said.

While the sagging economy curtailed some development in other communities, Petaluma experienced its fastest growth.

Since March of 1959, the city has issued 7,547 building permits, largely for single family homes developed in large tracts on the flat, easily and cheaply developed land east of the freeway.

The city averaged 525 annual permits in the early 1960s. The number jumped to 790 in 1965-66. Figures from March of 1970 to last February show a record 1,093 permits and Meyer said another 600 may be added before the fiscal year ends this month.

Petaluma's population, nearly doubled in 10 years, also reflects the city's growth as a bedroom community. The 1960 census was set at 14,035 and rose by 1965 to 19,050. The latest official head count, completed on March 1, indicated a population of 26,850.

"When the crunch hit, the schools couldn't sell any of their 5 per cent interest rate bonds," Meyer said, explaining the lag between the burgeoning population and school construction.

School conditions and double sessions were the result.

"People became exercised over that and everything else connected with growth," Meyer said.

In September, the first through fourth grades at La Tercera School will be on double sessions in the Eastside Old Adobe School District as well as students at Kenilworth Junior High School. Petaluma Senior High School, feeling the population pinch, will open on a staggered schedula with some students beginning school at 8 a.m. and others at 9 a.m.

Meyer believes the planned doubling of sewer connection fees from $300 to $600 speeded up the schedule for developers, hoping to take advantage of the lower rate.

Leafing through the recently adopted development policy which will be his "bible" for the next five years, Meyers said, "it's a whole new ballgame now," hoping citizens will also recognize the new era coming and give the city council the support it will need to implement it.

(Tomorrow: The plans and problems of the Petaluma decision)

WALNUT PARK — The tree-shaded Walnut Park with its charming bandstand and play equipment provide cool surroundings on warm afternoons for residents of West Petaluma. Playground equipment, picnic tables, barbecue facilities and tennis courts are also available at six other westside parks while the burgeoning eastside must make do with future plans to develop similar facilities there. (Independent-Journal photos by Bob Hax)

DEVOURING DEVELOPMENT — The open meadows on the eastside of Petaluma have been consumed by the rapid development of subdivisions. La Tercera School, once standing alone in the open field, is now being surrounded by homes. With four grades at the school on double sessions, the administration offices for the old adobe school district have been forced to take refuge in the mobile home. The sounds of hammering and earth moving equipment are constant reminders to schools Supt. Dean D. Magowan of present problems of crowding and those yet to come.

HAYFIELD PARK? — No, it's the 30 acre undeveloped Lucchesi Park on Maria Drive in east Petaluma. A little league baseball diamond and five acres of grass for play are currently its only facilities. Eastside residents anxiously await the day it will be complete with tennis courts, play equipment, picnic facilities and a small lake for miniature boats. Plans have Been approved by the city council, but funding is not yet assured.

Plea Says Werber Still Is Innocent

Frank N. Werber, 41, pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to felony charges of possessing marijuana and cocaine and a misdemeanor charge of possessing narcotics paraphernalia.

Werber, former manager of the Kingston Trio and former owner of the Trident restaurant in Sausalito, was arrested June 10 by Marin drug agents who were informed by federal agents that Werber had drugs at his DeSilva Island home.

The federal agents said they had seen the drugs earlier that day when they went to Werber's residence to arrest him on a warrant charging him with being a convicted felon in possession of firearms.

Werber is also scheduled to be tried the week of July 19 on charges of possessing heroin, LSD, marijuana, cocaine, peyote, codeine and mescaline in connection with the March raid.

He is to appear in Federal District Court in San Francisco July 8 in connection with the firearms charges.

He is also out on bail pending an appeal of a six-month jail sentence and $2,000 fine imposed last year after he was convicted of marijuana possession and cultivation stemming from the seizure of six seabags of pot at his home in 1968.

Compromise On Works Budget

Marin County supervisors completed action on the $6 million proposed public works department budget today by compromising on additional engineering manpower sought by Public Works Director Donald R. Frost.

He has asked addition of $12,000 above the proposed budget to hire another junior civil engineer — a proposal opposed by the county administrator. Frost argued that the county's private building industry was reviving after last year's slump. This plus more in-house projects would require more manpower, Frost said.

The board voted to add $8,000 to the engineering extra-hire budget and said Frost's successor — he is leaving his post July 16 — could return to the board for a full-time man if he workload materializes.

Principal increases reflected in the budget approved today were in road projects which do not affect the property tax rate.

However, the supervisors approved nearly $60,000 for the county garage to buy new road equipment, trucks and county pool vehicles.

During yesterday's hearing the board asked the staff to investigate revenue bonds for development of Gnoss Field, overruled objections to buying a new $25,000 road striping machine but refused to buy a new $25,000 bookmobile and approved job reclasification of engineers and technicians in the department's engineering services section.

The supervisors also switched a total of $40,000 from long-range funding for the Miller Avenue extension project in Mill Valley and the South San Pedro Road project, east of San Rafael, to finance a slide repair project on Ocean Parkway in West Marin, an item that had not been included in the proposed budget.

The action left $185,000 in the budget for Miller Avenue right-of way and planning; and $1,180,000 for right-of-way, plans and phased construction of San Pedro Road. Only $250,000 of the latter is new funds, the rest was carry-over and contributions from San Rafael city funds.

The widening of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard from Laurel Grove Avenue to Maple Avenue was approved to the tune of $634,000 — only $250,000 in new funds. Other minor projects also were approved.

None of the road projects affect the property tax rate, County Administrator Alan Bruce and Frost pointed out. They are financed by gasoline and highway user taxes, vehicle fines and other sources.

Former Supervisor William A. Gnoss and airport users were unable to persuade the board to allocate $170,000 for fill and paving of a recently-acquired five-acre addition on the east side of the airport. The speakers said the money was needed to supply more tiedown spaces and prepare for hangars that would be built by airport tenants.

Supervisor John F. McInnis suggested a revenue bond might be the answer.

The board did approve $5,000 for a bridge to the new area and other minor improvements.

The engineer and technician reclassification was voted despite the objections of spokesmen for the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees. They argued that the change should be postponed until after Tuesday's election to determine a bargaining representative for the county employees.

Bruce advised the board to proceed with the reclassification recommended by the county personnel office and Frost, arguing it would make no difference who represented the employees in any grievances that might arise.

The supervisors, long displeased with the dais that leaves one member of the board far back in a corner, ordered up to $5,000 spent on remodeling it and revamping the room's ineffective public address system.

Innocent Plea To Hashish Charge

He is to return to court Monday for setting of a trial date. Two codefendants, David Stuart King, 26, of Billings, Mont., and George S. Garr, 23, of no known address, are to enter pleas Monday.

King is also charged with possessing the drug for sale and Garr is accused of possessing it.

Convict's Attorney In Walkout; Judge Finds Him In Contempt

An attorney representing a San Quentin inmate in a stabbing case faces a contempt charge after storming out of Judge Samuel W. Gardiner's Marin Superior Courtroom yesterday.

The attorney, Lawrence E. Weiss of San Rafael, had earlier unsuccessfully attempted to remove Judge Gardiner from the case.

His challenge that the judge was prejudiced was denied Wednesday after a hearing before another Superior Court judge, Henry J. Broderick.

Yesterday Judge Gardiner denied a peremptory challenge because he said Weiss did not make it at the proper time when the case was assigned.

The judge then proceeded to listen to testimony from a San Quentin official who was called after Thomas said that both prison officials and the sheriff's department had asked that Talamantes be restrained during the trial.

When Talamantes interrupted the proceedings twice, the judge threatened to remove him from the courtroom. The lawyer then reportedly said that the judge shouldn't be hearing the case and stormed out.

He was fetched back by bailiffs on Gardiner's orders, found in contempt of court and removed from the case by the judge.

Gardiner then named George Douglas Vaughn, another San Rafael attorney, to represent Talamantes, but it was uncertain whether the prisoner would cooperate with Vaughn.

Talamantes said yesterday, "I don't recognize these proceedings."

Weiss said today that he intended to "expose the kind of justice cons (convicts) get in Marin courts."

He cited a 1969 case, where Judge Gardiner excoriated a jury which found a convict innocent of a knife charge.

A hearing on the contempt matter has been set for Monday, when a new date for Talamantes's trial is also to be set.

Talamantes, who is serving a five-year-to-life sentence for two Los Angeles robberies, is accused of assaulting another prisoner in March 1970.

Research Scheduled On Noise Pollution

FRANKFORT, Ky. (UPI) — An interim legislative committee plans to research legislation on noise pollution created by the expressway and interstate highway system in Kentucky.

State Rep. Bruce Blythe said his home near I-64 was inundated by the noise from trucks down-shifting for a long grade.

Tiburon Seeks New Panelists

Public spirited Tiburon residents who would like to serve on the city's parks and recreation or planning commissions have been asked to contact Asst. City Mgr. Robert L. Kleinert at city hall.

He said two seats on the planning group and four seats on the parks commission will become vacant July 1 and the city plans to fill at least half those seats immediately.

According to Kleinert, Mayor Denis T. Rice has indicated he will wait to fill the remaining posts until the Strawberry annexation election in September. If the election is successful, according to the assistant city manager, the mayor hopes to appoint persons from the newly-annexed areas to serve on the commissions.

Today is Friday, June 18, the 169th day of 1971.

The moon is between its last quarter and new phase. The morning stars are Mercury, Venus, Mars and Saturn. The evening star is Jupiter.

Those born on this day are under the sign of Gemini.

American artist James Montgomery Flagg was born June 18, 1877.

On this day in history:

In 1812 the United States declared war on Britain for the second time in its brief history.

In 1935 Adolf Hitler signed a treaty with Britain, promising not to expand the German navy beyond 35 per cent of the strength of the English navy.

In 1953 Egypt was proclaimed a republic by the "Army Council of the Revolution."

A thought for today: French writer Sebastien Chamfort said, "The most wasted day of all is that on which we have not laughed."

Door Slamming Proves Costly

An 18-year-old San Anselmo youth, apparently upset with a $50 fine he was ordered to pay Wednesday in West Marin Justice Court, slammed the door as he left court and ended up in Marin County Jail for two days.

Werner P. Schmidt of 59 Austin Avenue was fined after pleading guilty to using threatening and abusive language to state rangers June 6 at Samuel Taylor Park.

Judge David R. Baty added two days in jail for contempt of court when Schmidt slammed the door as he was leaving.

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Instead Of Just Grumbling, Give Some Thought To Hand

Some players think that they can ask for a new deal if they get a hand like West's in today's diagram. They're right: they can ask for the new deal. But the opponents don't have to give them anything but a hoarse laugh. In real life, West would wind up with a healthy minus score on such a hand. Today, we see that West can make a profit if he thinks instead of just groaning about his terrible luck.

WEST TOO BUSY

When the hand was actually played, West was too busy grumbling to do any thinking. West opened the seven of spades, and South squeaked through.

Declarer won the first trick with the king of spades and led the nine of hearts for a finesse, losing to the king. East returned the queen of clubs, hoping South would misplace the king in West's hand.

South took the ace of clubs, ran his spades and hearts, and then led the queen of diamonds. East could take the ace of diamonds, but he couldn't continue the attack on clubs. Game and rubber for South.

BETTER CHOICE

West chose the wrong black seven as his opening lead. He should have known that neither opponent had a really good hand, which meant that they held only about 26 or 27 points together. Since there are 40 high-card points in the deck, East was sure to have about 13 or 14 points.

If East had a decent spade suit, he would surely bid or double at his first turn. East's failure to act suggested that his length was in the minor suits. West should therefore open a club, hoping to strike his partner's length.

FINESSE TRY

South would win an early club trick and would try the heart finesse. East would then be in position to defeat the contract with one heart, one diamond and three clubs.

DAILY QUESTION

As dealer, you hold:
♠ 10 4 3
♥ K 8 6
♦ A J 6
♣ K Q 10 8.
What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid one club.

With only 13 points you have a borderline opening bid, but the high-card structure is excellent; you have two tens, and you will have no trouble with a rebid if partner responds in a new suit.

Vow To Name More Women

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Sen. George S. McGovern, D-S.D., said yesterday if elected president he will fill the first vacancy on the Supreme Court with a woman.

McGovern the only announced candidate, said he also would name a woman as U.S. ambassador to the United Nations and appoint several women to the Cabinet.

Addressing the Women's National Democratic Club, McGovern said "one of the first priorities I would set is the business of getting many more women into the top levels of government."

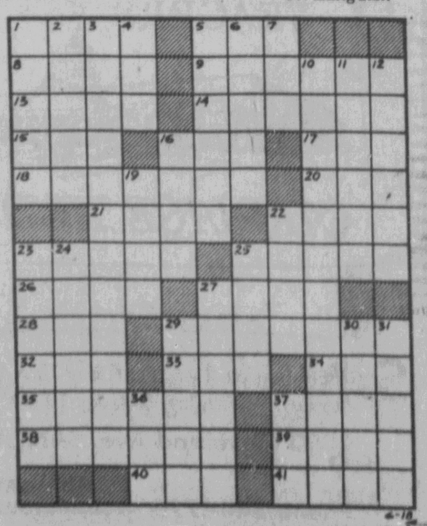
Yesterday's Answer



END OF CHASE — A Highway Patrolman and a San Rafael Policeman pull an unidentified woman from the wreckage of a two-car accident. The car containing her and five companions collided yesterday with a second vehicle on Wolfe Grade as they attempted to shake the chase of a San Rafael motorcycle policeman.

Yachtsmen Protest At Hearings

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A California yachtsmen's representative today protested the high federal standards of sewage treatment in the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency's proposed regulation on marine sanitation.

The first witness at a 12-hour public hearing was William Hynes of San Francisco, representing Boats, Inc., a statewide organization.

Hynes told the three-man hearing board that the regulations are unfair, unnecessary and impractical. The standards far exceed the capability of most shore-based devices, he said.

Hynes said his organization felt the regulations discriminated between types and sizes of vessels and that it was unfair to require holding tanks and pump-out facilities for pleasure boats as proposed.

If pleasure boats contribute only 48 one-thousands of 1 per cent of pollution, as was estimated in Lake Erie, he said, they should be allowed to meet a lesser standard.

Hynes said the "chlorinator-macerator" sewage treatment device which can be carried aboard pleasure boats, would receive the approval of his group.

The federal agency scheduled today's hearing to run until 9 p.m.

Party Or Business? Affair Is A Mystery

A private party for public officials reminiscent of one held in April in Fairfax will be held tomorrow for Larkspur city officials at the home of a local developer.

Cocktails will be served at 4 p.m. with a buffet to follow. Besides that, little else is known about the agenda of the social gathering at the home of Alice B. Vincilione, executriz of the large Tiscornia Estate, which is involved in civic controversy over the blocking of Baltimore Canyon.

Invitations to the party were sent last week to members of the city council, planning commission, library board, parks and recreation commission and several city employees.

Those city officials contacted by the Independent-Journal said they were in the dark as to the reason for the party but several ventured that Mrs. Vincilione was giving a tour of the old Escalle Winery — now under renovation.

On April 30, several Fairfax city department heads, two city councilmen and three planning commissioners attended a controversial cocktail party hosted by a major land developer who hopes to build on the Marin Town and Country Club property in that city.

Which Larkspur city officials plan to attend tomorrow's dinner party was uncertain today. Only one of three city councilmen contacted said he was going.

"I think it's a birthday party," said Councilman Neil R. Brixon adding that his wife had returned the invitation saying they would attend.

Robert H. Lee, the only planning commissioner contacted, said he also planned to attend.

He said he did not think the development of Tiscornia Estate property (half of all undeveloped land in Larkspur) would be discussed.

"If I felt I was going to be compromised, I wouldn't go," he declared. "I'm going because I've always been interested in seeing what the Vincilione place is like."

Claim Reagan Will Try Again With Welfare

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —A California labor organization claims Gov. Ronald Reagan is "secretly considering" an attempt to put his welfare reform program on the June 1972 primary election ballot.

The statement was made Thursday by the California State Council of Service Employes, AFL-CIO.

"It is predictable that a filing with the attorney general for the initiative may be made sometime in late August or September," the statement said.

A press spokesman in Reagan's office declined to comment on the report on grounds that to do so "would indicate that we had given up in our efforts to achieve passage of true welfare reform in the legislature."

The governor's main welfare reform bill has been killed by a Senate committee, but other changes require only amending administrative regulations.

Highspeed Police Chase Ends In Two-Car Mishap

A highspeed chase, involving a San Rafael policeman and a carload of suspected shoplifters, resulted in a two-car accident that sent six persons to Marin General Hospital, yesterday.

According to the California Highway Patrol and San Rafael police, a car driven by Kenneth Jefferson, 20, of North Richmond, was being pursued by a motorcycle policeman when it collided with a vehicle driven by Renee Weitz, 37, of 18 Corte Ramon, Greenbrae near the top of Wolfe Grade.

Riding in Jefferson's car were four young persons from Richmond, Louella Lizzatt Scott, 14; Judy Scott, 19; Lunessa Laruth Scott, 16; John Reed, 23, and Janice Wallace, 18, of 1836 Fifth Avenue, San Rafael.

According to police, Jefferson and his companions had been seen by an employee at Macy's in San Rafael and reported to the police as shoplifters.

Police said they were seen carrying various pieces of merchandise, for which they had not paid, from the store. A saleslady remembered the make and license number of their vehicle.

Police saw the vehicle eastbound on 4th Street and began the chase which culminated in the accident.

The six members of the Jefferson party were taken to Marin General and treated for injuries ranging from minor cuts to a broken leg.

Judy and Lunessa Scott have been transferred to Martinez Community Hospital, Contra Costa County. Jefferson, treated for injuries to his back and neck is to be released from Marin General today. Miss Wallace is in good condition at Marin General.

According to police, Jefferson will be charged with reckless driving, causing injury, failure to yield to a red light and a siren; going the wrong way on a one-way street and speeding.

Trading Stamp Option Killed

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —A bill to give consumers the option of taking trading stamps or cash with their purchases was killed Thursday by the Senate Business and Professions Committee.

Sen. Anthony C. Beilenson, D-Beverly Hills, author of the measure, called stamps "parasitic" and said they only add to the cost of merchandise. He noted his bill still permitted an option.

Police Hunt For Slaying Figure

YUBA CITY, Calif. (UPI) — A material witness in the Yuba City mass murders ws sought by Sutter County authorities today for failing to honor a subpoena to appear at a preliminary hearing for suspect Juan Corona.

An all points bulletin was issued Thursday for Juan C. Mosqueda, 50. He failed to show up at the hearing Wednesday for Corona, who is charged with 10 counts of murder in the killing of 25 itinerant farm workers.

DINING OUT AND INNS

By HARRY CRAFT

New Family-Style Mexican Restaurant For San Rafael

Barring unforeseen circumstances, it appears now that there definitely will be a new restaurant at 1 Vivian Way, San Rafael (former location of Taberna) about the middle of next month.

It will be called Celia No. 5, a family-type place serving Mexican and American food. Owners Celia and Perfecto Lopez have their other four Mexican restaurants at 4019 Judah Street and 5723 Geary Boulevard in San Francisco and in San Mateo and Palo Alto. They have been in business many years and I am told they enjoy a good reputation in San Francisco and on the peninsula. They also are large property owners in Mexico.

They have applied for the Taberna on sale general liquor license, so will retain the bar there. But the entire place is to be redecorated Mexican sylte. Menu will feature all the popular Mexican dishes — at popular prices.

The lease transaction was handled jointly by Harry Abras of Don Timmer Realty in San Rafael, who had the listing, and Tivon Realty in San Francisco, who had the prospect.

LIKE GOOD SINGING?

You'll frequently find excellent singers gathered around Bob Stewart at the organ in Sabella's — some of them real pros.

But now there's a steady one here booked for Sunday and Monday nights (the first that I can remember). She is Toni Cameron, now a Marin resident, who can be described without any strain as a doll. Formerly a professional singer in Southern California, who took time out to raise a family, she is back again limbering up her vocal chords most pleasingly, using a mike and moving from table to table in the lounge starting at 8 p.m. She brings in her own accompanist.

NOT EVERY ORGANIST can necessarily play a pipe organ. But you'll find three who can at the new Marin Pizza Pub at 526 Third Street, San Rafael. Look for Larry Vannucci there on Thursday and Friday nights, Warren Lubich on Saturdays and Sundays and Bill McCoy Mondays through Wednesdays.

This is a Robert Morton instrument, an original theater pipe organ built in 1926 to accompany silent movies, so it has all the special sound effects of those days. Coincidentally, Larry Vannucci says he played it years ago in the Burlingame Theater.

It took many manhours and technique to install it at the Pizza Pub. Jack Strauss of McPhail's, who supervised the air conditioning installation there, was so fascinated watching the procedure that he almost hooked up his own system with the organ blower.

Make it a point to drop in some evening and listen — and sip beer and eat pizza.

MCKEE'S in San Rafael, which has had its dining room closed on Mondays, now has it open from 5 to 9 p.m. Monday night special is a spaghetti dinner, including salad, French bread and wine at $1.50.

Other daily specials during the week at $1.95 are stuffed pork chops on Tuesday, short ribs on Wednesday, corned beef and cabbage on Thursday, stuffed filet of sole on Friday and roast beef on Saturday.

The dining room here has been glassed in to cut down the overtones from the adjoining bar. And Jim McKee reports that the air conditioning hasn't gone out with the coming of warm weather.

HECTOR RUBINI seems convinced that San Rafael Joe's will indeed be open again by the first of July. I dunno — it seems to me there's still a lot of work to be done, but then I always did look at jobs like this from the standpoint of my own slowness in getting them finished.

THE SONOMA COUNTRY WINE GROWERS ASSOCIATION has published a new brochure listing 16 wineries in their area as far north as Parducci Wine Cellars near Ukiah in Mendocino County.

A new listing in the borchure is the old Simi Winery in the northernly outskirts of Healdsburg which has a new owner and is being restored and improved. A new tasting room is being completed this month.

For a day's trip it's not a bad idea to select several wineries — all in one area. For example, it you take in Simi, make it a point to visit Cambiaso, also in Healdsburg, Foppiano, two miles south of there — and of course the new Windsor Winery between Santa Rosa and Healdsburg.

The northernmost group would consist of Nervo, Geyser Peak and Pedroncelli at Geyserville, Italian Swiss Colony at Asti and Parducci at Ukiah.

A valley of the Moon tour could take in Sebastiani, Buena Vista, Hanzell, Valley of the Moon Winery and Pagani. But since not all of these give tours, you might find time either to cross over the 101 Highway and include Martini and Prati west of Santa Rosa and Korbel at Guerneville — or make a separate trip for the last two.

Send for the brochure first, as visiting hours are not the same at each place.

THERE'S STILL SNOW in the mountains around McCloud River Inn in Siskiyou County, but Nick Kobseff reports fishing will be good in about two weeks. And he and Mary are looking for some of the Marin fishermen who go up that way to look in on them at the inn.

IF I HAVEN'T already mentioned it, Cazanoma Lodge in Cazadero is now on its summer schedule and open for dinners Tuesdays through Sundays. Closed Mondays.

A RESTAURATEUR you should know: Leon Chevalley at Tiburon Tommie's for more than eight years as maitre d'.

Leon, must now be in his 70s, was born in Switzerland and became a motion picture comedian and character actor in the early days of the silent movies. He is a quiet little man, scholarly and something of a philosopher.

Meet him, talk to him — and you'll like him.

THE LION'S SHARE in San Anselmo has the Denny Zietland Trio for entertainment tonight tomorrow night and Sunday. Kris Kristofferson will be featured next Thursday through Sunday.

Vets May Apply For New Loans

Veterans of World War II and the Korean Conflict who financed their homes with Veterans Administration guaranteed loans are now eligible for additional home loan benefits, the administration has announced.

The estimated seven million veterans who financed before May 1968 have accrued about $37.5 billion in unused home loan benefits, according to E. W. Christensen, director of the Northern California Regional office of the Veterans Administration.

$320 In Tools Reported Taken

Two cases of the theft of power tools and equipment were reported yesterday to SanRafael police.

Equipment valued at $170 was taken from a shed at the rear of Marin Ice Co. at 219 Canal Street betwen 10:30 a.m. Sunday and 10:15 a.m. yesterday, owner Sig Kramer Herzog reported to police.

Power tools valued at $150 were taken between 4:30 p.m. yesterday and 7:30 a.m. today from the construction site at Margarita Plaza at 4380 Redwood Highway of Herrero Brothers Construction Co. of San Francisco, foreman Bert Hartman reported to police.

Big Brother Issue Gets An Airing

San Anselmo City Council last night sliced $4,264 from the proposed $342,596 police department budget, but left $40 for a one-way window for the police office despite one councilman's strong objections.

Councilman Lewis Stewart called installation of the window "the first step toward an ultimate armed fortress in what used to be a friendly police station."

"People already are disturbed by reports of wire tapping and eavesdropping and the whole 'Big Brother is Watching You' attitude," Stewart told the council.

The window would allow police in the office to see outside to the entrance to city hall on San Anselmo Avenue.

Although the rest of the council opposed Stewart's suggestion to cut the item from the budget, Councilman James F. Reed was the most vocal.

"We're not talking about machine guns and spotlights on the roof or I'd back away too," Reed said. "There's no one else in town that can make a determination about the amount of security necessary here."

Reed, supported by Police Chief Raymond Buchignani, explained that a police woman is often alone in the office throughout the night while officers are on patrol.

"If she has a few extra seconds to pick up her radio and call for help —should some malcontent walk in — it may save her life," Reed declared.

He added that he would add a television monitor to every entrance of the building if it were possible.

Councilmen appeared to be in agreement that recent fire bombings of police stations in other parts of the state were causes for additional precautions.

"I'm almost positive that within a year, you'll have to have a police officer sitting at that desk all night," Councilman Woodrow Capurro said.

Another councilman, Warren R. Perry, said, "I don't think it's being paranoid to be worried about it. I do feel concern for the girl who has to be here alone."

Following the discussion which indicated Stewart was clearly alone in his thinking, he declined to make any motion to cut the item from the budget.

Budget cuts were made in four sections of the proposed $342,596 police budget.

Salaries for temporary employees were decreased by $2,000 for a total $15,055; $500 was deleted from the automotive service account for tires and repairs, leaving $3,000 budgeted; $200 was cut from motorcycle maintenance for a total of $600 and two items were cut from machinery and equipment.

Councilmen, after considerable discussion with the police chief, eliminated an $829 request for a radio for the motorcycle and $735, the city's share for a closed circuit television operation. (Depending on pending legislation, the state would have assumed 60 per cent of the cost.)

In approving the total budget of $338,553, the council agreed to retain several new items, including a two-week course in executive development for law enforcement administrators, $590; (to be reimbursed by the state); new filing cabinets, $377; new radio equipment, $1,789; chemicals and equipment to analyze marijuana, $250; and three special measuring devices, $63.

Another $4,515 was cut from the administrative budget for special microfilm equipment intended for the police department.

City Administrator-Controller Alfred C. Kaeppel suggested the equipment be eliminated this year to allow the chief and his department sufficient time to study use of microfilm in other departments.

Buchignani did not protest the cut.

The council also reviewed the library budget proposal of $73,723 and cut $1,690, representing the cost of relocating the office, $1,500, and a chair and file cabinet, $190.

Approved was a total library budget of $72,033 which includes an additional full-time librarian at a salary of $4,830.

The council voted 3-2 to include the new librarian. Opposing were Councilmen Perry and Capurro.

And, even though the chair was cut from the budget, the council approved $175 for a new desk for head librarian Lucy Palo.

Both the librarian and Louis Yates, chairman of the library board, attended the council's two-and-a-half hour session to answer questions.

Maloney Reports Legislation Proposed To Defray Trial Cost

Legislation being drafted in Sacramento is expected to help Marin County recover part or all of the heavy costs of the trial of Angela Davis and Ruchell Magee, County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney reported yesterday. (Another story on the trial, page 1)

But Marin County should retain in its 1971-72 budget the half-million dollars it had earmarked for the trial expenses, Maloney advised.

In a written report to the board of supervisors, Maloney said his talks in Sacramento Wednesday and yesterday also led him to recommend delaying any lawsuit against the state to recover the costs. Bills prepared by Marin's Assemblyman William T. Bagley and Sen. Peter H. Behr should first be allowed to test their fortunes in the legislature, the county counsel suggested.

The supervisors ordered a three-pronged attack on the cost issue Wednesday, calling for legislation, lawsuit and amendment of the indictment against the two accused after the bloody Aug. 7 shoot-out.

Maloney's trip to Sacramento was in reaction to a ruling from California Atty. Gen. Evelle J. Younger that Section 4700 of the California Penal Code did not apply to the Davis-Magee trial. The section requires the state Department of Corrections to pay for trials involving crime committed within state prisons or escapes.

Maloney reported yesterday that he had worked with Younger's staff and Bagley and Behr aides to draft amendments needed to make Section 4700 apply to Marin's problem.

The amendments will be attached to Bagley's Assembly Bill 644. That bill originally was intended to require state payment for living expenses of parolees, but became "stuck in committee because of substantial opposition by the Department of Corrections," Maloney wrote.

Presumably because the attorney general's office will back the legislation pertaining to the Davis-Magee trial, AB644 will be able to clear the committee. Bagley expected to gain initial hearing on the assembly floor within two weeks, Maloney reported.

"If the bill passes the Assembly, Behr and Sen. Milton Marks (R-San Francisco) will insure that it is expedited on the Senate side," Maloney said.

Bagley also will meet with the state Department of Finance and other officials to seek inclusion of the trial's costs in the state budget.

Two other bills have been introduced in the senate and one in the assembly that might be helpful if AB644 is roadlocked, Maloney said. All three would require the state to share costs of homicide trials.

Maloney urged against suing the state over the Marin trial because it would put the attorney general in the position of being unable to support Marin's legislation at hearings.

Passage of the bill "will not be an easy matter" because of its local nature, Maloney predicted. But, he said, Bagley and Behr have made the cost recovery legislation Marin's primary goal for this session of the legislature.

Meanwhile, Younger's chief aides have "assured us that they will provide full and complete cooperation and assistance" in seeking the legislation, Maloney reported.

Although Marin's budget probably will be adopted before any bill could become law, the supervisors should be able to trim about eight cents from the final, official tax rate if the county wins its campaign in Sacramento for both the law and the state funds, Maloney explained.

Radar Out On Marine Jet At Time Of Crash

DUARTE, Calif. (UPI)—The Marine jet fighter that collided with an Air West DC9 June 6 killing 50 persons was operating with a useless radar transponder, a federal investigator reported Thursday.

George R. Baker, chief investigator for the National Transportation Safety Board, said the F4 Phantom was equipped with a transponder, which is designed to enhance detection on air controllers' radar scopes. He said it was inoperable.

Baker said the condition of the transponder was disclosed by Lt. Christopher Schiess, radar officer aboard the military craft and sole survivor of the crash.,

Baker said there was no apparent violation of civil air regulations, noting that it was not required that transponders be used.

Anniversary For Nixons Monday

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President Nixon has a double celebration coming up—Father's Day on Sunday and his 31st wedding anniversary on Monday.

But the Nixons, still tired from the hectic social activities surrounding the wedding of their daughter Tricia to Edward Finch Cox, would just as soon skip any more festivities.

"Don't talk about any more parties," said First Lady Pat Nixon Wednesday.

Mrs. Nixon kept the secret when asked by reporters Wednesday where the honeymooners were hiding out. But she ruled out Camp David.

TODAY'S EDITORIAL

State Attempts To Shirk Responsibility

The state Attorney General's "informal" opinion that the state is not liable for the cost of the Angela Davis-Ruchell Magee trial came as a shocker.

It is true that Atty. Gen. Evelle J. Younger leaves the door open for possible "legislative clarification" or a court interpretation, which might result in some cost-sharing between the State and Marin County.

Even with these reservations expressed by the attorney general, his ruling that the Department of Corrections is not liable for any of the trial costs was completely unexpected.

The attempted escape and shoot out of last Aug. 7 occurred because San Quentin prisoners were on trial in the Marin Hall of Justice.

IF THE PRISON had not been located in Marin, the trial would not have taken place in Marin, and the entire tragic episode would not have occurred, or would have erupted in another county.

Section 4700 of the state Penal Code provides for state reimbursement of the cost of a trial stemming from an escape or attempted escape from a state prison.

Taking the lawyer's prerogative, the attorney general interprets the Penal Code section literally and argues that the main charges in the Davis-Magee case are kidnapping, murder and conspiracy, not escape or attempted escape.

SINCE THE PENAL code provides reimbursement in the case of escape or attempted escape, the Marin case does not qualify, under the attorney general's literal interpretation.

Meanwhile, back in Marin County, where taxpayers face the biggest tax rate jump in its history, legal technicalities offer little solace. The taxpayers about to be hit by an additional tax of 10 to 20 cents because of the Davis-Magee trial and attendant costs such as higher insurance cost and the need for added security.

TO THE MARIN layman not versed in the technicalities or the loopholes in the law, the question of state responsibility is clear-cut. We had counted on the state's acknowledging responsibility, at least for part of the cost. At worst, we expected some haggling over the apportioning of those costs.

If, however, the attorney general's opinion is to prevail, and the state fails to acknowledge its responsibility, Marin has no recourse but to ask in all seriousness: Take the prison out of our county, and let some larger county with a big industrial tax base bail out the state. A small bedroom community like Marin cannot afford to.

Olive Blossoms

Many of Marin's olive trees are blooming now. The flowers are so small that they might go unnoticed by a casual passerby. Likewise, their fragrance is pleasant, but very subtle and unobtrusive.

The tiny, cream-colored blossoms and their pollen are very evident to anyone who parks a dark-colored car under a blooming olive overnight.

AFFAIRS OF STATE

Lick Welfare Abuse Now Or It Will Wipe Us Out

By GEORGE TODT

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — There are many pressing problems facing California and the nation today, and among the most critical ones is reform of welfare abuses that take from the needy and give to the greedy.

It is a hard task to attack entrenched bureaucracies as a columnist, and some editors won't even let you try. That happened to me last year when I was in the vanguard of those speaking out for welfare reform. One written about a high-salaried school teacher who applied for welfare didn't even see the light of day.

Today, my editors around the State of California are made of sterner stuff than the gentleman who flagged me out — so let's try again. Welfare abuse must be reformed now. We can lick it or it will lick us in the end. Just that simple!

THE FIRST GREAT haymaker blow which landed solidly was Governor Ronald Reagan's brilliant address on the subject early in March this year. Somehow, the loyal opposition was so horrified at hearing a message on welfare reform that he was denied use of the legislative halls of Sacramento to make his speech.

So the resourceful Reagan availed himself of Town Hall in Los Angeles, where he spoke to an overflow audience of top leaders from all strata of business, labor, industry and the press.

HE RECEIVED tremendous ovations from the representative California audience although I noticed liberal members of the media made caustic attacks on his program before he delivered his address.

On that occasion, I asked the Governor a question after he had concluded his outstanding appeal to reason and common sense:

"Governor Reagan, the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints (Mormon) has had an effective, voluntary welfare program going on for more than 30 years. It has been their exemplary boast that none of their members has been on the public assistance rolls. Are you familiar with that program and , if so, would you comment on it, please?"

THE GOVERNOR REPLIED that he was indeed familiar with the Mormon plan and it was apparent he held it in high respact. He philosophized a bit and indicated that yomewhere along the line our national government ought to have taken the welfare program to the American people for solution along the lines that the Mormons had done so successfully.

However, being a realist, Reagan observed that it is too late now to look to voluntary programs to accomplish the needed goals today.

"But my proposed program," he told the Town Hall audience in response to my question, "will come as close as possible now to taking it to the people for a worthwhile solution."

WHEN ASKED HOW the public might best support him in accomplishing his needed welfare abuse reform program, the Governor said simply:

He pointed out that it could be expected that vested interests in welfare bureaucracy and their propagandists would do their level best to bring undue pressure on the California legislature in the future.

He said the only real chance he had to achieve his goal was through the power of an aroused California public that believed primarily in good government — and would work hard to obtain it.

The mills of the gods grind slowly, but they grind exceedingly fine. The grass roots are being heard from in the Golden State. A new group called California Committee for the Governor's Welfare Program has been formed under the chairmanship of Hon. Al McCandless, the much-respected chairman of the Riverside County Board of Supervisors. This action is commendable and worth looking into in the future.

How About Keeping Courthouse 'Park'

As I pass the old Courthouse often I always enjoy to watch the little "park" in front with people resting there — the only beautispot left of old San Rafael — but now of course the oldest part must go. But how about keeping the "park" with the boy untouched, make a parking area between that and the newer addition?

It seems there is a great need for convention halls as the Civic Center is spoken for a year ahead! San Rafael has a lot of good stores, does not need more competition; but more people to shop in them. And if a hall and senior citizens recreation was right in the middle, there should be a lot more people coming. Could the City of San Rafael not make some money that way — enough to keep the old town as is?

Give Pensioners Full Tax Exemption

With a great deal of pleasant surprise, your editorials of June 10 and June 12 leave me with renewed hope for the long ignored tax paying, small home owner.

There are a substantial number of tax paying small home owners, who at tax paying time give up a large share of their small incomes, to support Governor Reagan and other politicians in the manner to which they have become accustomed. Thousands of these people are pensioners, who with their limited incomes are trying desperately to save their small homes. Should they fail, more bureaucracy, more welfare, more low cost housing for the needy, and more taxes for the dwindling number of tax payers who are unfortunate in their search for a tax loophole.

A full tax exemption for pensioners would have some interesting results. School bond issues might just pass. Pensioners votes are numerous enough to defeat these bonds, and most pensioners feel they have already paid more than their fair share. Some childless couples on pensions are still putting other people's children through school! A little sensible legislation might work wonders?

Camper Ordinance 'Not Enforceable'

On Monday night the San Rafael City Council will adopt ordinance 1019 limiting parking of recreation vehicles on private property.

This is my comment on an unenforceable ordinance.

1. One unit per dwelling? How about the family who has a small camper truck to tow his larger recreation vehicle? Does this ordinance stop him from parking both units in his driveway?

2. Three successive night's use in 90 days. Are the police to check every unit at night to see if it is occupied? Or is the ordinance to be used selectly against certain people or vehicles?

3. The five feet from property line or closer than 10 feet to any building. This is not very realistic in view of driveway and/or house placement on most lots in San Rafael.

4. The sanitary and cooking facilities not be used. Who is going to check to see if they are being used, and at what time of day or night?

5. It also states that the vehicle be in rear of the dwelling. This is impossible in many cases as there is not clearance to get the vehicle to the rear because of roof overhang or trees.

6. Does any member of the council own or use any type of recreation vehicle?

7. Does this ordinance prohibit the children from pitching a tent in the back yard and sleeping there?

Clamp Down On Needless Spending

I don't believe I could argue with Dr. Blinder (except endlessly) the merits or demerits of certain federal or state or local taxes, one against the other. (Let's instead be grateful a tax has not yet been imposed in San Anselmo on the second or third "biffy" in the house as was proposed for Mill Valley some time ago!) It is necessary to find less innovative ways to spend — not more innovative ways to tax!

The attention of taxpayers should come to clear focus at budget time. The tax is not primarily at fault — it is the philosophy that the "people" are demanding service and the consequent spending for items totally irrelevant to basic government protection.

The San Anselmo city budget sessions have been set for June 14, 15, 17, 23 and 24. These sessions are the spending times for the whole year to follow. The local tax rate will be determined in August, based on the agreed upon spending which five councilmen will be deciding these summer evenings.

I look forward to having Dr. Blinder and others join me at budget sessions in City Council chambers. It would be a pity to have the budget sessions be the lonely (almost without any audience) hearings they were last year!

Don't Allow Dumping Of Raw Sewage

As a result of the recent Richardson Bay confrontation over county enforcement of the sanitary and building codes for houseboats, the Board of Supervisors will consider a request for a one-year extension of the present unofficial enforcement moratorium.

I would like to point out to the Board and the many friends of the oppressed marine dwellers that a large portion of southern Marin County bordering Richardson Bay is now facing a cease and desist order by the Regional Water Quality Control Board. The new RWQCB discharge regulations for Richardson Bay include very low nutrient levels which are meant to control the undesirable growth of algae and aquatic plants. During the past week we have seen a spectacular algae bloom in the immediate vicinity of the houseboats. The algae bloom is not apparent in either of the outfall areas of the two sewage plants on Richardson Bay. As I recall the same condition occurred last summer.

Clearly the houseboaters are not different — sanitary-wise, and probably are a major factor in pollution of Richardson Bay. Since the Mill Valley and the Richardson Bay sanitary districts are attempting to comply promptly with the new RWQCB discharge regulations, it seems only reasonable that the county not grant the houseboat dwellers another year of dumping their raw sewage.

Viet Withdrawal Hinges On Release of War Prisoners

1—The most authoritative spokesman of the Democratic Party, National Chairman Lawrence O'Brien, is openly praising President Nixon for getting out of Vietnam.

2—He believes that withdrawal will be so complete by next year that Vietnam will not be an issue in the election — and he says the Democratic Party wants it that way.

3—Hanoi's latest refusal to give any firm assurance that American POWs will be released even if the United States gives a date certain for total withdrawal is tending to bring the Democratic Party as a whole nearer to the president's position. This will become more evident in the next few weeks.

THE FULL IMPACT of what is happening is just beginning to be visible because so far the Democrats have been centering nearly all their attention on what the effect would be if Hanoi grapsed the Clark Clifford proposal and told Nixon he could have all the prisoners within 30 days after the date for withdrawal has been settled.

That would enable the Democrats to get large credit for a highly popular agreement which would bring the end of the war nearer.

But — and this is the nub of the newly developing situation —what if Hanoi refuses the Clifford proposal as now seems most likely? Where will that leave its many Democratic advocates?

LOOK AT IT this way. If the responsible Democratic leaders — the Cliffords, the Muskies, the Humphreys and others — say we should totally withdraw with a publicly fixed date in order to get Hanoi to release the POWs, then they would logically, by their own line of argument, have to oppose withdrawing totally as long as Hanoi refused to release the prisoners.

Surely the sponsors of the Clifford approach must realize that there would be no incentive whatsoever for Hanoi to release the prisoners, if the Communists could count on the Democrats to continue to press for total withdrawal after Hanoi has rejected the POW release.

I put this crucial point to Chairman O'Brien the other day, and he frankly said that if the Clifford plan is spurned by Hanoi, then it would be up to the president to decide what to do next —and he added significantly: "I think we would support the president."

THE THING THAT makes all this politically important is that all the evidence is that Hanoi will continue to refuse to make any firm commitment about prisoners even if we offer a fixed public date for withdrawal.

In an interview, the top North Vietnamese representative at the Paris talks, Xuan Thuy, said that, after a satisfactory date is set for withdrawal, the prisoner issue "will be settled," not "may be settled."

But the next day he took it back. He would only say that naming a withdrawal date" would lead" to "discussions" of the prisoner release.

It should not be overlooked that in the fall of 1968 Hanoi told President Johnson that stopping the bombing of the North "would lead" to "discussions" for ending the war. They're still going on — and so is the war.

WHY DOES HANOI refuse to promise more than "discussions" of the prisoner issue if the date for withdrawal is announced? The answer is clear to those familiar with Communist negotiating tactics. Hanoi does not propose to exchange prisoners for withdrawal. It wants something more —like getting the United States to overthrow the Thieu government on the way out of Vietnam.

So it comes down to this. If Hanoi refuses to bring about the absence of U. S. troops in Vietnam by refusing to release the POWs, can the responsible Democrats do other than stand with the president for the presence of U.S. troops in Vietnam until they are released?

GOP May Be Hurt By Hike In Income Taxes

By ERNEST B. FURGURSON

Roughly 22 million Americans will be hit with additional tax bills next April, atop what is being withheld from their regular paychecks — unless they have paid attention to a nearly frantic Internal Revenue Service (IRS) campaign aimed at warning them to juggle their exemptions now in order to lessen the impact next spring.

What makes not only the IRS but also the White House and the Republic National Committee quiver is that the victims of this tax withholding shortfall who will have to pay up in April are in the traditional middle and upper-middle-class hardcore of GOP strength. And although the fault cannot be traced to any Administration-sponsored tax increase, the psychological effect on that vital 20 million will be as if a sharp and unexpected boost had been passed — and in a presidential election year.

IT IS NOT the sort of thing two politicians like Mr. Nixon and John Connally would do intentionally.

Nevertheless, the people affected are mostly professionals, salaried or making good wages — educated citizens likely to know quite well that it remains possible for some millionaires to get by without paying any federal income taxes at all, and who have read about the Administration's controversial "gift" of nearly $3 billion in liberalized depreciation allowances to business, retroactive to the first of this year.

A BETTER INFORMED few among them also may realize that the problem they face relates in part to changes in the tax laws intended to benefit those at the very bottom of the economic ladder. So there they are, 20 million of them, bracketed between the loophole-happy rich and the corporations on one side and the poor who are getting an overdue break on the other. It is not going to make the victims generous toward the Administration.

What happened, for one thing, is that the 1971 withholding tables carry the standard deduction of 13 per cent beyond the legal $1,500 cut-off point, and thus will require extra payments by many on the day of reckoning. This detail and many others in the changed laws could be covered fully only if the current tables were expanded to deal with every conceivable tax eventuality, according to the IRS — and that would mean an annual table that would fill a whole bookshelf. The slip-up at hand accompanies the IRS effort to keep the tables as compact as possible, since most major employers use data processing machinery that cannot handle an endless assortment of legal and mathematical possibilities.

THE GROUPS THAT will be hit are these:

1—Those with salaries of $11,500 or more who either take the maximum standard deduction of $1,500 of itemized deductions which total less than 13 per cent.

2—Single persons making $15,000 or more.

3—Married persons making $25,000 or more.

4—All working couples.

When the IRS realized the potential in this situation back in March, it began cautioning companies to advise their employees of it, for if employees take the trouble to change their exemptions, they still might prevent or soften the coming blow.

They can ask their employers to cut their exemptions back to zero, so more will be withheld on each check and an extra bill will be less likely. They can make an estimate of their probable total tax due next April, and if something less drastic than cutting exemptions to zero will suffice, they can try that. They also can authorize withholding even beyond the zero exemption rate. But it is certain that those who make no such adjustments in advance are going to wish they had when April comes.

KNOWING THIS, IRS not only sent its cautionary note to companies, but put out public warnings in April. Press conferences and formal statements from the IRS brass have followed. But they have been largely ineffective.

Thus IRS now is considering scheduling broadcast spots to force the message home. That is the way politicians make a point, and IRS is becoming uncomfortably aware that the politicians now in power, already acknowledging the economy as the softest spot in their ambitions to stay there, have an urgent interest in preventing any taxpayer revolt in the election year of 1972.

Adults Muff Opportunity To Close Generation Gap

The over-30 crowd left their hearing aids at home last week and missed a big chance to jump right over the generation gap.

Shyly — and without much finesse — students brought a proposal for an experimental school at Terra Linda and San Rafael high schools before the San Rafael Board of Education.

Granted, the program was a little vague in areas and more work was needed before the board could consider it.

But it was totally disheartening to see what almost 200 parents, teachers, citizens and board members alike did with the idea once it was explained.

THEY POUNCED on it. They didn't just nibble at it, they took a big bite. Rolled it around on their tongues awhile and decided, yes, it WAS a great idea. Why hadn't they thought of it?

Nearly everyone who spole — and nearly everyone did — first expressed what a sensational idea it was before adding their suggestions on how to improve it.

The crowd became quite caught up in the spirit of the program, but, unfortunately, missed the concept behind it.

When they took hold of the idea, the thoughts and ideas of the students — who, after all, had enough on the ball to dream up the plan in the first place — were left far behind.

SO MUCH TIME was spent listening to what the over-30's wanted to see done with the experimental school, there was not enough time to hear what the students wanted.

As the adults debated various points in the plan — often getting tangled in misinterpretations — students were unable to speak. Frustrated, they sat with their arms in the air waiting for a turn that didn't come.

CERTAINLY THE crowd can justify their actions by saying they only wanted to see the program succeed and, with more years of experience on their side, why shouldn't they make suggestions?

They shouldn't make suggestions because kids today want to do things themselves. They want to make their own mistakes and nurture their own ideas.

ONE OF THE very things they are rebelling against is the overpowering urge of their parents and other adults to do things for them.

It may be a better-planned school, but a lot of ground was lost in the struggle between generations.

If more tact had been used — why not drop the same suggestions over breakfast some morning? By the time the student got to school, the idea would have been his — that infamous gap might have closed a little.

Housing Fund Drive Advances By $4,000

A $50,000 fund drive for new projects for the Ecumenical Association for Housing has been kicked off with $4,000 from an anonymous donor.

At the association's meeting Wednesday, Jean H. Lovejoy, president, announced the gift and said the fund will provide a revolving seed money pool to pay project pre-construction costs. A Sept. 1 goal was set to complete the fund through community donations.

The association elected Richard Rosenberg, vice president.

It was announced that Pilgrim Park, the association's first project for low and moderate income housing was fully rented, and 18 of the 61 units are leased to the Marin County Housing Authority for lower income families.

A general contract was awarded to Herrero Bros. Inc., for construction beginning in 1972 of the Martinelli House for the elderly at 1327 Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael.

Francis A. Hayman Jr., of the National Corporation for Housing Projects, said his corporation can work with the association to provide seed money for pre-construction costs.

Ellis Kaplan, architect for the reconstruction of the Hilarita project on the Tiburon peninsula, invited community suggestions before drawing up final plans for the low income family units.

Marinites Named Council Officers

Justice Sims was elected senior vice president and Garety vice president for Marin County in an annual meeting in Oakland of the regional organization which provides health and welfare planning for five Bay Area counties.

COUNTY COMMENT

By WILLIAM D. (BILL) FUSSELMAN

Some Shabby Treatment For Residents Of West Marin

This will not be the column I had planned to write this week. Instead, it seemed that the two front page articles in the Wednesday I-J called for comment. — "West Marin's One Man Court Ordered To Merge" and "Supervisors Act To Preserve Rural Area" were the respective headings.

There was a lot of hoo-mali-mali involved in both actions of the supervisors. I was on the board when the Municipal Courts were established and was one of those who worked to bring them into being. We recognized the reasonableness of the requests of the folks out in Western Marin that they continue to have a justice court so they would not have to travel those many miles to San Rafael, so we voted to have it remain when we drew the boundaries for the Municipal Court District. Dollar-wise it has paid its own way and then some. I also voted for David Baty to be judge when a vacancy occurred.

HERE IS SOME of the hoo-mali-mali — This from the Monday issue: "Baty who favors the consolidation which would bring him a $30,000 a year judgeship, has promised to oppose the West Marin court closure unless the county promises to establish a regular branch 'circuit court' in West Marin, which would sit there at least once a week. This weekend, Baty told the Independent-Journal he will refuse the judgeship if the branch is not set up in West Marin."

Now more of the hoo-mali-mali: Tuesday, The Board of Supervisors heeded West Marin resident's pleas that Baty continue to sit regularly in Point Reyes Station. . ."Just who are they kidding? This board can not bind any future board, even if that board of supervisors had anything to say about it when the new court is established.

WE PROMISED, in those long years ago, that the same thing would happen in Novato. Do you see any Municipal Courts out there? I ask you?. . .

Yup, some more h-m-m in the Wednesday story. "Although he had sought abolition of the coastal court in prior years, county Administrator Alan Bruce had no role in the merger, board members said." Maybe you can figure that one out. I can't. From the Monday story: "The question of finance which County Administrator Alan Bruce lists as his chief reason for supporting the closure — He) believes that money used to operate the West Marin court should be channeled into the new Municipal Court, which will cost approximately $180,000 a year to operate." Then in the same article: "Bruce contends the trips from West Marin to San Rafael are 'really not that far' ".

A SHABBY WAY to treat the folks out on the coast and no mistake. The zoning action which the majority members pushed through respecting property out there (disregarding the planning staff recommendation) was equally unfair. The pendulum swings but always comes back, then comes the time for the extremists to duck. Bouquets to supervisors Baar and McInnis for voting against both of these manoeuvres.

Monday will be Billie's birthday. Please think of her a little.

Tomales Roadwork Bid Opening Set

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — The Division of Highway will open bids next Wednesday for slope improvements along a mile-long stretch of Route 1, south of Marshall on Tomales Bay.

This section of highway is very close to the water, which breaks along the road embankment and tends to erode it, especially in stormy weather.

Construction of the protective improvement is expected to cost approximately $150,000. Work on this storm damage project is tentatively planned to start in mid-July and to be completed during October.

Registration For Park Tour

The trip led by Lloyd Smalley, museum curator, will be from July 6 to July 15.

Included on the camping trip will be exploration of canyon rim streams by horseback and on foot and hiking trails to the canyon floor.

MAYBE A LITTLE eyebrow pencil? Ross Hospital Volunteer Mrs. Robert E. Crowe creates fun and an interest in their appearance among patients at Ross Hospital psychiatric facility with her new weekly sessions on makeup and grooming. Her Friday morning sessions have been so much fun that patients have her stay on into the afternoon, she says.

Makeup Class Popular

By BARBARA HOSMER

Volunteer Val Crowe's new sessions on makeup and grooming for psychiatric patients have proved to be one of the most gratifying things she's done.

Now each Friday morning the announcement to patients at Ross Hospital's psychiatric facility, "Val's downstairs for makeup," brings a group of interested women — and some curious men —to the first floor dining room for informal, individual sessions with bottles of cosmetics, eyebrow pencil, mascara and lash brushes. A whole array of sample lipsticks range from the palest hue to deepest red tint, and the creme sachets give off an enticing aroma.

"I've never been a professional cosmetologist, but I've done reading about it and had theatrical makeup courses," Mrs. Crowe explains.

"I TRY to keep up their participation as much as possible, so they try on their own makeup," she says. "We try different things, while the others stand around and make comments about color, what they like or don't like. Often they say, 'That doesn't look good on you,' or 'I like that better on you' while one patient participates," she says.

Putting on their own makeup gives the patients confidence, and besides, Mrs. Crowe confesses that her hand isn't too steady throughout a two or three-hour makeup session.

"Have you ever tried to put mascara on somebody else?" she asks.

"Some have gotten their interest back in their appearance," she said of the patients.

One woman who had shown little interest in her appearance before came to the Monday night bingo game wearing eyebrow pencil and mascara she'd put on herself, Mrs. Crowe related. She'd gone and bought herself "just some cheap things," she explained to Mrs. Crowe.

"It's been so pleasant and gratifying." The first makeup session the patients were "so enthusiastic they didn't want me to go home," she said.

Quite often her sessions go on into the afternoon, though she begins about 10 a.m. Sometimes the men come to observe and comment, and some of the younger ones say they don't believe in makeup for women, they like the natural look.

"They're interested, enthusiastic and fun —everybody making cracks and jokes," she says.

The wife of Fairfax's new city administrator, Robert E. Crowe, Val and her husband arrived in Marin in March from Sacramento, but are "Southern California people." Since she was active as a hospital volunteer in Montebello, the first thing she thought to do in Marin was to volunteer at a hospital. She joined the Ross Hospital Volunteers immediately and began work in the main hospital.

In April she became a volunteer also for "south wing," the psychiatric facility across the street from the main hospital.

Now she volunteers both places, wearing the volunteer uniform for her seven hours' volunteer work each Wednesday at the main hospital.

Fridays and Monday nights she's doing makeup sessions, bingo participation and just visiting with patients along with the other south wing volunteers.

"It makes the time go faster for the patients," Mrs. Crowe explained of the volunteers' participating.

Val Crowe had once done cultural education for military dependents overseas, and she got the idea of trying makeup sessions at Ross Hospital.

She discussed it with Mrs. Howard Hetzner, head volunteer for the psychiatric facility, and the staff doctors. All thought it a good idea. She appealed to the cosmetics firm in Marin, since it was close, and had the things she needed the next day.

The enthusiasm of the patients and the fairly rapid turnover at Ross are two solid reasons she plans to continue the demonstrations. Besides, "they're fun," she says.

Women 'Shocked' By U.S. Clothes

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UPI)—The clothes the fashion industry has been offering the American women has left many of them in "a state of shock."

The description comes from Jerry Silverman, a prime mover on the U.S. fashion scene. "Women haven't liked the look of clothes for a long time," said Silverman,e president of the manufacturing firm that carries his name. "It is our challenge to makethem believe in us again." In short, start buying instead of sitting on their charge accounts.

SILVERMANN WAS one of a five-member panel that participated Wednesday in a discussion of the question, "Does the American Fashion industry meet the demands of American women?" The question never quite got answered but the heated back-and-forth among the five at one point caused Bess Myerson, the moderator and the New York commissioner for consumer affairs, to comment:"We have a boxing ring set up in thekitchen."

The occasion was a breakfast at the Hilton Hotel where all this week fashion reporters, some 200 strong, have been checking the style scene for fall and winter. The sponsor was the International Ladies Garment Workers Union

Silverman believes that basically the American designer "knows his business". But somewhere along the line "we lost the consumer. What the consumer has seen in the stores has turned her off completely. She has been frightened. The average American woman is truly conservative. She doesn't understand the 'way out' " . . .

That's why, he said, so many retailers "have gone to Europe to find clothes they felt could stimulate their business."

BUT THE NEWS for fall is good, Silverman said. And another panelist, Henoch Mendelsund, vice president of ILGWU, and general manager of the New York Cloak Joint Board agreed. The swing for fall is back to "more believing clothes."

Mendelsund, describing "what's cooking" for fall especially in the coat and suit fiels, said, "We have given feathers back to the Indians, the Gypsy back to fortune tellers, the prairie back to urban renewal.

"The traditional, the civilized look, is back ... there is very little 'far out'. The silhouette is mostly straight or semi-fitted.

"HEMLINES HAVE stabilized at just below the knees," which must come as gladsome news to women who've been seesawing between the midi and the mini these past few seasons.

Optimism for 1971 came also from Samuel Sandhaus, executive director, the New York

The Natural Look

Two For One Error

Two separate stories were inadvertently combined into one dispatch in yesterday's Marin Women section of the Independent-Journal under the headline "The Cookie-Cutter Fashion Era Out." The I-J regrets the mistaken combination.

DEAR HELEN:

Your column of male backlash against women — yes, that's what it was! — needs rebuttal.

First: The letter from "Wally" whose wife wears pants suits constantly and he wonders "if he married a woman." If he doesn't know by now, he can't have much of a marriage.

In wanting his wife to go around showing her "great legs," he exhibits his emotional infantilism and lack of interest in her as a person. Why doesn't he bare his hairy chest (if he has one)? He's undoubtedly the type of creep who ogles every secretary and thinks the playboy bunny trip is really exciting. His wife's legs must be some kind of status symbol to him.

(NOTE FROM HELEN: Maybe he just enjoys looking at them. Pants suits are great but, really, I can't see that occasional leg exposure detracts from a wife's status as a person.)

Second: The male women's page editor! This type has been giving women lousy male advice for years, outlining what's "ladylike" and what isn't.

By offering three booklets (on Women's Liberation, washing machine hints and weight reduction) then comparing the response, he attempts to prove that women have no interest in their liberation and rights.

Of course, the little hausfrau in HIS club-and-wedding audience wouldn't send for the first offering. She's the cardboard, stereotype, helpless female idiot locked in her kitchen and starving for his "advice" on how to wash clothes or look like a man-trap.

Women are real, honest-to-goodness people, not automatons who can be programmed into pulling up their hemlines so some male can lick his lips, or into sending for pamphlets that don't tell them anything relevant to the real issues of their lives.

Women come in all varieties and shades of awareness and opinions. Let's stop putting them all together in "bags" and saying "women do this" or "women don't like men" or "women love to cook" or "women are all on diets" or "women aren't logical," etc., etc. It's about time we realized that women are!

Let's stop insulting women's intelligence: stop sending them messages that tell them they're inferior, for this is what your two correspondents are doing! The editor with his scroungy booklets set up a cheap experiment to prove his point and say, "See, I told you, women don't care; they love being second class."

If these types of psychological put-downs would magically cease, I think the women's liberation and rights movement would find it had won, and no longer needs to exist. Meantime, it grows by leaps and bounds as women realize inwardly (if not outwardly) that much of what it is saying truly speaks to them.

Up with personhood! — A FEMALE WOMEN'S PAGE EDITOR

DEAR EDITOR:

(And I still say we have the best of two worlds, if we can be smart — and energetic enough — to juggle them.) — H.

Ed's Sister Captures Washington's Attention

By HLEN THOMAS

The tall (5-foot-10) slender New York socialite captured Washington's attention with her sophisticated manner and her mod clothes. She wore the new grandma style dresses with flat Italian shoes at all the parties where her brother Edward, 24, and Tricia were being feted before the White House wedding.

Mazie, 25, whose light brown mane falls loosely on her shoulders, is not used to the constant spotlight that focuses on the first family, but she took it in stride and appeared to enjoy the attention.

She bears a strong resemblance to her tall, slim mother, has a disarming smile, piercing blue eyes, and is friendly with the press.

WHEN ASKED if it would be a good marriage, Mazie said: "I love my brother."

While walking down the aisle in the Rose Garden last Saturday as maid of honor, Mazie was so much at ease, she tried to catch her brother's eye to

Looking and acting like a model, Mazie loves fashion. She was one of 10 girls who have just graduated from the Yale School of Architecture. And she will be looking for a job — but not soon.

First she wants to travel across the country and is joining up with several friends who will make the journey in a big rented truck.

She says she has traveled every summer and prefers to rough it rather than go first class. She has been to Mexico and India, among other places.

Mazie attended Chapin school in New York while Tricia was a student there. "I was a terrible student," she said. But with her family pushing, she decided to go on to college and chose Smith where she majored in history and later architecture.

MAZIE APPARENTLY is not in a mood to settle down. She had her best beau, Brink Thorne, with her at the wedding. But she moaned when she caught Tricia's wedding bouquet — by bridal design of course.

"I'm in trouble," sighed Mazie.

ON BEING BLACK

One Girl's Braiding Operation Thrives

By SANDRA HAGGERTY

"Next," said 13-year-old Lucinda, motioning to one of the seven little girls seated around her on the front porch. Tina happily handed the big girl her comb and brush and sat down to have her hair braided.

"It started as a game last summer," said Lucinda, her own "natural" shining and perfectly molded. "Then some of the little girls started asking their mothers if I could plait (braid) their hair every day. And since it saved the mothers quite a bit of time and I did a pretty good job, the mothers offered to pay me.

"The little kids think it's a lot of fun — like playing beauty parlor. Since most of them are so young, their mothers want them to wear braids. You'be be surprised how many different ways you can plait hair. Even the girls with short-short hair and natural get tired of the same style, so I make up new styles for them.

"IT'S HARD to find a summer job, especially when you're under 16, so this has turned out to be a good way for me to make a little money. Gee, one morning I had 11 girls from right here in my neighborhood."

Most black women remember well the ordeal of "hair-combing" when they were young. Because many of us had kinky (very curly) hair, the comb and brush did not glide effortlessly through our hair like it did for those girls with straight hair. A noted black psychiatrist has a theory about the psychological damage done to black female children as a result of painful hair combing.

As the mother of two young daughters, I fully appreciate Lucinda's services. My girls, like many others, scream bloody-murder when hair combing time is in progress. No amount of caution can eliminate the wails entirely. The work "ordeal" best describes the situation for both mother and daughter.

But when Lucinda uses the same amount of force to get the rats (tangles) out, my little dears hardly bat an eyelash. A mother could be driven to child brutality by watching their sudden exercise of quiet control. Of course, little girls admire a teen-ager like Lucinda and will go to great lengths just to be in her company.

LUCINDA ALSO offers little extras. Some mornings she puts flowers, compliments of the neighborhood rosebushes, in the girls; hair. And she encourages the girls to keep their combs and brushes clean and to save bits of ribbon and the rubber bands off the daily newspapers for use in their hair.

Says Lucinda, "One family of three little girls doesn't have any money pay me, but I do their hair anyway. If I didn't, it probably wouldn't get done."

Lucinda's summer job could probably be duplicated by young girls in your neighborhood. There are no transportation problems, and the overhead for operations is practically nil.

MUSIC REVIEW

Henry Mancini's Personal Triumph

By JAMES E. WILLIAMS

SAN FRANCISCO — Henry Mancini, who probably has had more public exposure than any other living musical composer, returned last night to the Opera House for another personal triumph with the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra.

The full house got Mancini's famous standards — "Pink Panther," "Peter Gunn," "The Days of Wine and Roses," "Charade" and "Moon River" — plus works from other well-known composers in the pop field.

Having been introduced to the Mancini sound when the composer-arranger made his debut with the symphony last spring, the treats of the evening for this reviewer were Mancini's arrangements of the overture to the rock opera "Tommy," and a medley from "Jesus Christ, Superstar," which will hit the boards tpis fall as a musical.

While enjoyable, Mancini's arrangements for a "Portrait of Simon and Garfunkel," were a little too flowery. The famous duo's scores are good enough just left alone.

The orchestra, decked out in its "pops" uniforms — tuxedos instead of white tie and tails — seemed to thoroughly enjoy the change of pace. There were some sterling individual performances from orchestra personnel and the sound on the while was full-bodied and golden. However, Mancini brought along a few imports in the brass section for such numbers as "Fist Full of Dollars" and "Panther." Featured as soloist in "Fist" was trumpeter Graham Young, whose big sound echoed throughout the house.

The low-key Mancini intertwined his music with small talk and occasionally took a turn on the piano for solo passages.

Following "Superstar," which he halted midway in the medley and restarted due to a foul-up, Mancini seemed almost apologetic, but rebounded later by lauding Seiji Ozawa for having such a "fine band."

For an encore Mancini offered what he called the only "X-rated" encore in history, "The Stripper," and then sent the happy audience home with a repeat of "They're Off," from his film score of "The Great Race."

Mancini will repeat the concert tonight at the Opera House with another full house expected as the symphony ends two weeks of "specials" which began on an operatic note with Eileen Farrell and James McCracken as soloists.

San Rafael Council Adds $27,000 To Big Budget

The San Rafael City Council last night concluded its scrutiny of proposed departmental spending for 1971-72, although it still must consider employee salary requests and a capital improvements program.

The council took up the requests of seven department heads, winding up a night of additions and deductions by increasing the record $4.8 million budget more than $27,000.

The bulk of the increase — $26,000 — was added to the public works budget for San Rafael Canal survey work. San Rafael and the state have been involved in a long dispute over settling the original boundaries of the canal, and legislation empowering the city to do its own survey is pending in Sacramento.

At the urging of mayor C. Paul Bettini, $4,000 also was added to the finance department budget to cover an expected rise in the city's general and liability insurance. The amount appropriated for premiums was $46,000, up from $44,860 this fiscal year.

Bettini, an insurance agent, said insurance companies were becoming increasingly wary of covering government buildings, referring to attacks by extremists.

The council heard a request by Robert A. Roumigiuere, president of the board of directors of the Louise A. Boyd Science Museum, for funds to help support the facility, which operates at a deficit.

Although it expressed interest in contributing, the council was wary of giving public funds to a private organization. The parks and recreation commission was asked to investigate a procedure under which the city could contribute funds via taking part in some fashion in the museum's activities.

City Mgr. James H. McCown told the council adoption of the budget awaits completion of negotiations with city employees and the outcome of review next month of proposed capital spending.

Budgets approved last night were for parks and recreation, finance, city attorney, city clerk, city manager, treasurer and city council, totaling about $1.5 million.

Longshoremen's Strike Disrupts

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The inland ports of Sacramento and Stockton today reported difficulty in keeping the heavy load of work diverted from the Bay ports by the dispute between the Pacific Maritime Association and its longshoremen.

Sixty ships also were affected in Los Angeles and Long Beach Harbors when the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's union called a 24-hour work halt Thursday.

No break was seen in the standoff here, which concerns demands by Local 10 of the ILWU for a better distribution of work among its 3600 members.

Antone Davi Jr. of 7397 Boris Court, Rohnert Park, told police his 1961 blue Lincoln was stolen Wednesday night from the apartment parking lot. It had license number BJY 073.

MOTION PICTURE GUIDE

The Marin Motion Picture and Television Council provides these ratings of movies now being shown in Marin County. The council's findings are from the California and National Parent Teacher Assn. magazines and the Parent's Magazine unless otherwise noted. FAMILY

"Aristocats" — A family of cats have a series of adventures that turns Paris of 1910 upsidedown. Delightful entertainment.

"Boatniks" — The jam packed boat harbor of Newport Beach, week-end yachtsmen and an accident prone sailor all add up to a hilarious comedy for all.

"Let It Be" — A candid look at the Beatles as they work on recording their last album is a warm and lighthearted treat.

"Song of Norway" — An operetta based on the early life of Edvard Grieg. The scenic splendors of Norway and magnificent music make a family spectacular that is outstanding and entertaining.

ADULTS AND TEENS

"Andromeda Strain" — A team of trained scientists race against time trying to identify a fatal disease transported to earth by a space probe satellite. Settings and technical scientific details are fascinating. Destruction of people and animals might be frightening for young children.

"Butch Cassidy and the Sundance Kid" — A deft sophisticated comedy about two bandits. Imaginative camera work, wonderful score and witty performances. Very violent ending.

"Cactus Flower" — A frothy comedy about a dentist who drafts his proper nurse, who is secretly in love with him, to masquerade as his estranged wife and rescue him from a complicated love affair with a zany girl friend.

"Gunfight" — Two "retired" gunfighters succumb to pressures and have a shoot out in a bull ring with a very unique solution. (Catholic film Newsletter).

"House That Dripped Blood" — Four separate tales of horror centering around the rental of an old Gothic house in northern England. Good of its kind.

"Paint Your Wagon" — Lusty, sprawling musical of the California gold rush days where two miners share a claim as well as a young wife. A raucous and at times tasteless absurd farce.

"Walk In The Spring Rain" — A mature love triangle. A lonely married woman is attracted to a vigorous earthy handyman. The involvement of two people worlds apart is very slow moving.

"Whatever Happened to Aunt Alice" — A grisly horror story about a homocidally insane widow who murders her housekeepers and buries them in the yard to get their bank accounts.

"What's The Matter With Helen?" — Two women, one of them a psychotic, set out to prove the innocence of their sons in a murder. (Boxoffice Magazine).

BORDERLINE

(Most sources say adults only)

"Bananas" — A raw, raucous satire on subjects formerly held sacred or taboo. Woody Allen plays his usual character except this time he is involved in a South American revolution.

"Bob & Carol & Ted & Alice" — An irreverent social satire has a sharp bite in its characters, dialogue and frank appraisal of modern marriage.

"Claire's Knee" — French film with English subtitles is a study of uncontrollable love, is as fascinating as it is revealing.

"Going Down the Road" — Realistic tragedy about poor, uneducated and untrained men in the big city. Grim, earthy and dull in spots with some tasteless nudity.

"Little Big Man" — A very violent tragic-comic history of Indian-white relations as recalled by 121 year old ex-gun fighter. Very thought provoking, bloody with some sex scenes.

ADULTS ONLY

"Best House in London" — Bawdy farce is a showcase for profuse nudity and all kinds of sexual deviations.

"The Body" — An explicit and quiet clinical examination of the body structure. The cycle from birth to death including love making and child birth and views of pulsating body systems and organs would appeal to viewers familiar with human physiology.

"Five Easy Pieces" — A self indulgent, but talented man seeks love on different levels, but is unable to return it. Explicit sex and crude dialogue.

"Gimme Shelter" — The Rolling Stones at Altamont, shows the drugs and violence that ended in death. A frightening view of some segments of the younger generation.

"M.A.S.H." — Nothing escapes the mockery of this ribald book-soaked comedy of wartime Korea. Several scenes are as gruesome as they are funny. Very adult satire.

Prison Inmate Is Attacked

A San Quentin inmate, convicted of second degree murder, was reported in serious condition today with head injuries following an attack by another inmate.

Associate Warden James W. L Park said today Melvin Miller, 40, was hit with a blunt instrument about 11:15 p.m. Wednesday in his cell in the west housing unit. He was taken to the prison hospital in serious condition.

One suspect is locked up, Park said, but he declined to name the man at this time.

Miller is serving a sentence of five-years-to-life at San Quentin where he has been since June, 1969.

Officer Running In Sheriff Race

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Police Inspector William C. Bigarani, 39, who gained notoriety in 1960 when he was known as the "Beat Generation" patrolman, announced Thursday that he was a candidate for county sheriff.

The 39-year-old Bigarani, who has the permanent rank of sergeant, told a news conference that "San Francisco county needs a new sheriff." He added, "I don't intend to run against the incumbent, but for the job."

Bigarani said there were several "problem areas" in the sheriff's department. Among them, he said, were conditions in the county jails and the department budget.

Bases At League Field Are Stolen

The Babe Ruth League reported to Novato Police yesterday that baseball equipment, valued at $95, including three bases, was stolen from the field at San Marin High School between 7:35 and 8:30 p.m. Tuesday.

Alan Hennig To Receive Eagle Rank

Gregory Alan Hennig of Boy Scout Troop 2, Corte Madera, will be awarded the Eagle rank in a Court of Honor at 7:30 next Thursday at Granada School.

Hennig, 15, has been in scouting for four years. He has served as assistant patrol leader, patrol leader, scribe, den chief, librarian and senior patrol leader. He has 23 merit badges, and is a member of the Order of the Arrow.

For his Eagle project, he planted 100 Monterey Pine seedlings on the Corte Madera Ridge. His hobbies include amateur radio, electronics, nature study, fishing and hiking. He participated with his troop on a 50-mile hike last summer.

He is entering his junior year at Redwood High School, where he is a member of the California Scholarship Federation and the radio club.

Hennig is the son of Mrs. Joseph Salvo of 147 Mariner Green Court in Corte Madera, and Benjamin Hennig of San Francisco.

FBI Recovers El Greco Oil 33 Years Later

NEW YORK (UPI) —A painting by El Greco, conservatively valued at $1 million, has been recovered by the FBI nearly 35 years after it was stolen from a Madrid home during the Spanish Civil War.

The FBI office in New York announced Wednesday the painting, "Assumption of the Virgin," had been the object of a three-year FBI search at the request of Spanish police who reported the masterpiece had been smuggled into the United States.

The FBI said an investigation was in progress to identify the individuals connected with the theft. But it declined to trace the route of the painting from Spain or pinpoint where it had been found.

He said the painting was in very good condition.

'Night With Agape' Set In Marinwood

Novato Chamber To Seek Sign Reprieve

With the city set to move against more than 100 nonconforming business signs, Novato Chamber of Commerce directors yesterday agreed to push for a six-month extension of the deadline for removal.

Chamber president Charles Lewis said there would be some "sort of chaos" if the city attempted to have "more than 100 businesses" conform immediately to the ordinance.

The signs became nonconforming three years ago when the city adopted a new sign ordinance with more stringent regulations than had existed in the past.

Sign owners were given three years to amortize their investment and "the three years is now up," Lewis explained.

"We're talking about $100,000 worth of signs," said Richard P. Nave, a member. "There has to be a compromise."

Director Phillip Coady said merchants have a choice of applying for a two-year extension, applying for a variance or removing the sign.

He predicted that the majority would seek the extension, resulting in a lot of time, money and effort expended by the merchants and the city to process applications.

Therefore, Coady proposed that the chamber seek a two-year extension for all, but directors later voted for a six-month extension.

During the six-month period a committee from the chamber and Downtown Merchants Association could work with the city on review or the ordinance, directors agreed.

Director Robert Lagle asserted that the majority of merchants would be granted extensions. "You're likely talking about expensive signs, free-standing signs. You obviously can't write off $10,000 in three years."

Lewis commented: "That darn thing is hard to understand. A lot will have to go in for variances."

Chamber directors also approved spending $350 for printing an informational brochure about Novato.

The chamber will have its annual installation dinner at 6:30 p.m. tomorrow at Sportsman Lodge, with state Sen. Peter H. Behr, R-San Rafael, as the speaker.

Sausalito Panel Eyes School Site

A special meeting to discuss possible acquisition by the City of Sausalito of the Sausalito School District's Central School has been set for June 30 at 8 p.m. in city hall by the Sausalito Planning Commission.

According to Planning Director H. Eric Borgwardt, city officials are considering acquiring the school property for civic purposes. For example, he said Sausalito could use the Central building for a new city hall, library, senior citizens center or youth center.

The property will not be used for classes next year, since all students in the district will be housed in Martin Luther King and Bayside schools.

Last November, Sausalito voters approved a $560,000 bond issue to purchase six waterfront lots for construction of a new city hall and library or for other civic uses, but no construction has taken place.

Price of the central property has not been discussed and is still unknown, the planning director noted. He said the planners will study the proposal at the special meeting, then make recommendations to the Sausalito City Council.

A public hearing on a master plan for development of the Sausalito Yacht Harbor also will be held at the June 30 session.

Judge Overrules Bennett Verdict

By C. P. McCARTHY

A Marin Municipal Court jury returned a guilty verdict yesterday in the drunken driving trial of William M. Bennett and was promptly overruled by Judge Robert A. Smallman who then dismissed the case against Bennett.

Reaction of jurors, who had spent six hours deliberating, was mixed.

Bennett, 52, a resident of Kentfield and member of the State Board of Equalization, had no comment on the guilty verdict or the judge's action.

Smallman had announced prior to final arguments — but outside the presence of the jury — that he would reject a guilty verdict.

Before allowing the case to go to the jury, however, he denied defense motions that the case be dismissed or the jury be directed to return an innocent verdict.

He said that he was allowing the case to go to the jury because he had faith in the jury system and he feared if he dismissed the charges prior to a jury verdict, that "certain elements of our society would hold this was political pressure."

Smallman later told the jury of five men and seven women that it was the first time in his six months on the bench that he had not agreed with a jury verdict.

He said he had not only reasonable doubt that Bennett was not guilty, but "I am convinced beyond reasonable doubt of his innocence."

He told the jury he based his decision on testimony by persons at the scene of arrest. Three Sausalito policemen who were there testified that Bennett was intoxicated. A Boston attorney, his wife and Bennett's wife, who were in Bennett's car, testified he was "cold stone sober."

"You'd have to disregard the testimony of all the people in the Bennett car not to have a reasonable doubt," Smallman told the jurors.

The jury did find Bennett innocent of a second charge of driving under the combined influence of alcohol and drugs.

Bennett's wife, a daughter and three sons were present in the courtroom for the verdict.

When Smallman announced his decision to the exhausted-looking jurors, who had arrived at the Hall of Justice for final testimony 11 hours before, juror Robert L. Sideroff of San Rafael asked the judge to explain "where we went astray."

Smallman replied the jury had not gone "astray," that it was simply a "difference of opinion between the jurors and himself.

"It well could be you're right and I'm wrong," Smallman said.

That was no comfort to Deputy Dist. Atty. John R. Thomas Jr., who prosecuted the case.

Thomas said Smallman's action "undermines the jury system."

Thomas said he was particularly concerned, because Smallman's dismissal of the case prevents appeal or any further action on the charges by the district attorney's office. "We're powerless," he said.

Jury foreman Lawrence E. Senger of Novato said he had "no reaction" to the judge's rejection of the verdict.

"We're all going to go home with an extreme sense of frustration," juror Richard Shlegeris of Mill Valley told Smallman as he asked the judge to explain his decision.

Other jurors appeared disgruntled, but would not comment.

One juror was thrilled with Smallman's action.

Bonney L. Cockburn of San Anselmo, said the jury was split 9-3 in favor of a guilty verdict at the beginning of its deliberation. Eventually she was the sole holdout for acquittal, but she finally went along with the rest of the jurors, she said, when she began to distrust her own judgment.

Mrs. Cockburn thanked Smallman after court was adjourned.

Because of security regulations at the Hall of Justice, Marin juries are usually allowed to suspend deliberations at 6 p.m., go home and return in the morning.

However, special arrangements were made yesterday when the jury, which began its deliberation at 3:15 p.m., had not reached a verdict by 6 p.m.

Smallman said he could not release the jury because a story on his prior announcement that he would overturn a guilty verdict appeared on the front page of yesterday's Independent-Journal.

The jury reached its guilty verdict at 9:15 p.m.

Bennett was arrested April 25 in the parking lot of the Valhalla Inn in Sausalito after Officer Blake Hoffman, 22, saw Bennett's state-owned Chrysler, with its high beams on, cross over a double line before pulling into the parking lot.

Bennett charged in court that while Hoffman was driving him to Marin County Jail for booking, he stopped the car on Bridgeway, got out and slugged Bennett in the mouth.

Hoffman further, according to Bennett, slammed on the brakes of his patrol car three times while they were on Highway 101, slamming Bennett's face into a screen between the front and back seats of the car.

Bennett was later treated at Marin General Hospital for cuts and scrapes on his forehead, nose and lips.

Testimony in connection with Bennett's appearance at Marin General, resulted yesterday in an extraordinary court session where a defense witness resumed the witness stand outside the presence of the jury and after the jury had begun its deliberation.

The witness, Dr. Seymour Farber of San Francisco, who went to the hospital at Bennett's request, termed "an outright lie" testimony given earlier yesterday — before the jury — by Dr. Harper J. Buck of the Marin General Saff.

Buck, 37, a Mill Valley physician, testified yesterday wearing a modish, bright red shirt open at the collar and flared pants. He told the jury that Farber was intoxicated — even more so than Bennett was alleged to have been — at the hospital following the arrest.

Farber, 58, Dean of Continuing Education at the University of California Medical Center in San Fancisco, was outraged yesterday as he denied Buck's testimony.

Farber, wearing a conservative blue suit, white shirt and tie, criticized Buck's "outlandish" dress, said Buck's conduct at the hospital was "unprofessional" and indicated he would seek action against Buck by the county and state medical societies.

Still pending in Marin Municipal Court is a drunk in public charge against Bennett. That case, which is scheduled for trial July 15, stems from a March 4 arrest, also in Sausalito.

Arraignment On Check Count

Vanna Estelle Dugger, 29, of 339 San Anselmo Avenue, Room 15, San Anselmo, was arraigned yesterday in Marin Municipal Court on felony charges of car theft and fraudulent possession of checks.

She was to plead to the charges today.

She was arrested Wednesday by San Rafael police shortly after she attempted to cash a check at Crocker-Citizens Bank, 409 Third Street.

Police said the check had been stolen from Beverly Stevens of 78 Graceland Drive, San Rafael, earlier Wednesday. Mrs. Stevens' car was also stolen from the street in front of the first Presbyterian Church, Fifth Avenue and E Street, San Rafael, police said.

Post Locates Ed And Tricia

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Edward Finch Cox and his bride, the former Tricia Nixon, have been found honeymooning in the Virgin Islands at secluded Caneel Bay Plantation, it was reported today.

The couple is staying at the plush resort on St. John's Island, the Washington Post said in today's editions.

Western Weekend Opens; Big Crowd

Novato's Western Weekend Country Fair opened last night with a packed house at the Novato Community House and one of the largest first night crowds in recent years at the fairgrounds.

There wasn't any count of the fairgrounds crowd, but it was a "good turnout," said Dorothy Merla, publicity director.

The traditional beard contest was judged with William J. Glass winning a trophy for having the best full beard and the best beard of the show.

Frank J. Antonio also was a double winner with the best Abe Lincoln and the longest beard, while Max Maxwell had the best Van Dyke and Irving D. Chapman Jr. the best novelty beard.

Carnival rides, food and game booths opened at noon today with local entertainment groups performing until 3:30 p.m.

District's Preliminary Budget Set

A $271,628 preliminary budget for 1971-72 was approved unanimously last night by trustees of the Boljnas-Stinson school district, Supt. Lester M. Horning reported.

Although the proposed budget is slightly higher than this year's $266,763 figure, the superintendent said it will mean no increase in the district's current total tax rate of $2.25 per $100 of assessed valuation. He said the increase will be absorbed by increased valuation of property in the district.

The district's proposed $155,640 expenditure for salaries next year includes across-the-board $400 annual salary increases for the district's nine teachers, approved by the board last night. A 3 per cent wage hike for the district's three full-time classified employees also won approval.

In the budget are the following expenditures: $24,690 for plant operation and maintenance, $14,000 for pupil transportation, $26,614 for fixed charges, including retirement and insurance costs and $17,868 for capital outlay, including school furniture and audio-visual equipment.

Horning said the budget as approved reflects a $34,656 reserve fund. The spending program will now be submitted to the county schools office for review, he said, then returned to the district for final board adoption by August 1.

The school board authorized the superintendent to obtain an appraisal of the district's buildings for insurance purposes, since its present insurance carrier has decided not to renew the district's policy. A factor in the company's decision was the arson fire which gutted Stinson School in April of 1970, according to Horning.

Trustees asked Horning to study the feasibility of the district's operating its own bus service next year. Currently, the district contracts for bus service with Patchett's Bus Service, a Richmond firm.

Cotati Council Delays Commission Abolishment

The Cotati City Council last night agreed to delay action on abolishing its planning commission, saying the matter needed further study.

No date was set for reconsideration, but Mayor Jack Groom assured the concerned audience that the discussion would be listed on the agenda and given advance publicity.

At a special meeting last week, the council introduced an ordinance to abolish the commission and called it ineffective and said it was unfair to some applicants.

Councilmen Herbert Winter and Alfred Falletti attended an impromptu citizens meeting Wednesday night and heard the group of 40 people plan a petition to urge the council to retain the commission.

Some citizens reportedly urged a recall election against the council, but the majority dismissed the recall move as not productive.

The Cotati City Council also:

POLICE — Received a memo from Police Chief Tony Locarini asking that policy be changed to permit the five reserve police officers to ride along in patrol cars. The council balked at the request and asked City Atty. William Cutler to prepare a new policy on reserve officers after researching the legality of their position.

SEWER — Approved an ordinance increasing sewer connection fees from $50 to $125 per living unit. It will become effective in six months, but an exception was granted for the Holiday Park subdivision which will be allowed nine months.

GENERAL PLAN — Set a special meeting for June 28 at 7:30 p.m. to hold a public hearing on the proposed general plan.

APPEAL — Received a petition from residents objecting to the use permit granted to the Barrel of Suds Bar to operate an outdoor beer garden. The council said a hearing on the appeal will be held July 1.

Rohnert Park Nose Count Shows Hike

Rohnert Park has grown by 5 per cent in the past year to a total of 6,450 residents, according to a count completed April 1 by the state department of Finance.

The federal census completed last April reported a population of 6,133.

GRAND OPENING

A BRAND NEW MOTORCYCLE

Join us during our Grand Opening festivities and become eligible to win one of 63 exciting prizes, including

HONDA CB 100 RETAIL VALUE $389.00
KAWASAKI 90S RETAIL VALUE $359.00

We're Not Just Another Pretty Face . . .

Sure, I'm proud of our brand new facilities here on Francisco Blvd. Specially designed, from the ground up, to be the best motorcycle dealership around. Neat. Clean, Convenient. All the good things.

But it's what you DON'T see out front that makes me proudest.

Service facilities. 20,000 sq. ft., with everything we need to maintain and repair bikes. Trained mechanics for Hondas, Triumphs, Kawasakis, Husqvarnas and Pentons.

Plus stuff the guys need for ALL brands of bikes too. And plenty of know-how.

Even our own service truck, in case you run into trouble on the road. How about THAT!

Our Service Manager, Les Uboldi, supervises 5 full time mechanics. All of 'em ready to keep your machine in tiptop condition.

Our Parts Manager, Ed Laurie, keeps watch over $90,000 in spare parts. Always there if you need something. Need a chrome plated frammis? Just tell Ed. He'll find it. (Ed has so much to do in the Parts Department that he has two assistant parts men on our payroll. Or so he says.)

Like you, they're nutty about bikes. That's why they're in this business. And why they'll care for YOUR bike as if it were THEIRS.

Me? I own the place. And I'm here every day, in case you need me. Or just want information.

Problems? Just ask. Want to bench-race? We do lots of that too. Sometimes too much! But we can't help it. Once a motorcycle nut . . . Stop by and see what we have to offer. And be sure to say "hi!" to me. I'm . . .

Sandy Greenblat

The Free-Wheeling 'Spy-Swap' Attorneys

WEST BERLIN (Toronto Telegram News Service) — Two or three times a month a car with East Berlin number plates is allowed to pass without any border controls through a Communist checkpoint into West Berlin.

Unlike most of his fellow East Germans, Herr Vogel has a very special privilege —a passport which enables him to travel freely outside Herr Ulbricht's walled-in Communist capital — East Berlin. And no questions asked.

Vogel may be visiting his West Berlin counterpart, Dr. Juargen Stange, who acts in a similar capacity for the Brandt government and also for the Allied powers, but who does not hit the newspaper headlines with quite the rrequency that Vogel does. After all, it is usually the Communists who have the prisoners to barter.

Another reason Vogel might go to West Berlin could be to carry out a top-secret assignment that would lead him to London, Paris, or New York, as he sounds out government officials on whether yet another "exchange" can be arranged.

Not surprisingly, perhaps, these two lawyers — the sauve Herr Vogel and the hearty, sandy-haired Dr. Stange — have been dubbed the "Cold War spy brokers."

While it would be wrong to describe the two men as close friends, they do have an extremely amiable working arrangement.

When phone links were cut between East and West Berlin 19 years ago by the Communists, the two men swiftly had Telex machines installed in their respective offices so that they could retain easy contact with one another.

Although there are no restrictions barring the two men from crossing the wall to visit one another, it is a complicated business going through the checkpoints. For this reason they are mostly in touch by Telex.

A bottle of Schnapps is usually on the table when the two meet in Dr. Stange's elegantly furnished office in West Berlin's tree-lined Bundesallee. And when a deal has been satisfactorily concluded, it is with champagne that they celebrate.

The two men are courteous when quizzed by newspaper men about their work, but rarely disclose any details about the way they operate.

Vogel lives in an attractive and (by Communist standards) relatively luxurious two-floor villa in Friedrichsfelde, a pleasant residential district in East Berlin.

Once, when asked point-blank whether he was employed by the MFS — the East German secret service — he countered by saying to the reporter who had posed the question: "No. Why? Are you paid by the CIA?"

He claims that he does not even belong to the East German Communist Party.

Herr Vogel, who smokes cigars in preference to cigarettes, has figured in every major spy-exchange deal in the past decade.

In the 1962 swap of American U2 pilot Garry Powers for Soviet master-spy Col. Rudolph Abel, he acted as a go-between who set up a series of meetings between top U.S. State Department officials and Soviet representatives.

Later, he was to play an even bigger role in the exchange of British "businessman" spy Greville Wynne, seized by the Russians while attending a trade exhibition in Hungary, and Gordon Lonsdale, the Soviet agent, now dead, who masterminded the Portland, England, nuclear-submarine spy ring.

In each case, Berlin — the city in the heart of Europe split by the diametrically opposing worlds of Communism and capitalism — was chosen as the site where the prisoners were to be exchanged.

Only 10 lawyers are allowed to have private practices in East Germany. Vogel, needless to say, is one of them. He takes skiing vacations, likes wearing well-cut 'trendy' suits and sports jackets.

He appears to have a definite arrangement with the American and British governments whereby he automatically represents their citizens who are brought to trial in East German courts.

He has never won any of his cases, but that is not a reflection on his ability — for if a Western national has been acquitted by an East German court it cannot be remembered.

He never fails to point out after a trial that but for his efforts the prisoner would have got a much higher sentence than the one he actually received. But as Western officials are never allowed to attend the trials anyway, nobody can dispute his claims.

Dr. Stange is heavily relied upon by the West. This chiefly stems from the fact that the British, French and U.S. governments do not recognize the Ulbricht regime. Thus, there are no "normal" diplomatic channels with the East Germans.

A tall man who enjoys walking in the Berlin woods at weekends, Dr. Stange deals almost exclusively through Herr Vogel on any enquiry about a Western national.

Allied officials in West Berlin concede that the Stange-Vogel tie-up while perhaps hardly an ideal arrangement is the only one they have. It does not always work out to the benefit of the West.

One person who strongly believes that the West should try for alternative means of negotiating with the East Germans is British sculptress Renee Heisler, 53.

Her Australian-born daughter, Karin, 15, was held by the East Germans for seven months because the Communists suspected Mrs. Heisler of aiding a refugee to escape to the West.

The sculptress says British and Australian authorities both told her that she must deal through Dr. Stange. "I had no option. I wanted my daughter to be released. But I did not like the way Stange went about his business.

"Months went by and I received no word from him about how his enquiries were going. When I complained, I got no satisfaction.

"Dr. Stange stressed that I was not to tell the press about my story. But it was only when I did that things started to move. A week after the newspapers ran the story about my daughter, she was released.

"I am convinced that but for the press outcry my daughter would still be in East Germany," said Mrs. Heisler.

Another complaint made by the sculptress was that through Dr. Stange she sent a parcel of clothing to her daughter. It never reached Karin.

When the school girl was finally released in January this year, it was Herr Vogel who suddenly produced the parcel from the boot of his car and gave it to her —without explanation for holding it.

This type of allegation against the two lawyers is not unusual. "They have things all sewn up here," is the way one diplomat put it to me. "They don't always act according to normal rules of behavior. But then, Berlin is no normal city."

Dr. Stange and his wife attent the Press Ball in West Berlin every year. "It's quite an occasion here," says the lawyer. "The last time, my wife won three bottles of champagne in the Press Ball lottery."

Questioned about his work, he says somewhat irritably: "People cannot really expect me to disclose details. I do try to do the best for my clients. But it is not always easy dealing with the 'other side'."

Recycling Called A Big Success

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI)— Lucky Breweries has redeemed more than 10 million beer cans and bottles since launching its recycling program last year, company president Peter N. Widdrington said Thursday.

"Our success with recycling strengthens the promise that private enterprise can play a greater role in solving our environmental problems," he told a luncheon of business leaders.

Widdrington said the brewing company already was planning to change its operations to comply with a new Oregon law requiring deposits on all beer and soft drink containers after Oct. 1, 1972.

Around The World Journey For Agnew

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Vice President Spiro T. Agnew will make an around-the-world trip starting July 26, journeying first to Korea for the inauguration of President Park Chung Hee.

After Korea Agnew will visit Singapore, Kuwait, Saudi Arabia, Ethiopia, Kenya, the Democratic Republic of the Congo, Spain, Morocco and Portugal.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Horseshoe Pitching Said To Be Better Than Bowling, Golf

Jack's bean stalk had nothing on a giant hogweed plant grown by a Britisher. The plants were started from seeds. Shortly thereafter, his 12-year-old son and wife developed a poison ivy-type rash with blisters and itching. In time, the man discovered that the rash appeared only after the boy played near the plant and when the wife weeded near it.

This implicated the giant hogweed and the father decided to cut it down. Despite wearing thick clothing and heavy gardening gloves, he developed a severe eruption. The plant extract had also penetrated through a heavy shirt and pullover.

ACCORDING TO Today's Health, an unnamed physician regards horseshoe pitching as better exercise than golf or bowling. Having played two games last weekend, I fully agree. Each shoe weighs 2½ pounds. It must be picked up, aimed and thrown to a stake 40 feet away. All of this brings into play the muscles of the hand, wrist, arm, shoulder, back and leg.

A COMPETITOR in tournament play walks five miles between stakes and bends down at least 500 times. He lifts and throws more than a ton of metal.

INFANT FEEDING methods have changed and some mothers give their babies full-strength milk. The tendency is to overfeed the tyke leading to a pattern of excessive intake. Unfortunately in these babies, the stools are larger and firmer than in children who are breast-fed.

AT ANY RATE, a British physician reported that 10 infants, six to eight days old, were admitted to the hospital with rectal bleeding. The babies were otherwise healthy and the most obvious diagnosis was that the larger stool had stretched and torn the rectum.

TV, SMOKE, ASTHMA

Mrs. T. H. writes: We are a retired couple. My husband loves TV and sits watching it most of the day, smoking a pipe. My asthma has been much worse since he is home all the time. Tom was offended when I told him the smoke bothers me. Am I being too picky?

REPLY

The smoke may be responsible for your wheezing but why not experiment? Ask your husband to smoke out of doors for a week and see if your symptoms improve. The alternative is an exhaust fan in the TV room. Ater all, there are other causes of wheezing and it would be a shame to make him give up his enjoyment of puffing at his pipe as he watches TV, especially if tobacco is not playing a role in your asthma.

EXCESS SALIVA

A. S. writes: I have an unusual amount of saliva in my mouth. Is there anything that can be done to eliminate the problem?

REPLY

Consult the dentist concerning the condition of your teeth and gums. If nothing is found, there is a good chance that your salivary glands are overactive due to nervousness. Many older people have too much saliva and drooling occurs when there is sagging of the corners of the mouth. Certain drugs have a drying effect on the mouth and may be helpful. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on this disorder.

LIFE WITH TAPEWORM

W. M. writes: How long can a person live with a tapeworm?

REPLY

Many years, if complications do not develop. Much depends upon the number of worms present, their total mass (which may block the intestine), and whether the larvae have found their way into other tissues, such as the brain.

New Look For White House's Vermeil Room

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The White House Thursday officially unveiled the newly refurbished Vermeil Room and a $25,000 English crystal chandelier in the Grand Hallway.

The room, on the first floor, houses the 300-piece collection of a Vermeil silver service—gold inlaid on sterling silver—donated to the White House during the Eisenhower administration by the late Margaret Thompson Biddle of Philadelphia.

The chandelier, described by White House Curator Clement Conger as "the most beautiful thing I ever saw," once hung in the palace of an Indian maharajah and was donated by the Cafritz Foundation of Washington.

Among the new furnishings in the Veremil Room are a $14,000 Heneke rug made in Turkey in the middle 19th Century.

Federal Law On Bald Eagles Held Weak On Poison

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Despite a federal law prohibiting the poisoning of bald and golden eagles, the Interior Department says it cannot prosecute those responsible for the deaths of Dozens of eagles in Wyoming.

Charles Lawrence, head of the management and enforcement division of the Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wild Life, said Thursday, "At the moment, there is insufficient evidence to merit prosecution under the bald eagle act."

He said the act requires the federal government to prove there was deliberate intent to poison the eagles, a difficult process.

Variance Bid For Better Span Vista

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Covering more than a half-acre of the bay for a Tiburon home was defended yesterday as necessary to get a view of the Golden Gate Bridge.

This unique justification was offered to the Bay Conservation and Development Commission by the attorney for a San Francisco couple seeking a fill permit for their two-story home.

They also plan a deck, boat dock, swimming pool and two rental units on the two-lot property at 2326 and 2330 Mar East Street.

David A. Lawson III, San Rafael attorney representing the applicants, Mr. and Mrs. John C. McGuire said that adding the bridge to the view "would enhance an already beautiful view."

He said the view of the bridge had been cut off by a nearby duplex, and that building the home up on dry land would "ruin the design aspect."

Also defending the application was the McGuires' architect, Donald K. Loomis of Tiburon. He said that locating the home over the bay would improve the view of the bay for passersby on Mar East.

The only critic of the application was Emma Gilman of Larkspur, who said the proposal was "certainly contrary to the principles of the (BCDC) bay plan and does not justify an exception." Its approval would be a bad precedent, she declared, adding, "I don't know where it would end."

Under commission procedure, voting on the permit was postponed to its next meeting, on July 1.

Commission regulations permit up to 25 per cent of a home to extend over the bay, allowing a higher percentage only in case of "exceptional circumstances" such as an otherwise unbuildable lot. In the McGuire proposal, 90 per cent of the home would be over the bay on pilings.

The proposal has been approved by the Tiburon Board of Adjustments.

The application to the commission argued that it was a justifiable exception to the 25 per cent rule even though the desire for a better view was not included in the law as an exception. "By their very nature, 'exceptional circumstances' are usually not foreseen by legislative draftsmen," according to the application.

Film Fair Slated For Oct. 8-11

A film fair will award prizes to independent and student film makers at the Marin County Fair for Oct. 8 through 11 at the Civic Center.

Marcelle McCoy, fair manager, said the county's first film competition will be open to all residents of nine Bay Area counties: Marin, Alameda, Contra Costa, Napa, San Francisco, San Mateo, Santa Clara, Sonoma and Solano.

Prizes of $500, $250 and $100 will be given in the independent category, she said. This is open to any independent film maker or company.

First prize in the student category, open to students working in conjunction with a school, will be $250 with additional prizes of $100 and $50.

In addition, there will be a special award of $250 for the best entry using "Man and Nature" as a theme, Mrs. McCoy said.

Entries must be in the mail by Aug. 15, Mrs. McCoy said, and addressed to the Marin County Fair, Box 4010, San Rafael. Winning films will be shown in the auditorium throughout the fair.

Nine-County Conservation Agency Approval

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The Assembly Local Government Committee has approved legislation creating a nine-county San Francisco Bay Area Conservation and Development Agency.

The 40 elected members of the agency would have three years to develop a "resources plan" including proposals for the bay, transportation environmental quality, open space and regional parks.

The nine counties in the agency are San Francisco, San Mateo, Santa Clara, Alameda, Contra Costa, Solano, Napa, Sonoma and Marin.

Disaster Prep Conference Set

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —Gov. Ronald Reagan says state and federal officials next week will attend a five-day disaster preparedness conference in Sacramento.

Reagan said Thursday those attending the program conducted by the Offices of Emergency Services will learn "to serve local governments when a disaster strikes." The program starts Monday.

TELEVISION REVIEW

No Longer Snobs, Stars Like Video

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — There's much talk in the television industry over the fact that movie names like Anthony Quinn, Shirley MacLaine, Tony Curtis and Glenn Ford will star in video series in the fall. The talk centers around the belief that the snobbish attitude of motion picture stars toward the home screen medium is just about gone.

After all, some industry executives point out, John Wayne had a special this past television season that drew a whopping rating. And James Stewart will also have a series in the fall, as will James Garner and Dick Van Dyke. And other movie names who already have weekly video shows include Doris Day, Henry Fonda, Dean Martin, Tony Randall, Shirley Jones and Fred MacMurray.

The television executives admit that most of these movie names who have turned to the home screen don't have the boxoffice appeal with motion picture audiences that they used to (which, frankly, is why many of them finally crossed over to video). But, still, their reputations are indeed identified with movies, and intra-industry snobbishness is definitely on the wane.

Nevertheless, knowledgeable television executives are not at all sold on the theory that movie names are automatic guarantees for video success, and concede these performers are subject to the same pressures as most others —time slot, series competition, the writing and concept of their own shows, and so forth.

And, in fact, most toughthinking video decision-makers would probably prefer taking a chance in a new series with an established television name than with a movie figure who isn't quite the potent star he or she once was. The thing is, television stars often have quite a different appeal to the home audience than movie figures. It is a more intimate, usually more friendly, kind of appeal. And you never really know whether a star has it until the ratings are in.

For example, consider the enormous television success of such names as Raymond Burr, Efrem Zimbalist Jr., Elizabeth Montgomery, Mary Tyler Moore, Lucille Ball, Jim Arness, Carol Burnett, Lorne Greene, Michael Landon, Dan Blocker, Dan Rowan and Dick Martin. Except for Miss Ball, a pure star in any medium, and Burr, a top movie character actor, none of these have had what could be called true success in motion pictures.

Yet Zimbalist has had two long-running video hits in "77 Sunset Strip" and "The FBI." Rowan and Martin, who bombed out in a movie even during their television peak, have "Laugh-In." Greene, Landon and Blocker have "Bonanza." Arness has "Gunsmoke." Miss Ball, of course, has had a string of top-rated series. Miss Moore struck video gold twice, in the old Van Dyke show and now in her own weekly comedy.

Miss Burnett, like Miss Moore, went nowhere fast in movies—probably because not enough attention, or skill, was given to proper choice of roles. Yet she is a video phenomenon, not only outstanding but also high-rated and, to top it off, undoubtedly beloved. She's lasted a long time.

Miss Montgomery, of curse, has "Bewitched." Then there is Robert Young, once a leading movie name, but actually a television star in almost everyone's mind because of his success in "Father Knows Best" and "Marcus Welby, M.D." and Burr went from one video hit, "Perry Mason," to another, "Ironside."

If you were a television executive planning a series, you'd probably have a safer ratings bet with these video names than with most movie figures, who might be top talents but are, in the end, trying on a new medium with idiosyncrasies all its own.

POLICY SWITCH

Latin American Arms Aid Jumps

By ALAN RIDING
London Financial Times —UPI

MEXICO CITY —A sudden decision by the United States to step up military aid to Latin America at this time signals a switch in policy which has largely been dictated by changing political circumstances in Latin America.

The reversal is also in belated recognition of the failure of America's old policy, which was aimed at reducing defense expenditure by the economically hard-pressed governments of Latin America.

Six years ago, the United States Congress prohibited the sale of advanced weaponry to Latin America with the result that several governments immediately looked elsewhere, particularly Europe, for their equipment. Peru, Brazil, Argentina and Colombia have all bought or ordered French Mirage supersonic jets; Argentina, Peru and Ecuador bought French-built tanks; Brazil purchased British warships; and Peru and Ecuador bought patrol boats from West Germany.

This evidence of Latin America's growing independence of Washington contributed in part to President Nixon's change of course on military aid and United States Embassies are now expected to make special efforts to recapture this market.

Even more important was the political disintegration that has taken place in South America since a revolutionary military government took power in Peru in 1968. This was followed 11 months later by a similar leftist nationalist military coup in Bolivia and by the victory of the Socialist candidate, Dr. Salvador Allende, in the Chilean elections last year.

The prospect of a Communist South America suddenly went from seeming a distant nightmare for Washington to being a real danger. Argentina and Brazil, both ruled by conservative military regimes, were particularly worried by the rise of leftists among the Andean countries and this concern has been often expressed to the U..ited States. Both governments, struggling against leftist guerrilla activities, were also anxious for increased United States military assistance even though between them they already account for well over half the money spent on defense throughout Latin America — excluding Cuba which spends about $300 million to Brazil's $650 million and Argentina's $380 million.

Brazil and Argentina also led the opposition to a Colombian proposal at a recent meeting of the Organization of American States (OAS) to set a limit on arms purchases in Latin America. The proposal was eventually shelved by being sent back for debate by the OAS Permanent Council.

Coincidental with Mr. Nixon's decision to double arms aid from $75 million to $150 million came the disclosure of a special arms deal with Argentina, Brazil, Colombia, Guatemala, Venezuela and Uruguay.

Guatemala and Uruguay are both struggling against well-established leftist guerrilla groups and are obviously in need of United States assistance. Colombia and Venezuela, on the other hand, are going through a period of tense relations that has stimulated each to step up arms purchases. Washington's logic is clearly that, if arms are to be bought, they might as well be American-made.

There is also the open understanding that governments with leftist tendencies will not benefit from the new military aid. These countries will have to seek arms in Europe or, in the case of Chile, possibly in the Soviet bloc.

Despite the frequent warning cry of an imminent arms race in Latin America and Washington's complaints about the diversion of resources from economic development to defense expenditure, however, the continent still spends less on defense than any other region. Brazil, the fourth largest country in the world and the biggest military spender in Latin America, ranks only 21st on a world defense expenditure list which is predictably headed by the United States, Russia, China, Britain and France.

Still the question still remains: why does Latin America need sophisticated arms at all? It is, after all, one of the most peaceful areas of the world; there has been only one major war between Latin American countries this century -the Chaco War between Bolivia and Paraguay in the 1930's -and none seems imminent.

In part, Latin America's move towards arming itself coincides with its new mood of independence. Governments feel they can no longer rely on outside powers to defend their real interests and the political and ideological differences between many of the countries make for increased mutual suspicion.

On a more practical level, small arms are needed in many countries to fight leftist insurgency, while aircraft and gunboats are required by several nations, particularly in South America, to enforce claims to 200-mile territorial waters.

Although an arms race is not in progress in Latin America, the continent is apparently unwilling to fall too far behind other regions in defense capacity.

Open Leader Harris Gets Help From Tough Course

By JOHN G. GRIFFIN
UPI SPORTS EDITOR

ARDMORE, Pa. (UPI)—Tough and tricky Merion Golf Club's East Course threw back the challenges of Lee Trevino and several other players today as they began pursuit of first-round leader Labron Harris Jr. in the second round of the 71st annual U.S. Open Golf Championship.

Harris, who was scheduled to tee off at 1 p.m. EDT, had a three-under-par 67 in the first round and that figure was defying the efforts of early shooters to catch up.

Trevino, the colorful former champion from El Paso, Tex., actually caught up for a few minutes when he started out with three birdies in the first four holes. But then he staggered with a bogey and triple bogey. He managed to struggle to the turn with a par 36 but then bogeyed both the 10th and 11th and disappeared from the leader board with, to that point, four birdies, three bogeys, a triple bogey, and only three pars.

Tom Weiskopf, starting out only three strokes behind, shot a stunning eight-over-par 44 on the first nine on this hot and humid day. Weiskopf took a triple-bogey seven on the first hole.

A couple of dark horses moved up to challenge. Jerry McGee of Lake Worth, Fla., clipped four strokes off par on the front nine with a 32, parred the next six holes, and was two-under-par to that point. Bob Erickson of Sanford, Fla., had a 35 going out and then birdied the 11th and 14th to stand two-under after 15.

Bobby Nichols also was two-under after three holes and Bob Goalby two-under after four.

Tournament favorite Jack Nicklaus, starting the day one-under-par, still was there after seven holes with a birdie on the second and a bogey on the third.

For the second round, the Open was using the longer of two tees on the ninth hole, so the course measured 6,544 yards, compared to 6,528 for the opening round. The weather pomised to be much hotter than Thursday's high of 82 degrees.

The U. S. Golf Association took notice of slow play in the opening round by warning the players to speed up and "try to line up putts before it is your turn to play."

Harris, from Stillwater, Okla., had a three-under-par 35-32—67 in Thursday's opening round for a one-stroke lead over a second-place trio that included colorful Doug Sanders, Bob Goalby, the man who oddly is trying to "live down" having won a Masters championship, and Lanny Wadkins Jr., the current U.S. Amateur champion.

And he was two strokes up on tournament favorite Jack Nicklaus, Bobby Nichols, and dark-horse Jim Colbert, at 69 the only other players in the prestigious field of 135 pros and 15 amateurs to break par on opening day over the short but demanding 6,258 yards of the Merion Golf Club.

Most of the big name pros were done in by Merion's famed last three holes, three of the toughest finishing holes on any course in the country. Harris managed a par on each of those killers, and that included a flirtation with disaster on the final hole when Lady Luck admittedly came to his assistance.

Harris' first shot on the par-four 18th was in the rough at the right near a concession stand. His second took a bounce and hit a spectator in the back, or it could have gone on even further into who-knows-what kind of trouble, and dropped, still in the rough. Then he came up with a brilliant 59-yard wedge out of the rough five feet past the cup, and putted back to save his par and his lead.

"On the 18th, I could have made six," Harris pointed out. "But the ball just kept bouncing around people and through people and through trees, and I made four.

"When things like that happen," he said with a grin, "it's hard not to win sometimes."

Harris posted his 67 on the board early on a hot and humid day and the stars took pot shots at it all day and couldn't bring it down. Time and again, it was those last three holes that turned back the challenge. Goalby, the fellow who won the Masters the year Roberto de Vicenzo signed an incorrect scorecard and has unjustly had to listen to criticism ever since, was running for a four-under-par total when he went into the "terrible trio" and he was stopped by a double bogey five on the 17th. Nicklaus had a bogey on the 17th. And then there was poor Larry Hinson.

Everyone agrees that the 26-year-old Hinson of Douglas, Ga., who has overcome the handicap of a crooked arm to produce a polished golf game, is going to win a big championship one of these years. And it seemed that the time might just be coming when he went a fantastic five-under-par Thursday after 11 holes and held it through 13. But then came utter collapse—bogey, bogey, bogey, double bogey, and bogey—losing six strokes to par in five holes to wind up at 71.

Villanova Announces Forfeit

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—Villanova University Thursday acknowledged what Howard Porter all along denied and the result spells forfeiture of honors won in the 1971 National Collegiate Athletic Association basketball season.

It said the 6-foot-8 college star had agreed to an initial payment of $15,000 Dec. 16, 1970, in exchange for his multi-talented services with the American Basketball Association.

Jack Dolph, the ABA commissioner, initialed the agreement and it was turned over to Pittsburgh Condors when they drafted Porter.

Porter eventually signed with the Chicago Bulls of the National Basketball Association for $1.5 million. However, en route to the Windy City a squabble developed.

The Condors claimed Porter was their property. Porter repudiated the ABA pact, sending a letter, which was revealed in court documents, telling Dolph he didn't wish to play in the ABA "under the terms of the document dated December 16, 1970..."

And on the suburban Villanova campus the athletic director asked Porter to sign an affidavit saying he hadn't violated NCAA rules and jeopardized the Wildcats' records.

Porter signed and the school said they took the "outstanding young man" at his word when he said he wasn't under a pro contract.

The controversy didn't affect Porter's play as he paced the Wildcats into the NCAA finals, surprising Pennsylvania and Western Kentucky before being defeated by UCLA, 68-62, in the championship game.

The Wildcats finished their greatest season with a 26-7 record, and Porter was named the tournament's most valuable player.

The Condors and the Bulls eventually settled their squabble out of court, but when Richard G. Phillips, Porter's attorney, asked for the records to be sealed.

Faced with the court records, Rev. Robert J. Welsh, Villanova president, sent a letter to the NCAA Thursday, forfeiting honors and money Villanova received in its best season.

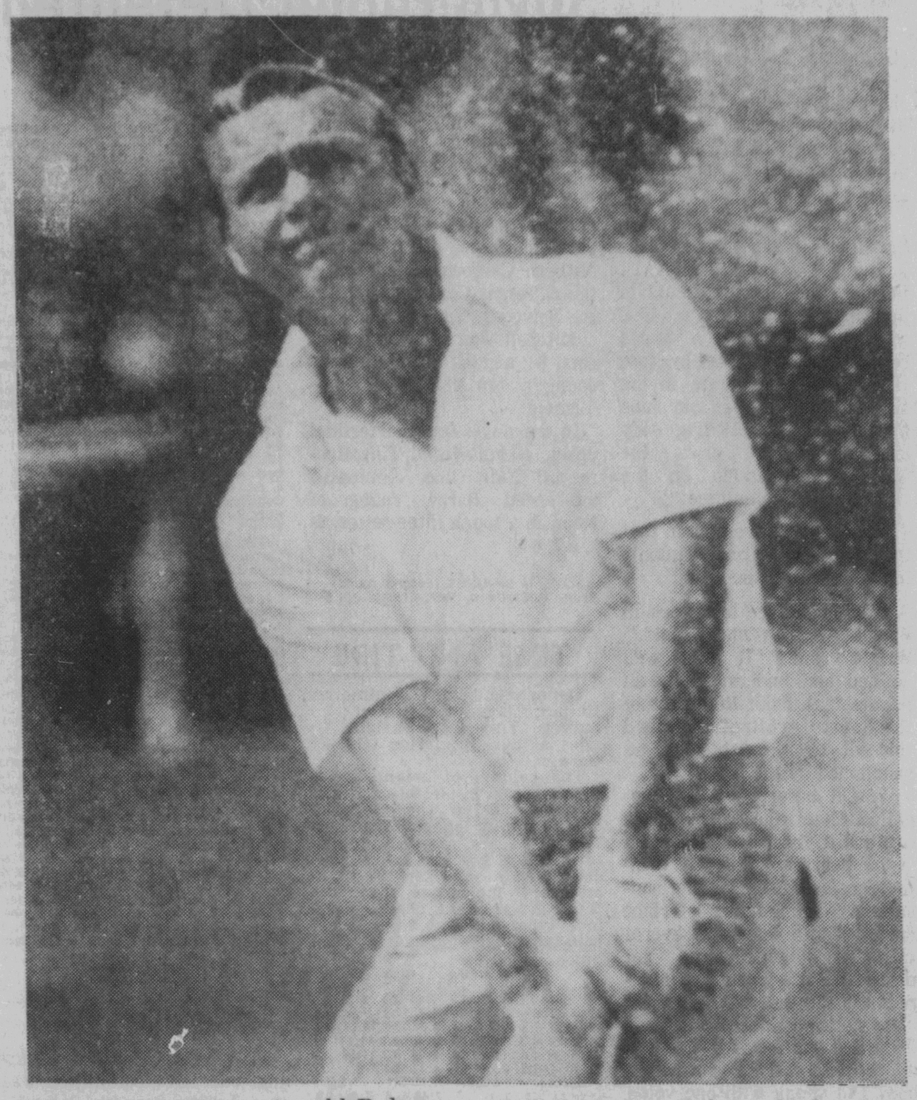
Rev. Welsh said that unless "Howard Porter can demonstrate otherwise, Villanova was not eligible to compete in the national collegiate Basketball Championship this year."

In the absence of additional information, he said, Villanova "will and should forfeit its records in the season and tournament and any receipts..." the money totals about $66,000.

Phillips said he and his client, who is reported sparkling in rookie camp, would discuss the matter, along with Villanova officials.

Porter refused to comment.

Phillips charged that many college stars violate NCAA eligibility rules and that if every college team played only with one member in violation "Tufts will wind up with the national champion."



BLASTING OUT — Arnold Palmer blasted out of a sand trap on the third hole during yesterday's first round of the U.S. Open at Ardmore, Pa. Palmer had a bogey five on the hole, and finished the round at 73.

Eight More In Cleveland Field

CLEVELAND (UPI)—Eight more touring golf pros have signaled their intentions of competing in the $150,000 Cleveland Open June 24-27.

Entries were received Thursday from Bobby Nichols, Bruce Crampton, Bob Lunn, Orville Moody, Bob Charles, Billy Maxwell, Cesar Sanudo and Terry Dill.

The Ninth Cleveland Open will be played over the Beechmont Country Club course.

Hart, Hupp Sparkle In NCAA Trials

By JOE SARGIS
UPI Sports Writer

SEATTLE, Wash., (UPI)—Karl Salb, the Kansas strongman, seeks to become the fourth man in collegiate history to win the shot put title three straight years today on the second program of the three-day NCAA track and field championships.

Eddie Hart of California shoots for his second 100 dash title and Ray Hupp, a comparative unknown who operates in the obscure world of decathlon athletes, tries to lock up a title no one thought he had a chance to grab.

Hupp was the big hero of opening day competion Thursday as he set an American high jump record of seven feet in the decathlon while taking the lead after five events of that gruelling competition with 4,090 points.

He starts today's action 65 points ahead of Phil Washington of Washington State and admittedly confident only in the discuss. The 100 meter high hurdles, pole vault, javelin and 1,500 meter run conclude the decathlon.

Salb, throwing only hard enough to qualify, led 12 men into today's final of the shot put with a heave of 63-9 3-4. The only other shot putters ever to win three consecutive NCAA titles were Harlow Rothert way back in the 20s, Alfred Blozis in the 40s and Dallas Long in the 60s.

Hart paced 16 qualifiers in the 100 as he zipped through his heat in a sparkling 9.3. He has his work cut out, though, because no less than five rivals —George Daniels of Colorado, Warren Edmondson of UCLA, Norbet Payton of Washington State, Willie Deckard of Southern Cal, and Jimmie Harris of Ohio State—did 9.4 in the trials.

Other finals today are in the 120 high hurdles, the six mile, the long jump and the hammer. Saturday's concluding program lists 14 finals, and, of course, will decide the team title.

Henry Hines of Southern Cal, who has the best in the world this year, topped long jump qualifiers with a leap of 25-11 1-2, and is the favorite in that event today. Fourteen competitors are listed for the hammer with no clear-cut favorite.

Garry Bjorklund of Minnesota, the collegiate record holder with a best of 27:30.8, is the man to beat in the six mile.

Rod Milburn, the NAIA champ from Southern University, and Lance Babb, the Pacific 8 champion from Southern Cal, are the favorites in the 120 hurdles.

Other performances of note Thursday were matching 4:00.7 clockings by Marty Liquori of Villanova and Craig Carlberg of Nebraska in the mile trials; and 8:47.1 clocking by Jeromee Liebenberg of Western Michigan in the steeplechase trials; a 257-3 throw by American record holder Mark Murro of Arizona State in the javelin qualifying, and a 13:34.6 clocking by Steve Prefontaine of Oregon in the three-mile run.

Players Agree On NFL Pact

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (UPI)—A dispute between the National Football League Players Association and the club owners was settled Thursday. Player representatives signed a four-year collective bargaining contract.

The dispute grew out of an agreement reached last summer which ended the players strike but was not signed by the ownes. The players charged the owners were misinterpreting the agreement.

Leonard Lindquist, attorney for the players, said the players association would withdraw the unfair labor practice charge now before the National Labor Relations Board (NRLB).

Lindquist said the new contract defines more clearly the jurisdiction of a neutral physician, provides for selection of a panel of neutral arbitrators with the commissioner having the right to select three, and provides for general arbitraton procedures in injury grievance cases.

INDIANAPOLIS (UPI) — Driver Mike Mosley, who was injured in a crash at the Indianapolis 500 May 29, Thursday was discharged from Methodist Hospital.

Cubs' Kessinger Has Incredible 6 For 6

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Don Kessinger of the Chicago Cubs is doing some last minute campaining for the National League All-Star balloting.

The slick fielding shortstop, who currently ranks a close third in the voting for the NL All-Star team behind Bud Harelson of New York and Maury Wills of Los Angeles, turned in the finest single game hitting exhibition by a Cub in 34 years Thursday when he collected six hits in six at bats to lead Chicago to a 7-6, 10-inning victory over the St. Louis Cardinals.

Kessinger, who raised his average to .287, became the 62nd player in the National League to get six hits in a game and the first Cub player to get six hits since July 5, 1937, when Fred Demaree went 6-for-7 in a 14-inning game.

Kessinger scored three runs in the game, including the winning run in the 10th. He led off the inning with a single, moved to second on a sacrifice and scored on a single by Ron Santo. Kessinger also doubled and scored the tying run in the eighth.

"I can't explain it. Doesn't everybody hit that way?" said Kessinger. "There's luck in it. I never hit that way before. Today I might go 0-for-5. But yesterday I could see the ball good, and like they say, hit it where they weren't.

"I haven't changed anything. Same bat, same stance, same everything. I just marked the bat well so I'll know it again. I used the same one on all six hits."

Baltimore beat New York 3-1, Kansas City blanked California 5-0, Detroit nipped Cleveland 43, and Minnesota topped Chicago 7-6 in American League action.

Kessinger's hitting offset home runs by the Cardinals' Joe Torre, Julian Javier and Ted Simmons. The Cardinals also tied a major league record by using five pitchers in one inning—the eighth—as they tried fruitlessly to prevent the Cubs from tying the score. Jim Hickman had a homer for Chicago.

Lee May collected a single and a double to drive in three runs as the Reds beat the Braves. Jim McGlothlin went the distance for Cincinnati, scattering seven hits to record his third victory in seven decisions.

IN MILWAUKEE

A's Hunter Goes After Win No. 10 Tonight

The A's, leading the American League West by 6 1-2 games over Kansas City, play four games against the Brewers and follow with four in a row at Minnesota.

Opposing Hunter (9-4) will be Skip Lockwood (3-5). The Brewers inhabit the cellar of the AL West, 16 1-2 games off the pace set by the Athletics.

Manager Dick Williams of the A's asked Hunter if he wouldn't mind skipping a turn Wednesday night against the Washington Senators so Blue could have a crack at them. Hunter agreed.

Williams said he wants to have Blue ready to pitch against Kansas City at the Oakland Coliseum next Friday rather than Saturday which is a big promotion day. It was a matter of trying to get two big crowds two games in a row, said Williams.

John Odom pitches for the A's against the Brewers Saturday with Chuck Dobson and Diego Segui scheduled to go on Sunday.

North Overpowers South; Novato's Judnick Is MVP

By DAVID EINSTEIN

John Kidder capped a five-run seventh inning with a two-run double, and Novato High School teammate Dave Judnick finished up with three-and-a-third nearly perfect innings of relief pitching as the North routed the South, 9-3 last night in the second annual Marin County All Star high school baseball game at San Rafael's Albert Park.

The game, sponsored by the Knights of Columbus with proceeds going to scholarships, was long — three hours and 10 minutes — and for the most part quite dull. But most of the 1,500 or so fans stayed to the end.

Judnick, the only Marin County Athletic League player to be chosen in the major league draft this year, came in with two men on and two out in the bottom of the sixth. The score was tied at 3-3.

He struck out the first man he faced, and over the next three innings fanned seven more without allowing a hit. In fact, the only balls hit off him at all were a one-hopper back to the mound, and a broken-bat foul popup.

Not surprisingly, the tall righthander won the game's most valuable player award. But at least four other guys from the North played major roles in the victory. Jim Thompson of San Marin, Jim Thorne of San Rafael and Kidder all had three hits each. And Novato's Randy Jackson was a perfect two for two, with a single and a solo home run.

Thompson scored the first run of the game in the first inning on a delayed steal of home, and drove in the final run in the eighth with a sacrifice fly. He also scored during the five-run outburst.

Kidder's double was a 400-foot blast that cleared the centerfield fence on one bounce. It followed a run-scoring single by Terra Linda's Steve Codington, and drove that worthy home along with Holt Greene of San Rafael.

The first two runs of the inning scored when South shortstop Tom Olson of Marin Catholic nullified a brilliant stop by throwing the ball away at the plate. All five runs came off losing pitcher Lex Rzepelia of Drake.

The South had but one brief moment of glory, scoring all its runs and collecting all three of its hits in the fifth inning to tie the score. Centerfielder Mark Shepherd of Drake led off the inning with a home run down the leftfield line. Mike Johnson of Tamalpais accounted for the other runs with a single that scored Drake's Steve Hale, who had walked, and Olson, who had singled.

Each team used three pitchers. Len Hoffman of San Marin started for the North, and went three no-hit innings, striking out seven. He was followed by Trra Linda's Scott Seefeldt, off whom the South scored all its runs.

Johnson pitched the first five innings for the South. He was followed by Drake's Lex Rzepelia, who suffered through the North's big inning. John Moresco of Redwood relieved Rzepelia and went the rest of the way.

AT CANDLESTICK

Giants, Padres In Doubleheader

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — For those who don't mind a hot dog or peanuts for dinner, history of sorts is being made this evening at Candlestick Park.

For the first time in the 11-year existence of Candlestick, a twi-night baseball doubleheader is being staged between the San Diego Padres and San Francisco Giants. First game started at 5-30 p.m., which is just enough time for the Giants faithful to get from their offices to the ballpark.

First baseman Willie McCovey of the Giants was expected to have his bum knee x-rayed today. Then orthopedic specialists will check the x-rays and the knee to determine if surgery is required.

If McCovey is forced to have an operation, then the Giants are toying with the idea of recalling Jim Ray Hart from Phoenix of the Pacific Coast League. Hart, who had a preseason operation to mend a shoulder muscle, has only recently been playing regularly at third base with Phoenix.

However, word from Phoenix is that Hart has been slamming the ball with authority. His ability to throw hard remains the problem.

"We'd like to have Hart around if he's healthy," said manager Charlie Fox.

DEFEATS SOUTHERN ILLINOIS

Southern Cal Wins NCAA Title

OMAHA, Neb. (UPI)—For the second year in a row, the third time in the last four years, and the seventh time in 25 years, Southern California has won the college baseball championship.

The Trojans, playing before 13,945 fans at Omaha's Rosenblatt Stadium Thursday night, registered a convincing 7-2 victory over the Southern Illinois Salukis in the silver anniversary championship contest.

The Californians hammered Saluki pitching for 10 hits, including back-to-back homers over the left field fence by Craig Perkins and Frank Alfano, which notched their last two runs.

Pitcher Steve Busby, after allowing one run in the second which gave Southern Illinois a 1-0 lead, effectively stifled the Saluki bats until the ninth inning, when Southern Illinois loaded the bases on two singles and a walk.

Larry Calufetti then knocked a single up the middle to bring in the second Saluki run. For Calufetti that last hit meant the batting championship of the series with a mark of .532.

The Trojans scored twice in the third inning, added a single run in the fourth and two more in the fifth before Perkins and Alfano delivered their over-the-wall blasts in the seventh.

Busby boosted his pitching record to 11-2. He struck out six and allowed eight hits.

Starting pitcher Dick Langdon took the loss for Southern Illinois. It was only his second defeat in 14 decisions. Langdon pitched 5 1-3 innings and was knocked out of the box for the first time this year.

The Trojans lost, 8-3, to the Salukis in an earlier round but had wins over Seton Hall, Brigham Young and Tulsa in addition to the title game victory.

The Salukis drew a bye into the championship contest after Tulsa, Southern California and Southern Illinois came through four rounds of play with 3-1 records.

The Trojans were number one-ranked coming into the series and wound up the year with a record of 53-13. The third-ranked Salukis finished at 43-9.

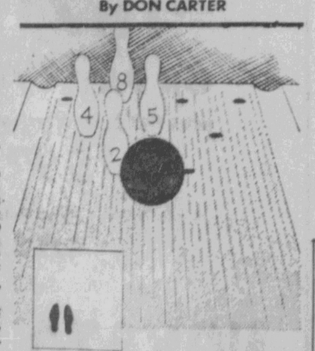
BOWLING TIPS

By DON CARTER



Be careful when shooting for the 2-4-5-8 spare. Since bringing down all of these pins is like getting a "small strike," the 2-5 area should be considered as your pocket. If you casually throw into the middle of this group of pins, you're more than likely to leave the 8-pin standing.

Jury Back In Finley Discussions

OAKLAND (UPI) —An eight-man jury resumed deliberations today in a $100,500 breach of contract suit brought by a former Oakland Athletics executive against owner Charles O. Finley.

The jury got the case Thursday and deliberated several hours before retiring for the night. The jury foreman asked that a portion of the trial's transcript be reread to the panel today.

William Cutler, current owner of the Portland Beavers of the Pacific Coast League, brought the suit against Finley in May 1969.

Cutler claims he signed a contract with Finley in 1967 and it was supposed to run until Dec. 31, 1971. Cutler worked four months as a vice president of the A's after the franchise was transferred from Kansas City to Oakland.

He maintains he was fired for refusing to become the farm director of the Athletics.

According to Cutler, he was told by Finley in prior discussions that he would oversee all front office functions of the baseball organization. But Cutler said he eventually signed as vice president in charge of public relations "hoping he'd (Finley) stick to his agreement."

Cutler contends he signed a contract that was to pay him $27,000 the first year, $28,000, $29,000 and then $30,000 annually.

The trial was before Judge Leonard Dieden in the Alameda County administration building. An eight-man jury, rather than the customary 12, was agreed upon by both parties.

AAU In Rebuttal To Blast

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI) —The Amateur Athletic Union has charged the United States Track and Field Federation tried to "provoke and intimidate" the AAU with a statement issued last Tuesday.

Stan Wright, head track coach at Sacramento State, and chairman of the AAU's national track and field committee, issued a statement Thursday in reply to the USTFF. He said their charges are not true.

He called the Tuesday statement "a deliberate attempt to provoke and intimidate the AAU."

Tuesday, the USTFF issued a statement at Kansas City "declaring war" on the AAU. It charged the Union threatened to declare athletes ineligible for AAU events if they participated in the USTFF championships last week.

Federation President E. Wayne Cooley listed three grievances against the AAU. Besides the alleged threats to athletes, he charged the AAU refused to submit a world record 13.2 seconds set by Tom Hill of Arkansas State in the 120-yard high hurdles last June to the world sanctioning body and refused to grant the USTFF membership on the U.S. Olympic Committee.

Wright said in refutation that the USTFF "has wantonly misrepresented the truth."

"What occurred last week in Wichita was an 'open' meet," Wright said. "It was well defined and understood by all parties that under the terms of the Sports Arbitration Board that all 'open' meets must be sanctioned by the AAU."

Wright referred to the so-called Kheel Agreement of the arbitration board. "The Kheel Agreement defined 'open' competitions as those involving non-student competitors," Wright said. "Quite clearly several competitors who are not designated as students...participated in the meet."

He said the Kheel Agreement identified the AAU as the appropriate U.S. governing body "to speak with one voice in the international aspects of track and field competition. This function also entitles AAU the assurance about the conditions under which the claimed record was set."

Wright said the refusal to grant the federation membership on the U.S. Olympic Committee was a decision by the committee and not the AAU.

"We would suggest that Mr. Cooley...check with the proper authority—the USOC," Wright said. "If he applied to the AAU for membership in the USOC, then he is more befuddled than we had thought."

Wright said the racial discrimination charge involving Hill "does not dignify any reply whatsoever."

Yale track coach Robert Giegengack, a member of the AAU national track and field committee, said the USTFF meet in which Hill ran was not sanctioned.

NEW YORK (UPI) —A four-man executive committee was named Thursday by Commissioner Jack Dolph of the American Basketball Association. Stock Car Qualifying Set Today

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (UPI)— Qualifying for Sunday's NASCAR Winston Golden State 400 stock car race was scheduled for today and from the looks of things, Bobby Allison appears to be the rabbit.

Allison will have a couple of things going for him, namely his '70 Dodge that turned a 106.938 mile-an-hour practice lap here Thursday. That time was about six miles per hour slower than last year's high qualifying set by Parnelli Jones.

But Allison didn't spend too much time on the track and he did have a little bit of trouble in the esses. His car hit some dirt but neither it nor Allison was hurt.

Second, and probably an innovation which will become part of every race driver's winning formula, is a two-way radio head set, inside Allison's helmet. Allison will be able to talk to his pit crew and they to him.

Indianapolis 500 winner Al Unser had a one-way radio in his helmet for the Memorial Day weekend race but he could only talk to his crew — they couldn't talk to him.

HOUSING PROJECT HAZARDS — These pictures taken at apartments at Pilgrim Park in San Rafael present possible safety hazards, according to the Marin County Housing Authority. The door (left) opens out and possibly could send someone tumbling backwards down the staircase, the authority said. Attractive exteriors (center) are covered with sharp stucco peaks which are held unsafe. Another concern are windows similar to this one (right) which are said to be untempered and adjacent to stairways and directly above the units' bathtubs. The authority on June 1 ordered occupancy of the units frozen until these and other hazards could be corrected. Even so, it has been reported some tenants have been moved in.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Eisenhower administration tried in 1954 to delay proposed elections in Vietnam for feat the late Ho Chi Minh would win, and was actively considering limited military intervention before the 1954 Geneva Convention, according to a secret Pentagon document published today by the Washington Post.

The report said President Dwight D. Eisenhower's Special Committee on Indochina met six months before the convention to discuss sending 200 military mechanics and aircraft to aid the French.

The Post said the documents "reflect this consideration (military intervention) at many points," but it cited only the discussions raised in the January, 1954 meeting of the Committee on Indochina.

The Post also said the papers "do not include any Eisenhower decision not to intervene at any of the several points during 1954 when that was under consideration."

There was no direct indication the report was the same one used as the basis of a New York Times series on the Vietnam war. The Times was placed early this week under a temporary federal court injunction not to print the final parts of its series.

The Post, in what it said would be the first of a series, said it had culled the information "from sections of the Pentagon study on the origins of the Vietnam war made available to" the Post.

The Post said that Eisenhower, under the prodding of Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, made his attempt to delay the elections during 1954 Geneva Convention.

Dulles said in a telegram to U.S. diplomats dealing with the Vietnam question in 1954 that "since (it is) undoubtedly true that elections might eventually mean unification (of) Vietnam under Ho Chi Minh, this makes it all the more important they should be only held as long after cease-fire agreement as possible and in conditions free from intimidation to give Democratic elements best chance."

The U.S. effort to head off the elections failed at the convention, which was called after the French were defeated at Dienbienphu May 8, 1954.

But there were no elections in 1955 because South Vietnamese president Ngo Dinh Diem, who was eventually assassinated during the military coup of November, 1963, refused to allow them.

The Post said that among the documents in its possession there was no clear indication how Eisenhower felt about the possibility of military intervention in Indochina.

"The closest thing to a clear definition of the chief executive's thinking" said the Post, "is a May memorandum to the

DISCREPANCIES HINTED

By ERIK M. INGRAM

A game of musical apartments in violation of existing policy is being played by the Marin County Housing Authority, the Independent-Journal learned yesterday.

Investigation by the I-J showed the policy violation was only one of several discrepancies involved in the filling of 17 apartments at Pilgrim Park in San Rafael with leased housing recipients.

Other inconsistancies include the lack of a signed agreement between the management of the low and moderate-income project and the housing authority and the filling of units after the housing board ordered a halt June 1 because of safety hazards.

Of the 17 leased housing families, at least five lived at the housing authority's low-rent project in Marin City and three at other housing before the move to Pilgrim Park.

Housing authority policy states that it will approve no transfer of recipients who already have housing since there is a waiting list of more than 1,000 applicants.

An employee of the housing authority's central applications office said today that the eight were moved for hardship reasons authorized under the policy. Those hardships were listed as medical needs and transportation problems. The nature of the medical and transportation problems were not described and others said they do not exist in most cases.

The 61-unit apartment complex at 8 North San Pedro Road, completed just weeks ago, features two and three story apartment buildings for tenants with income between $4,900 and $7,500.

The authority's leased housing office has placed subsidized tenants in 17 units. A Department of Housing and Urban Development policy limits filling to 20 per cent of the total or in this case 12 units, accoridng to a HUD spokesman.

The management firm running the project, Barcelon-Burger Management Corp. of Sausalito, acknowledged yesterday that a formal lease with the housing authority for the apartments had not been signed. It said it expected one soon.

Without a lease, the relationship of tenant to housing authority, housing authority to management firm and management firm to tenant is in question.

A visit to the apartment of one tenant yesterday showed that the tenant had a lease with the management firm but the firm had no lease with the housing authority, even though the authority is paying a portion of the rent.

The leased housing program — highly successful in Marin — works on an equation based on family size and income. The lower the income and larger the family, the more the tenant is subsized. As income increases, the subsidy decreases in a manner leading to full rent payment by the tenant.

Leased housing recipients at the new development said yesterday they were "very satisifed" with Pilgrim Park and were reluctant to speak of cited safety hazards.

Those hazards include some improperly hung doors which swing outward onto a flight of stairs, reportedly untempered bathroom glass which could be accidentally kicked in while using the stairs, two-story windows only inches off apartment floors, jagged stucco on building exteriors and an unfenced play area adjacent to a busy road.

(Workmen are currently in the process of changing the imporperly fitted doors.)

It was because of these hazards that the housing authority board on June 1 directed its staff to not move any more tenants into the projects.

Some tenants, however, were moved in after that order and yesterday management at Pilgrim Park reported the entire project filled, including those units allocated to the housing authority's leased housing office.

The spokesman for the housing authority's central applications office, Shirley Williams, said the tenants were notified March 26 they were moving into the project, which was completed May 25.

Disclosure of the authority stall's dealings at Pilgrim Park followed authority board approval Wednesday of controversial centralization of the housing authority's administrative function's at its main office in Marin City.

Statements by the executive director supporting the reorganization plan proved yesterday to be in contradiction with those of federal housing officials.

Shepherd has repeatedly said the reorganization was needed in order to handle adequately handle an expanding program. In past week, he has cited as an example of expected expansion his application to HUD for authorization to subsidize 500 more units of leased housing.

However, HUG officials said they have received no request from the housing authority for 500 additional units.

Late yesterday a spokesman for HUD's application office reported that she had been informed by Marin officials that the elusive document "was on its way."

She said discussions yesterday afternoon with the local housing authority's controller, William Emanuel, indicated the application would be forwarded to HUD soon.

McCloskey Given Secret Reports

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Anti-war congressman Paul McCloskey says he was given documents dealing with a top secret Vietnam war study by the man who has been described as the source of the information the New York Times received on the subject.

McCloskey, a California Republican who has threatened to challenge President Nixon for the GOP nomination next year over the war issue, said Thursday he received the documents more than a month ago from Daniel Ellsberg, 40, a former adviser at both the State and Defense Departments.

Ellsberg, holder of a doctor's degree from Harvard University, now is a senior research associate at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

He last was reported seen Wednesday after eating lunch at the MIT faculty club. The Washington Post reported in its Friday morning editions it received a call Wednesday night from a man who identified himself as Ellsberg. The newspaper said the man refused to confirm or deny he had leaked any documents. It said the man indicated he believed he was under surveillance and was calling from a public telephone booth in Boston.

Reporters who went to Ellsberg's Cambridge, Mass., apartment Thursday found Wednesday's mail still in the mail box.

Ellsberg, described by associates as "conscience-stricken" because he was involved in the origins of decision-making on the Vietnam war, was named by two sources as the person who had leaked a massive government study on the war to the New York Times.

Sidney Zion, a former Times reporter, first named Ellsberg in a radio interview. The St. Louis Post Dispatch then published a story saying Ellsberg had been named by "a senior official of the executive branch" as the man responsible for the leak.

The Times had no comment on the reports.

McCloskey said Ellsberg sent

$7 Billion Proposed Budget Passes Assembly, To Senate

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The Assembly yesterday voted 55-18 its approval to a $7.013 billion proposed state budget, more than $250 million over Gov. Ronald Reagan's request.

The budger proposal now goes to the Senate Finance Committee, where Sen. Fred Marler Jr. said he will urge fellow Republicans on the committee to supply the votes needed to send the budget to the floor and ultimately to a two-house compromise committee.

All the opposition votes were cast by Republicans after a two-hour floor debate that was relatively free of the usual partisan bickering.

When Republican Assemblyman William T. Bagley of San Rafael delivered the 54th and deciding vote, colleagues showers the bill's manager, Assemblyman Willie Brown Jr., D-San Francisco, with brightly colored carnations donated by a flower growers association.

The 80-member lower House must hass the budget bill by a two-thirds majority, at least 54 votes. The Assembly is divided 43-37 in favor of the Democrats. Fifteen Republicans joined 40 Democrats in voting for the budget bill.

Traditionally, each house rejects the other's version of the budget and the measure is finally written behind closed doors by a conference committee of three Senators and three Assemblymen.

"This is the kind of political pirouette and dance that we must go through to resolve these questions," observed Assemblyman Frank Lanterman, Republican vice chairman of the Ways and Means Committee.

He urged passage as a way of getting the bill into the conference committee and added, "We all know that the governor will exercise the blue pencil (item veto) very substantially."

Brown, chairman of Ways and Means, voiced assurance the measure was balanced but said "it is not the kind you can be enthusiastic about."

"This is a stand pat version of a budget," he said. "There is no fat in this budget."

But Assembly Republican leader Robert T. Monagan argued it was $254 million out of balance and offered amendments which would have had the effect of cutting it back to the original $6.7 billion proposed by Reagan. The amendments were defeated 39-33 on a partisan vote.

Monagan, while stopping short of recommending defeat of the budget, said it was tilted

Angela Case Prosecutor Plans Move

By MARY LEYDECKER

The prosecutor in the Davis-Magee case said today that he will file a motion in federal court in San Francisco aimed at getting the long-stalled case moving.

A federal judge made an order yesterday remanding the case back to Marin Superior Court, but apparently Judge Richard E. Arnason did not consider the order sufficient.

The case is bogged down because of San Quentin convict Ruchell Magee's repeated petitions to federal court asking that the case be transferred there.

U.S. District Court Judge Samuel Conti yesterday ruled on one of Magee's many handwritten motions but apparently chose the wrong one in the eyes of Judge Arnason.

A clerk in Marin Superior Court said that the judge wanted a ruling on a petition filed in January not the March one on which Judge Conti ruled.

Asst. Atty. Gen. Albert W. Harris Jr. today said he will ask a formal ruling on the January petition.

Magee has sent scores of handwritten writs and petitions to the federal court charging that his civil rights are being violated in state proceedings. Judge Conti has accused the

Government To Seek Viet Ban On Others

NEW YORK (UPI)—The New York Times today denied government charges that articles it published based on a "top secret" Pentagon report on Vietnam prejudiced the defense interests of the United States.

In a brief filed in federal court The Times said the government had not made the slightest effort to prove that the defense efforts of the nation would be harmed by publication of the series.

The newspaper accused the government of seeking to enjoin The Times from performing its function as a newspaper.

"It seeks to do so with respect to news articles dealing with the single, most controverxsial war in American history which is today the single most controversial issue in American life."

The government has charged that The Times articles threatened the nation's defense efforts and jeopardized our foreign relations. Michael Hess, chief of the U.S. Attorney's civil division, also charged taht the papers used by The Times in preparing its articles "were stolen and are the property of the United States and we are entitled to have them returned."

The Times brief claimed the information revealed in the three articles published so far in no way endangered or injured the American armed forces or that there was any prospent of future articwes ..a ing this effect. ,

Federal Judge Murray I. Gurfein last Tuesday granted a government request for a temporary restraining order to prevent The Times from publishing the final two parts of the five-part series which unmasked decision-making at the White House level.

Deputy U.S. marshals barred the courtroom go most reporkters for today's hearing on the government's request for a permanent injunction against further publication. Protest by the newsmen that the issue of freedom of the press was on trial and that the press was being barred from covering it were ignored.

In its brief presented to the court today and made available to newsmen, The Times said that in effect all it was guilty of was publishing "part of an historical record and, we submit, in doing so have served the nation as the first amendment intended it to."

The Times also filed with the court a number of affidavits and depositions taken from several of the writers who took part in gathering the information and preparing the top secret Pentagon report. The newspaper also pointed out that in most instances material was

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Public Offering Is Sign Of Future

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I have just found out that Merrill Lynch is planning a public offering of its shares. Is this the first brokerage firm to do so? Do you think others will? Can you give me any information on Merrill Lynch? — G. E.

A. While not an industry first, the proposed ML public offering is of major importance because of the company's leading position in the industry. Donaldson, Lufkin, Jenrette in its 1969 filing actually paved the way for others interested in public ownership to follow. Some 13 over-the-counter kirms are publicly owned and a number of others have been acquired by publicly-held companies in other fields.

There is little doubt that the Merrill Lynch offering is a turningpoint for what will probably be an industry trend. The need for permanent capital has been amply demonstrated by the approximately 50 brokerage failures and at least as many shotgun marriages.

Proceeds from only half the shares being offered will accrue to Merrill Lynch, the remainder going to selling shareholders. Maximum filing price is $35 for the shares and Big Board listing will be sought. A broadly diversified financial entity, Merrill has 1,500,000 individual and institutional customers served by 5,000 registered representatives in 202 offices.

In spite of its wide range of financial activities, ML's business is directly affected by economic conditions and its income is closely tied to the volume of trading in securities. Trading volume began increasing in late 1970 and so far this year has been running at virtually record levels on an annual basis. The gain is reflected in Ml's 1970 earnings recovery and in the first quarter results for this year. Interim earnings were 90 cents a share compared with 31 cents a year earlier on three million fewer shares.

Although this new offering will probably be warmly received by the public, earnings have traced a rather erratic record and despite the company's size, shares will not be immune to market declines.

NEW KIND OF BRA

What the Vilem B. Haan company of Los Angeles calls a 'car bra' is modeled by Cord Carnot, who peeked through the oddly shaped item. Vilem says the bra will fit the front of a sports car snugly to protect the finish from sontes, bugs, road tar and the like.

CAB To Authorize Interairline Loan

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Civil Aeronautics Board says it will authorize Delta Air Lines to lend up to $6 million to Northeast Airlines.

Japan Approves $100 Million Auto Investment

TOKYO (UPI)—The Japanese government has approved a $100 million deal between Chrysler Corp., America's third-largest automobile manufacturer, and Mitsubishi Motors, the No. 3 car maker in Japan.

It was the Japanese government's first approval of U.S. investment in Japan's automobile industry, which is second in the world only to Detroit's. The agreement was approved by the Foreign Investment Council, an advisory organ of the Finance Ministry. The ministry customarily follows the council's recommendations in issuing its final ruling.

Chrysler will purchase 35 per cent of the Mitsubishi stock for $100 million over the next three years. Mitsubishi will sell its cars in the United States through the Chrysler sales network, and Chrysler will distribute its products in Japan through Mitsubishi.

Softness, Decline In Early Market

NEW YORK (UPI) —Stocks were lower on relatively light turnover through the second hour of tradint today.

Analysts attributed softness to normal pre-weekend, evening-up pressures, uncertainty about money rate conditions, and concern that the economy may not be recovering fast enough to slow the nation's unemployment rate.

Astronaut Vents Criticism, Quits

"The space program is receiving smaller and smaller support with appropriations from Congress," the 39-year-old civilian said. "I think that's a terrible mistake.

"I think we find ourselves in the space program in the position of having built the dam, and it's filling up behind it, and there's precious little interest in putting the turbines in at the bottom to take out the energy, take out the resources we've built up.

"I can only hope that in the next year to 18 months we can see an upturn to it because we're going into a area of Earth orbital operations that's going to be a payoff for everyone in the country."

Cunningham, who has been connected with the Skylab space laboratory program since his Apollo 7 flight in October, 1968, said the Soviet space station Salyut now orbiting Earth was a "significant step" for the Russians that indicated they led the United States by 4 to 5 years in the space station race.

Cunningham spent 20 months in charge of the astronaut office's Skylab branch and was considered a prime candidate to command the first three-man skylab crew.

GOP Solidarity Kills Strong Peace Vote

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Peace forces in the House of Representatives made their strongest showing on the Vietnam war issue, but heavy Republican support Thursday gave President Nixon yet another vote of confidence on Indochina.

The House defeated 254 to 158 a proposal to endorse a total U.S. withdrawal from the war by Dec. 31, and beat 238 to 146 a second measure calling for withdrawal by June 30, 1972, conditioned on release of all U.S. war prisoners.

Wednesday the Senate also refused to impose a peace deadline on the Nixon Administration. The Senate today went back to debate on the draft extension bill, with just 13 days left before the draft law expires.

Sen. Mike Gravel, D-Alaska, called up his proposal to bar the use of draftees except during a war declared by Congress. Two dozen more amendments were stacked behind it waiting for action as the Senate entered its sixth week of debate on the draft extension.

Gravel and Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif., urged fellow doves to join them in filibustering the measure to cut off manpower for the Vietnam war. But Senate leaders said they would file a cloture petition Monday in an effort to shut off the draft debate.

The Dec. 31 pullout date turned down by the House would have been largely a symbolic gesture because the weapons spending measure to which it would have been attached would have had only a limited impact on Vietnam operations.

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Leaving For N.Y.

SEATTLE (UPI)—Blonde antiwar activist Leslie Bacon, who will leave soon for New York City to face charges of conspiring in a bank burning plot, said Thursday she wasn't concerned about the federal indictment.

"I'll be going back in a few days," Miss Bacon, appearing nervous and tired, told a news conference. "I don't really think I have anything to be afraid of."

But Jan Peterson, one of her attorneys, advised Miss Bacon, 19, of Atherton, Calif., not to answer any of newsmen's questions about the New York charge.

She was indicted in connection with the unsuccessful firebombing attempt Dec. 4 after telling a federal grand jury in Seattle that she sat in on early planning sessions but later withdrew from the plot.

Peterson said his client must report to New York by June 30.

Cool To GOP Bid

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UPI)—Unenthusiastic San Diego officials agreed Thursday to submit a bid for the 1972 Republican National Convention, which President Nixon would like held in this city near the western White House.

But they balked at an immediate commitment and told the GOP Site Election Committee that further evaluation of the financial implications is needed before a proposal will be made. The Republicans are seeking about $1.2 million in cash and services.

"We're not going to give away the store and roll over and play dead because either party wants to come to San Diego," said Councilman Sam T. Loftin.

He said he would support the bid for the convention if businessmen and local and state Republicans assist financially.

Superjet Down

WARSAW (UPI)—The Soviet TU144 supersonic transport (SST) jetliner made an emergency landing at Warsaw Thursday en route home from the Paris Air Show after two engines failed and a crack showed up in a wing, airport sources said.

The sources said the pilot radioed Warsaw's Okecie Airport his No. 1. and No. 2 engines both had quit and the craft landed with fire engines standing by.

Mechanics said they saw a three-quarter-inch crack in the wing mounting between the two engines which failed. They said it indicated the plane had encountered heavy vibration in flight.

One Boy Alive

SYDNEY (UPI)—The eighth of nine children born Sunday to an Australian housewife died today, leaving only a six-inch-long, 12-ounce boy still alive. Doctors said his chances were very slim.

A bulletin from the Sydney Royal Women's Hospital said the boy's sister, who weighed one pound, died at 2:40 a.m. of lung complications. It said the boy's condition "continues to remain critical."

Chores In Space

MOSCOW (UPI)—The three Soyuz 11 cosmonauts aboard the Soviet Union's Salyut space station resumed their chores today after a day of rest that ground control said completely refreshed them.

Cosmonaut Georgi Yeliseyev, who was flight engineer aboard the previous Soyuz flight, said the three citizens of man's first space station "feel as if they have just started the flight," according to Tass, the Soviet news agency.

Soyuz 11 blasted off into orbit around the earth on June 6 with cosmonauts Georgi Dobrovolsky, Vladislav Volkov and Viktor Patsayev and docked with the unmanned Salyut one day later.

Writing History

MOSCOW (UPI)—Soviet scholars have begun compiling a 10-volume history of the World War II that will be the definitive Soviet account and counter "distortions" made by the West.

"Historians in the bourgeois West distort the nature of the war, the reasons for it, and the contributions made to victory over the Fascist bloc by various countries and peoples," the Tass news agency said Thursday in announcing the plan.

The six-year project under the guidance of Defense Minister Andrei A. Grechko will counter Western "distortion" of events by making a full Marxist-Leninist analysis of the war, Tass said.

The first volume is due for publication in 1974. The series will be completed in 1977.

Strike Ends

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—A nationwide strike of coal miners loyal to United Mine Workers Union (UMW) President W.A. "Tony" Boyle ended today in response to a courtdirected order from the tough union boss.

Boyle, whose court removal as a trustee of the union's welfare and retirement fund prompted the walkout, issued a letter Thursday instructing the rank-and-file to "return to work immediately." He wrote the letter under the threat of a contempt of court citation.

Troops Due Dope Tests In Vietnam

SAIGON (UPI) — American troops will be tested chemically before they leave Vietnam for home, to determine if they are narcotics addicts, the U.S. command announced today.

The program was ordered by President Nixon as part of his plan for rehabilitation of addicted GIs and will begin on Sunday, the command said.

A spokesman said the testing will include newly developed urinalaysis machines and has been dubbed the "Drug Abuse Counteroffensive." He said the military hopes to extend the program to include all troops leaving the war zone temporarily on rest and recreation leaves and to all new incoming personnel.

Soldiers found to be drug users will be confined to withdrawal wards in Vietnam for less than a week, then taken home by medical evacuation planes for extensive treatment.

A Congressional subcommittee report prepared by Reps. Robert Steele, R-Conn., and Morgan Murphy, D-Ill., estimated that up to 10 per cent of American servicemen in Vietnam used addictive narcotics.

The command outlined the antidrug drive to newsmen after President Nixon's message to Congress requesting additional funds to counter drug abuse, which he said was "especially disheartening in Vietnam."

New Charges Leveled By Crime Committee

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Mentally ill policemen and officers with drinking problems are allowed to remain on duty in San Francisco because of poor supervision, the city's crime committee charged Thursday.

The 28-member panel, appointed by Mayor Joseph Alioto to study the city's laws and law enforcement, cited two examples of "emotionally unstable" officers:

—An officer who carried a gun in an attache case in the city prison so he "could protect himself if the Communist revolution suddenly took place and the jail was stormed."

—A sergeant who forced a patrolman at gunpoint to arrest a boy because he was part of "the conspiracy."

"The safety of both officers and the community is jeopardized by the failure of the (police) administration to take appropriate action when men have obviously become emotionally unstable or mentally ill," the report said.

The blue-ribbon committee, which police Chief Al Nelder had accused of turning out a "hatchet job" of a report, issued an equally critical report last week.

That report charged that police slept on the job, solicited free meals from downtown merchants and strewed "girly" magazines around station houses.

The latest report noted that police rules forbid drinking on duty and excessive drinking off duty, "yet there are some officers in the department whose drinking problems are well-known to the administration."

The committee quoted a "reliable source" in the department who said there were about 60 officers with known drinking problems who have refused to participate in the Fellowship Club, an informal police organization similar in purpose to Alcoholics Anonymous. About 35 officers are participating.

"While officers with drinking problems should be handled sympathetically and given a chance to reform, when an officer who has been given the chance fails to reform, he should be removed from the force," the committee said.

"We are not suggesting there are many such men," the committee added. "But there are some, and they are known to the officers who work with them or supervise them."

Two Cong Arms Piles Are Seized

SAIGON (UPI)—South Vietnamese police said today they had seized two Viet Cong arms caches in what the government said was a Communist plot to infiltrate Saigon Saturday to disrupt a massime Armed Forces Day parade.

Communiques from Phnom Penh said Communist forces bombarded Cambodian army posts on all sides of the capital early today. A Cambodian officer said U.S. jets had been called in to help in the battle against North Vietnamese in the marshlands east of the city.

Military spokesmen in Saigon said thousands of military and civilian police were searching the South Vietnamese capital for possible Communist arms hiding places. American servicemen were ordered off the streets except when on official business.

A bulldozer and heavy earth-moving equipment level an area for a neighborhood playground on San Rafael hill above Robert Dollar Drive. By yesterday this 150-by-250 foot area was nearing the completion stage. New turf and an irrigation system will be installed after July 1, according to Andrew J. Snyder Jr., parks and recreation director.

Civil Rights Chairman Charges 'Failure To End Polarization'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Despite having "all the laws we need," the federal government has failed in its role to end racial and economic polarization in America, Rev. Theodore M. Hesburgh,, said yesterday.

Hesburgh, president of the University of Notre Dame and chairman of the U.S. Civil Rights Commission, issued the statement at the end of nearly four days of hearings on housing discrimination.

The commission took testimony from more than 60 persons, including three cabinet officers, federal, state and local government leaders, industry representatives and persons who suffer from the discrimination.

"Much of the testimony we have heard here for three and one-half days confirms the findings of our investigations over the past one and one-half years that the federal government has not treated the problem of racial and economic polarization as a problem of the first priority," Hesburgh said.

He said the polarization is "a problem at the heart of the solution of America reaching its ideals."

Hesburgh and his vice chairman, Dr. Stephen Horn, president of California State College at Long Beach, expressed some pessimism of much being done despite several announcements this past week of steps to be taken by the Nixon administration to end housing discrimination.

Hesburgh said the problem of exclusion of minorities from the suburbs overrides all the other forms of discrimination becuase education and jobs are keyed to where the minorities are forced to live.

Hesburgh said he disagreed with Nixon's statement last Friday that the government can deal with racial, but not economic discrimination.

"They are so intertwined it would take a genius to separate them," Hesburgh said. "In 80 or 90 per cent of the cases, they're almost identical."

He said Nixon "perceptively reflected" the problem of low and moderate income housing in the suburbs, but that statement "will not change overnight the present bad situation so deeply rooted in prejudice and malpractice on the part of many in both the public and private sector."

The problem, "often due to government programs, will be possible only if there are affirmative and systematic efforts by the federal government toward this end."

Horn said he was more optimistic than Hesburgh about a solution, although he thought a key to ending it lay in complete reorganization and amalgamation of local governmental bodies.

But he said he was impressed that "with maybe one or two exceptions we have not heard any of the white racism tag which killed the confidence in the Kerner Commission" report issued two years ago.

Nixon Petition In HUD Fund Fight

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The federal government has asked that President Nixon be dropped as a defendant in a suit by the City of San Francisco charging he illegally impounded $350 million in housing and urban renewal funds.

Assistant U.S. Attorney Brian Denton filed a memorandum in federal court Thursday contending that judicial intervention in the exercise of presidential power was prohibited by the U.S. Constitution.

Judge Oliver Carter set a hearing for next Friday on Denton's petition.

The city, in three lawsuits filed last week by Mayor Joseph L. Alioto, accused Nixon of illegally impounding the funds appropriated by Congress.

Other defendants were Housing and Urban Development Secretary George Romney and the Office of Management and Budget.

Composer Friml Is Hospitalized

Before entering the hospital, Friml said he felt fine and had never been sick.

"My mother lived to be more than 100 and my father was very old when he died," said the composer of "Rose Marie" and other aperettas. "The doctors are the only ones who are nervous."

Ballot On South Span In One Year

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Residents in six San Francisco Bay Area counties will vote in June 1972 whether a southern crossing over the bay should be constructed.

This was assured Thursday with the signing of Legislation by Gov. Ronald Reagan placing the issue on the ballot for residents of San Francisco, Alameda, Contra Costa, Marin, San Mateo and Santa Clara counties.

Author of the bill is bassemblyman Robert Crown, D-Alameda.

A bill approved earlier called for legislative approval before construction of the proposed $500 million bridge could start. But Reagan vetoed the measure and suggested the voters in the region ballot on the issue.

Crown has said that if voters reject the bridge, the state could not build it without permission of the legislature.

The proposed span would be built from San Francisco's India Basin to Alameda County.

Big Cities Hit By Rise In TB

NEW YORK (UPI) —Tuberculosis is on the rise in many of the population centers of the United States despite new forms of treatment and a general decline in the number of cases nationwide, medical officials said Thursday.

At a special TB briefing at the Harlem Hospital Center, doctors said about half of the 56 U.S. cities with populations over 250,000 had TB case rates above the national average.

Dr. Gordon M. Meade, medical director of the National Tuberculosis & Respiratory Disease Association, listed Birmingham, Ala., Boston, El Paso, Tex. and Jersey City, N.J. among major cities where the new-case rate was higher in 1970 than in 1968.

Jury Finds Four Guilty Of Charges In Antiwar Sit-In

A Marin Municipal Court jury took a little less than three hours yesterday to find four persons guilty of misdemeanors stemming from a sit-in at the San Rafael office of the U.S. Selective Service last month.

Found Guilty of willfully obstructing a public place and failing to disperse were Thomas Louis Oleari, 22, and Bryan Thomas Geddy, 23, both of Fairfax; William Gaston Begelow, 19, of Tiburon, and Lillian Lee Cunningham, 19, of San Rafael.

During its deliberation, the jury of four men and eight women asked for reshowing of a television news film of the sit-in which had been shown by the prosecution during the five-day trial.

Begelow is to return to Judge Peter Allen Smith's court July 2 for sentencing, and the three others are to return July 16.

Final arguments in the case included a moving plea for acquittal by defense attorney Carl B. Shapiro of San Anselmo.

At least one female spectator at the trial was in tears when Shapiro finished his argument, which traced the history of protest and civil disobedience from the Magna Carta, through the Boston Tea Party and the black civil rights movement in America.

Shapiro said the defendants should not be found guilty of the charges. If they were charged with deterring the Selective Service laws or attempting to shorten the Vietnam War, he said, they would plead guilty.

Their only motive in being at the draft board office, he said, was to protest the war.

If they are found guilty, Shapiro continued, it would be the same as finding the Boston Tea Party guilty of stealing property or telling black civil rights activists during the 1960s that all they wanted was to sit in a restaurant.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Vernon F. Smith replied in his argument that it was not the jury's duty to decide if it agrees with the motives of the defendants, but rather it is to decide if they violated the law.

In a reference to the Boston Tea Party, Smith said that if a group of young men went out to a ship today and dumped millions of dollars worth of property overboard, he would expect them to be arrested and brought to trial.

Just as he would, he said, expect members of the Klu Klux Klan who violated the law in Marin County to be arrested and tried.

He told the jury that the statue of justice is blindfolded, and the jurors must act on matters of law, not on their personal political feelings.

Four other persons of a total of 37 arrested at the May 5 sit-in have pleaded guilty to failing to disperse. They are to be sentenced Sept. 10.

Four of the 37 were juveniles and were booked at Marin Juvenile Hall.

The other 25 have cases pending in Marin Municipal Court.

Malta's Premier Begins Job Of Picking Cabinet

Mintoff, 54, was sworn in Thursday as this Mediterranean island nation's first Labor premier since its independence from Britain in 1964.

Final results of weekend balloting showed Mintoff, premier of the island from 1955 to 1958, received 50.8 per cent of the more than 165,000 votes cast.

Ousted Indians Vow They Are 'Just Starting'

RICHMOND, Calif. (UPI)— Indians the government ousted from an unused Nike missile base said today they were just beginning their quest for a piece of land in the Bay Area.

Nearly 300 policemen and soldiers at dawn Thursday ended the Indians' occupation of the abandoned site in the hills on the east side of San Francisco Bay. "We're just starting, baby, just starting," said Stella Leach, a nurse who served as medic for the Indians who occupied Alcatraz Island and later the Richmond base. She was part of a group that straggled back to a San Francisco Indian center after the government cleared the Nike base.

The 65 Indians who occupied homes and buildings at the site Monday were caught sleeping by 110 police officers, backed by 172 soldiers from the San Francisco Presidio, who moved on the base.

The World's finest Bourbon since 1795

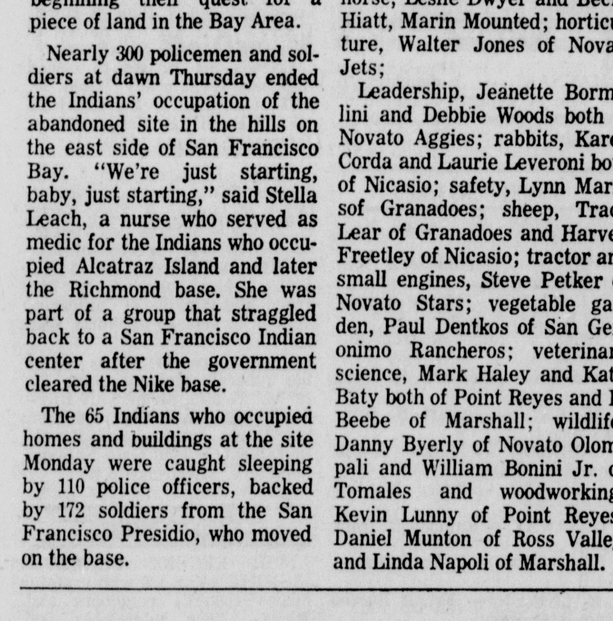
Generation gap? We never heard of it.



Orson Welles and his daughter Rebecca are both performers. Different generations. But with the same love for their craft. The Beams too have a craft—the distilling of Kentucky Bourbon. And for 6 generations, sons have followed fathers with a love for that craft. The result is a proud Bourbon. Smooth, light, mellow. The world's finest since 1795.

POST

Secretary of Defense and the chairman of the Joint Chiefs by Robert Cutler, the special assistant to the President" for National Security Council affairs. The memo, the Post said, expressed "unhappiness over (British Prime Minister Anthony) Eden's proposals, which fell far short of intervention."

The documents indicate that Eisenhower did approve a policy statement of the National Security Council that said, "Communist domination, by whatever means, of all Southeast Asia would seriously endanger in the short term, and critically endanger in the longer term, the United States security interests."

The Joint Chiefs statement advocated supporting the French in "an aggressive military, political and psychological program, including covert operations, to eliminate organized Viet Minh forces by mid-1955."

It also said a Communist takeover of Southeast Asia "could result in such economic and political pressures in Japan as to make it extremely difficult to prevent Japan's eventual accommodation to Communism."

The statement said "overt Chinese Communist attack" was not likely unless the "United States participates in the fighting."

The Pentagon document, however, said Eisenhower, although he had approved the planning outlined in the National Security Council statement, wanted the approval of Congress and the support of U. S. allies before implementing it.

During the 1954 meeting of the Committee on Indochina, Deputy Defense Secretary Roger Kyes said sending the 200 mechanics to help the French might "so commit the U. S. to support the French that we must be prepared eventually for complete intervention, including use of U. S. combat forces."

The document said Undersecretary of State Walter Bedell Smith argued that "the importance of winning in Indochina was so great that if worst came to the worst he personally would favor intervention with U. S. air and naval forces—not ground forces."

Among the voices raised against sending any U.S. forces to Indochina was Sen. John C. Stennis, D-Miss., who was then a low-ranking member of the Armed Services Committee he now heads.

"It seems to me that we should certainly stop short of sending our troops or airmen to this area, either for participation in the conflict or as instructors," Stennis said in a letter to Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson.

Jail Term For Possessing Pot

Craig R. Westling, 23, of Inverness, was sentenced to one year in Marin County Jail yesterday for possessing marijuana for sale.

Judge Henry J. Broderick of Marin Superior Court also placed Westling on probation for two years and gave him a three-month sentence — to be served concurrently with the one-year sentence — for possessing marijuana in connection with another case.

Westling was arrested with three other men in May 1969 when agents raided an Inverness house where they said they found large quantities of hashish.

Two of the men have been sentenced previously, and the other, John Lipinsky, 23, formerly of Inverness, is a fugitive.

The three-month jail sentence for Westling stemmed from a visit to his residence in March 1970 by a constable who went to the home to warn Westling to keep his eight dogs tied up. The constable found marijuana in Westling's kitchen.

Papers Quoting Ky Are Seized

SAIGON (UP)—The South Vietnamese government said today it had confiscated 15 editions of Vietnamese-language newspapers, 13 of them for carrying a speech by Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky criticizing the government.

Ky is running for president in the Oct. 3. presidential election for the seat held by President Nguyen Van Thieu, also expected to run.

The speech, delivered by Ky at a meeting of Chinese Vietnamese, said "we should reform our internal affairs, because the strength of the army is consequent to it. The strength of the army now is a boast—artificial—and it will collapse any day."

Grant For Ferry Fleet Supported

I-J Special Report

BERKELEY — A $12.6 million federal grant sought by the Golden Gate Bridge District for its ferry fleet was approved by the Association of Bay Area Governments executive committee last night.

Lizette Weiss, ABAG community relations representative, said the only opposition to the grant came from Roger Peters of Harbor Carriers which operates ferries from Tiburon to San Francisco.

It had been rumored that the state Office of Intergovernmental Management, which next must review the grant, might send a representative to oppose it last night but none appeared, according to Miss Weiss.

The grant is being sought to help pay for two-thirds of the cost of an $18.9 million ferry fleet, scheduled to start operating late next year or early 1973.

In other action last night, the executive committee agreed to allow an ad hoc citizens committee formed to advise ABAG on housing matters broaden its scope to other activities.

The committee also agreed that more citizens, especially those from low-income and minority groups, should be encouraged to join the citizens committee and become involved in regional planning.

TIMES

released to the writers without restrictions.

Alexander M. Bickel, a Yale law professor arguing for The Times, asked Gurfein to remove the temporary restraining order on grounds the Washington Post and other newspapers have printed the same material.

Hess, the government attorney, said the Justice Department is considering similar action against other newspapers who published information labeled top secret.

Ted Sorensen, a former speech writer and adviser to former President John F. Kennedy, said n an affidavit that he was familiar with government documents and their labeling and that sometimes top secret stamps were routinely applied to documents with only the briefest and loosest consideration.

The Justice Department had a descriptive list of the materials upon which the Times based its stories. The newspaper supplied the list Thursday at Gurfein's suggestion.

The department claims publication of the report, which was ordered in 1967 by then Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara, could damage national security.

The Times has refused to say who leaked the information to the newspaper but several sources Thursday said it was Daniel Ellsberg, a senior research associate at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and a former employe of Rand Corp. in Santa Monica, Calif. Rand held two of the 15 copies of the Pentagon report.

The FBI was known to be investigating the leak and the identification of the informer.

The Times published three installments of the series — which essentially showed that policy decisions of the Johnson administration did not correspond to public statements on the war — before Gurfein's order stopped the last two installments. The Times refused to stop publication voluntarily.

In Thursday's hearing, the Justice Department argued it needed to see what documents the Times had in order to formulate its case. It said the court should see them too, so it could be aided in its ruling.

"The court cannot frame an injunction unless the court knows what needs to be enjoined."

MARY P. BROCKMANN

Crash Fatal To Larkspur Woman, 72

I-J Special Report

HAYFORK — Mary P. Brockmann, 72, of 461 Cane Street, Larkspur, was killed and her grandson, George Brockmann, 17, seriously injured yesterday in a car-truck head-on collision about 20 miles north of this Trinity County town.

Brockmann was reported in serious condition today in Mercy Hospital in Redding, Shasta County, with a broken hip, leg and knee.

He was driving on Highway 3 when a septic tank truck crossed the road's center line and collided with the car, according to the California Highway Patrol.

Brockmann's sister, Julie, and a friend, Tige Andrews, also in the car, received minor injuries.

Mrs. Brockmann had accompanied the three youths to Weaverville, Trinity County, to dig for old bottles, a new hobby of her grandson who lived with her.

Brockmann, a student at Redwood High School, has been working with a Corte Madera printer.

Mrs. Brockmann has lived in Marin County 14 years and was on the board of directors of the Episcopal Women of the Church of Our Savior in Mill Valley. Her husband, George Brockmann Sr., died several years ago.

She is survived by a son, Jack Brockmann of Modesto; daughter, Janice Welch of Stockton; and several grandchildren.

Another son, George Brockmann Jr. died in October. He was the owner of Brockman Real Estate Inc. in Mill Valley and was a nationally known racing pigeon expert.

A memorial service will be held at 4 p.m. Sunday at the Church of Our Savior. Burial will be in Woodlawn Cemetery, Colma.

ANGELA

convict of "abusing the processes of the court" and recently ordered that no more of his petitions be accepted calling them "legally frivolous."

Judge Arnason, a Contra Costa County jurist, is moving cautiously, however, in the celebrated case and has asked a firm and clear order that the state court can proceed.

Meanwhile, as debate raged on whether the state or the county (see story page 13) should pay for costs of the trial, Assemblyman William T. Bagley's office announced that he today had amended a pending bill (his AB644) related to the Department of Corrections, to obligate the state to pay.

He said the bill, which has the support of the attorney general's office, is to be heard next week.

Magee and Angela Davis are charged with murder, kidnapping and conspiracy in connection with the August shoot-out at the Civic Center in which Judge Harold J. Haley and three others were killed.

out of balance because it would spend reserve stores of cash on a month-to-month basis and would "wipe out" such funds.

He also charged the "budget is out of balance in the area of welfare, unless we pass the governor's welfare program or something like it. It simply does not address itself to the problem of 'we ought to reform welfare.' "

Brown denied that reserve funds should be depleted and noted the budget contained no more for welfare than the $676.5 million originally proposed by the governor.

Major features include a provision that the counties would be "held harmless" if welfare costs more than the state had expected.

Another provision grants a 10 per cent pay raise to faculties at the state colleges and University of California and a 5 per cent pay raise for state employes for a cost of $116.9 million. Reagan proposed expanded fringe benefits but no cost-of-living pay increases.

Senate leader James R. Mills, D-San Diego, said as far as he was concerned any action to move the Senate budget bill was up to the Republicans.

"We've taken our turn," he said, "now it's their turn."

He expressed doubt the budget would be finally enacted and sent to Reagan by the constitutionally-mandated July 1 deadline even if the Senate acted immediately. For the past two years, Democrats have delayed passage past the deadline.

Sen. Randolph Collier, D-Yreka, chairman of the Finance Committee, said when the Assembly bill reaches his committee "it won't do anything. It'll just sit there."

Marin City Flea Mart Is Backed

The concept of a weekend flea market for Marin City was endorsed last night by directors of the Marin City Community Services District, Lillian Lee, district secretary, reported.

Arlene Atkinson and Dennis Monahan, owners of the People's Community Market in Corte Madera, told the services district board their market is currently located near the freeway in Corte Madera. They said they have learned they must vacate the premises where it is held by the end of this week.

The owners indicated they are considering three sites for a new operation — in Marin City, San Rafael and Corte Madera —but that the Marin City location, behind the Standard service station, would be their first choice.

The board approved the location, with the stipulation that permission to use the land be obtained from the Marin County Redevelopment Agency which controls it.

Principal's Wife Asks Dissolution Of Marriage

The wife of resigning San Rafael High School Principal Alan W. Ellsberg, filed for dissolution of the couple's 24-year marriage yesterday in Marin Superior Court.

Ellsberg, 50, has served as principal of the high school from 1966. He has resigned effective the end of this month to accept a post at the University of Michigan.

The couple has four children and the family home is at 57 Vallejo Way in San Rafael.

Mrs. Ellsberg asked custody of the children and support.

Indian Travel Agency Formed

WASHINGTON (UPI) —"Indians will be earning their money doing what they have always done: lighting and tending a campfire, skinning a deer, singing and dancing."

Dallas Bordeaux Chief Eagle of the Sioux, with a slogan of "See America with the First Americans" and a $100,000 federal grant, announced Thursday creation of the first U.S. travel agency run exclusively by Indians.

In addition to his sister, he is survived by two sons, Lindley B. and Terry E. Zink and a daughter, Sherryl Tooker, all of San Jose; and one grandchild.

him some xeroxed copies of documents after he met with Ellsberg at Princeton University April 19. The congressman said Ellsberg told him he had "information relevant to Vietnam, in particular, my concern over the deception of Congress by the executive branch with respect to Vietnam."

McCloskey said he could not tell whether the copies he received were part of the 47-volume report on which the Times based its series, which has led to a government attempt to stop publication of the information.

On the basis of the information in the documents he received, McCloskey said, he told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee May 27 that there was a Vietnam task force study. McCloskey advised the committee to request the study from the State Department.

McCloskey said the documents he received were locked up in his office safe. He said that although the material he received dealt with the same decision-making process that got the United States deeper and deeper in Vietnam, "I cannot remember that anything I have seen is what's been published." He said he had not read the third installment of the Times series, only the first two.

Ellsberg joined the Defense Department in 1964 as a special aide to John T. McNaughton, the assistant secretary for international security affairs. McNaughton was responsible for coordinating the Vietnam report.

Ellsberg was with the State Department from 1965 to 1967, spending much of his time in Saigon where he was a special assistant to the deputy ambassador.

FLAG DEBATE

U.N. Foe Lashes Hub's World Link

Susan M. Tennler, leading opponent of the mundialization of San Anselmo, yesterday said she would call for a congressional investigation if the United Nations flag were raised beside Old Glory.

Mrs. Tennler, lieutenant governor of the United Republicans of California, speaking on radio KTIM's "Marin Sounding Board," called recent city council action favoring mundialization part of "a deliberate plan to abolish the United States as a nation."

The term "mundialization" —a word so new it cannot be found in the dictionary — means acknowledgement of world citizenship and responsibility, according to its proponent, Norman B. Leach, executive director of World Federalist Youth-USA.

Controversy over San Anselmo's mundialization came following a 3-2 council vote to adopt the concept and fly the U.N. flag along with the American flag and to be paired with a sister city chosen from another country.

The U.N. flag has been removed, however, for lack of a pole. It had been flying beneath the American and California Bear flags until U.N. officials advised the council it had to be flown on a separate pole.

During the panel discussion, Atty. Warren R. Perry, a San Anselmo councilman who voted against mundialization, said he didn't support the action because he didn't believe it was a function of the city council.

"But even if you're opposed to it, it's not the end of the world. San Anselmo did not sell out and I don't believe the U.N. is a communist organization," Perry declared.

Another councilman, James F. Reed III, supported mundialization which he said "is baiscally a symbolic act."

"We're just saying we are world citizens," Reed said. "It in no way detracts from our support of the United States or our respect for Old Glory."

Barbara Schugt, cochairman of the Marin Chapter of United World Federalists, called the mundialization of San Anselmo "a small step toward peace."

Several questions phoned in during the live broadcast regarded the council's right to decide whether or not residents of San Anselmo should become world citizens.

"I feel we were acting beyond the power of our scope. I don't think we have the right to speak for the community on national or international affairs," Perry declared. He, along with Mrs. Tennler, supported a referendum vote by citizens on the question of mundialization.

Responding to a question that the World Federalists forced their views on the city council, Reed was emphatic in his denial.

"I don't think the World Federalists forced themselves on us. They proceeded in the normal manner. There was no force used. It was an action taken because we believed in it," Reed said. He added that the resolution favoring mundialization did not carry any endorsement of the World Federalists.

When Mrs. Tennler questioned the council's disregard for the petitions presented opposing mundialization, Perry noted that at least two of the names on the petition were inaccurate.

Mrs. Tennler did not comment on his charge.

The question of a new flag pole was answered by both councilmen who agreed public monies would not be used to purchase one. However, a public group is collecting funds to donate the pole.

The panel discussion will be rebroadcast by tape at 10:05 a.m. Sunday. Kitty Oppenheimer moderated the program.

Sausalito Trustees Employ 32

After accepting a hearing officer's findings that sweeping staff reductions proposed by the district are in accordance with the state education code, the Sausalito School District board has voted to employ 32 certificated staff members for the 1971-72 school year.

Excluding staff resignations and dismissals, the board's decision brings to 12 the number of certificated employees who will not be rehired for the coming year, Supt. Lawrence A. Lindberg reported. The board voted 3-0 to employ the personnel, with trustees Robert A. Thompson and Nathaniel Johnson absent.

TOLIVER NEXT

In order of seniority, special assistant James T. Toliver Jr. would be eligible for reinstatement as the result of last night's action, but he was not included in the rehiring because of dismissal charges which the district has leveled against him.

The board voted earlier this week to file charges in Marin Superior Court against Toliver and teachers James E. Pockrus and Cliford A. Munger, who were notified by the district they were being fired for cause.

Included in the 32 persons to be rehired are Superintendent Lindberg, Principals Henry E. Hopkins and Armando Renzullo, librarian Estelle K. Sutherlin, reading specialist Frances Evergettis and 27 classroom teachers.

TEACHERS HIRED

Elizabeth G. Jones, Ray Menaster, Kent R. Kincaid, Margaret J. Muldary, Thomas P. Flynn, Eleanor L. Spells, Barbara Zimmer, Barbara W. Thurman, Alice C. Coss, Jane C. Pokorny, Julianna B. Whitten, Helena Richardson and Judith E. Feinglass.

Lindberg said the board also voted to eliminate seven classified positions in the district, including a secretary's aide at Martin Luther King School, a district office secretary, junior accountant, school secretary, custodian, two bus drivers.

Tax Increase Predicted For Bolinas PUD Budget

A $117,315 preliminary budget for 1971-72 has been adopted by directors of the Bolinas Community Public Utility District, Board Chairman Jose A. Silva reported.

The board voted 4-1, with Silva dissenting, to approve the spending program at a meeting Wednesday.

He said the proposed budget is about $9,000 more than this year's $108,348 budget and will result in a slight tax increase for district residents. The current tax rate is $1.93 per $100 of assessed valuation And he said the exact amount of the hike will be determined by the Marin County Auditor's office.

Silva said he voted against the budget because he objected to including a $10,000 expenditure for engineering services for the district's proposed $5.2 million sewage disposal system. He believes the engineering costs should be paid through an assessment district being established to finance the project.

The budget as adopted includes $44,239 for salaries, $19,660 for maintenance, a $15,500 reserve fund for land acquistion for future water supply and $37,916 for capital outlay, Silva said. In the capital budget is the money for engineering services and funds for a new water storage tank, service meters and a sprinkling system for the utility district office.

The district's estimated revenues for 1971-72, derived chiefly from water and meter installation charges, will be $36,000, he said, leaving $81,315 to be raised through taxes.

The board also voted to hire the San Rafael accounting firm of Sleezer and Eckhoff to prepare the district's 1970-71 audit.

Trading Stamp Bill Is Killed

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) —A bill to give consumers the option of taking either trading stamps or cash with their purchases was killed Thursday by a State Senate committee.

Sen. Anthony C. Beilenson of Beverly Hills, author of the measure called stamps "parasitic" and said they only add to the cost of merchandise. He noted his bill still permitted an option.

The Business and Professions Committee also killed another Beilenson measure to require groceries to list the unit or per pound price of commodities.

The truth is: you can.

At Rancho del Norte in the Sonoma Hills — a mere hour's drive from the Golden Gate Bridge — you can enjoy all the convenience of a private club without the overwhelming expense. When you compare that to the total cost of weekend excursions with your family over the year, the economics alone show you the advantage of belonging to Rancho del Norte. But there are many other advantages, too.

Rolling hills, a year-round creek, riding stables, livestock corrals, a large swimming pool, beautiful camping area, a five-acre lake (currently under construction), and a recreation lodge — all for you to enjoy as you will . . . when you will. Reservations are never necessary. And because our membership is limited, you'll never be crowded.

Come take a look for yourself . . . this weekend or next. Bring the entire family and enjoy a full day at Rancho del Norte at no cost to you whatsoever. There's a free barbecue, a large open space where your children can wander, and ample time for you to explore the grounds and lodge on your own.

How to get to Rancho del Norte

Go north on Highway 101 to the River Road exit (approximately 4 miles above Santa Rosa). Proceed east. You'll know you're on the right road if you come to a stop sign in a couple of blocks with a Texaco station on the right. Continue on this road (which goes to Calistoga) for 8 miles. (This road changes names twice — from River Road to Mark West Springs to Porter Creek Road, so do not be confused.) At this point watch for our mailbox and small sign on the right. The address is 3485 Porter Creek Road. Turn immediately to the left over a small bridge and follow the signs to the lodge. The Resident Manager will be there to greet you. Our telephone number: (707) 545-4898.

FIRE THREATENS RESIDENCES

An unidentified man fought yesterday to keep a roaring wind-whipped grass fire between Terra Linda and Marinwood from reaching a house at 12 Cherry Hill Drive. The blaze, which burned 12 acres, took almost an hour to bring under control. Firemen said it was started about 4 p.m. by children playing with a candle in a tree hut. Firemen from San Rafael, Marin County and Terra Linda departments fought the blaze, which caused no structural damage.

Council Eyes Budget In Petaluma

The Petaluma City Council last night made its way through the study of 10 departmental budgets for 1971-72 and designated very few cuts.

Drawing the most consideration was the request from librarian Alice M. Hanna for a budget of $101,360, although City Mgr. Robert H. Meyer said he could not recommend more than $84,909.

Miss Hanna explained she needs two additional employees to meet the increased demand for services and requested $21,289 for supplies to step up book acquisition. Meyer recommended only $14,341.

Miss Hanna said she intended to work toward a goal of two books for each resident and that under her budget request the current book collection of 41,000 would be increased to 45,000 next year.

The council agreed that the library collection should be enlarged, but withheld a final decision until next week so it could determine that other departments would not be shortchanged because of it.

In the Parks and Recreation Department budget, the council increased the recommended figure of $118,596 by $1,100 to provide more materials for lawn care since park areas will be expanded in the next year and to provide $100 for professional entertainment at the Fourth of July celebration.

The council made no cut in the requested fire department budget of $395,531 and took a look at its capital outlay requests. The council approved $3,000 for the purchase of new hydrants, mattresses and fire alarm equipment and $500 for firefighting apparel. A proposal by Gage-Babcock Co. to do a survey of fire protection facilities at a cost of $4,000 failed to receive the support of either Fire Chief Roscoe A. Benton or the council.

Benton also received approval on the proposed budget for the Ambulance Department of $20,672 and a capital outlay expenditure of $3,174 to purchase a new ambulance. The money will be added to $12,826 already in the fund.

Other department budgets approved without cuts were weed abatement, $13,461; swimming pool maintenance, $23,831; recreation and instructional swimming, $16,894; sanitary sewer, $201,479; and water department, $509,680.

The council will review the proposed budgets of other departments Wednesday at 9 a.m.

Auto Is Looted

Neil I. Grant of Santa Rosa told Petaluma police yesterday that a camera, motorcycle chain and six bottles of cleaner valued at $400 were stolen from his car while parked at Petaluma Boulevard North and Payran Street.

Truck Plunges Into Barn, Killing Driver

A 57-year-old Sleepy Hollow man died yesterday as his pickup truck careened down a grassy slope in his front yard and crashed into the side of a barn.

Benjamin Masten Perkins, of 200 Deer Hollow Road, was dead on arrival at Marin General Hospital following the 2:37 p.m. accident.

The Marin County Coroner's office scheduled an autopsy to determine if cause of death was the accident or whether Perkins suffered a seizure just before the accident.

The California Highway Patrol said Perkins was just entering his steep driveway when his truck swerved to the right and then the left, and rolled down a grassy hill, striking several trees along the way and coming to rest against a barn.

Perkins was a marine surveyor for James E. Dillon and Associates of San Francisco. A retired ship's captain, he had served in the Navy during World War II. He had lived in Marin approximately seven years.

Perkins' wife, Ellen, and children, Mollie and Thomas, who were vacationing in Oregon, were due to return to Marin today.

Funeral arrangements were pending today at Russell and Gooch Funeral Chapel, Mill Valley.

Miss Suldo, 22, of New Brunswick, N.J. was the 100-millionth visitor to the sprawling amusement complex.

She was presented with a silver pass entitling her to free use of all its attractions for the rest of her life. Concessionaires also gave her $100 in traveler's checks, $100 worth of free air travel, a year's supply of soft drinks and a year's supply of dog food.

New Changes In Sausalito Officials

H. Thomas Rogers was elected chairman of the Sausalito Recreation Commission last night, replacing John P. Vetromile who resigned from the commission when his term expired.

Paul Kozak of the Sausalito Youth Center was named vice chairman and a new commissioner, James E. Muldoon, was seated on the board. Muldoon, a former trustee of the Sausalito School District, will take Vetromile's place.

Accident Victim Identified As Oregon Man

The man killed in an accident on Highway 101 at Petaluma Tuesday has been identified as Bruce Boyd Webb, 27, of Cave Junction, Ore.

The Sonoma County Coroner's Office said the license plates on his car were traced to that city and an acquaintance found in Santa Rosa made positive identification.

Webb, who carried no identification, died when his car overturned in the center divider strip. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Webb of Grant City, Mo., and the brother of Curtis Webb of Big Sur.

Ulbricht 'Sick' Misses Conclave

BERLIN (UPI) —Walter Ulbricht, 77-year-old East German head of state, has been absent from the country's Communist party convention because he has been sick in bed, the official news service ADN said today.

There had been speculation in the West that the absence of the aged Stalinist from the June 15-19 East German Communist Paty convention in East Berlin was a sign he was being sidetracked in favor of the new party leadership.

Wornum Beaten In Animal Budget Trim

Marin County's animal control budget escaped an attempt by Supervisor Michael Wornum to trim 10 per cent from the $206,000 contributed by property taxes to the pound operation. In a split vote yesterday the board of supervisors left the budget intact at a total of $368,424. About one-third of the expense is financed by dog licenses, kennel licenses and impound fees.

Marin County Humane Society Director Mel P. Morse and Asst. County Administrator Thomas F. Campanella reported that though several cities were "dissatisfied with the level of enforcement" there was not enough animal control manpower as it is to keep stray dogs off the streets.

Also, the courts "have indicated very strongly" that they do not wish to presecute owners whose dogs are impounded, Campanella said. When the cases are dismissed the county must return impound fees to the owners, thus cutting county revenues.

Morse said he has unsuccessfully proposed that animal control violations be made infractions rather than offenses. He said he had also urged that a school be set up for offending dogs' owners similar to the county's existing traffic control.

Declaring that "half my district hates dogs and the other half thinks they're more equal than people," Wornum moved the trim, but was unable to get a second. The budget then was passed.

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The UC Board of Regents refused Thursday to open negotiations to turn over to the city of Berkeley the controversial "peoples park" near the UC Berkeley campus.

The Committee on Grounds and Buildings rejected a motion that they meet with a committee of Berkeley city councilmen and said they should talk with UC Berkeley administrators before approaching the regents.

However, Berkeley Chancellor Roger Heyns and regent Joseph A. Moore Jr. had told the Berkeley councilmen they had a right to take the matter up with the regents because the regents took the issue out of the hands of campus administrators two years ago.

Floodwater Bypass Is Suggested

A committee studying flood control in Mill Valley, after discussing and rejecting various plans, has asked the Army Corps of Engineers to study a proposal for an enclosed bypass along Miller Avenue.

Chairman Jerome C. Hauke said the corps will investigate the engineering feasibility of a bypass from Valley Circle to Richardson Bay to bear floodwaters from Arroyo Corte Madera Del Presidio.

Such a bypass has been mentioned frequently as a solution to annual flooding along the creek. It would allow the natural streambed to carry a small amount of water and excess amounts of water to be borne by a concrete channel under Miller Avenue.

The corps's findings on the bypass, Hauke said, will be presented to the 12-member committee at its third meeting at 7:30 p.m. July 14 in the board room of the public library.

Other proposals discussed Wednesday but rejected were a holding basin in the harbor area to store excess floodwaters, a system of check dams and enclosed conduits to bear water from mountain streams to the bay and an earth-lined channel from Valley Circle to the bay to avoid the necessity of a concrete channel.

Aid Asked To Halt Riots, Arson, Looting In Florida

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (UPI) —Officials called in another contingent of state troopers today following two nights of street violence by blacks which has resulted in at least 150 arrests and damage totaling nearly $250,000.

About 45 troopers and a 20-man Florida Marine Patrol riot squad were summoned as reinforcements, and Mayor Hans Tanzler said he would let sheriff Dale Carson decide whether any additional help was needed to quell the outburst of burning, looting and sniping.

Carson said he would ask for National Guard assistance only as a "LAST RESORT." The disturbances began Wednesday night with angry blacks protesting the shooting of a black teenager by a white patrolman last week. Patrolman Frank Fouraker was scheduled to go before the Duval County grand jury today in connection with the shooting.

Fouraker was relieved of his duties following the shooting of Donnie Ray Hall, a 15-year-old escapee from the juvenile shelter. Officers said Fouraker shot the youth in an alley following a chase. A large knife was found near the youth's body.

Officials said 162 persons were arrested Thursday night and early today but only about 120 of those arrests were connected with the disturbances. Most were charged with creating a disturbance but a few were charged with looting.

Carson credited the Florida highway patrol's anti-riot tank, called the "monster," as being the major factor in quelling the disturbance.

Early today police reported they shot a black youth in the foot after he opened fire on them. The youth—the only gunshot victim during the two nights of disorder—was not immediately apprehended but later surrendered at a local hospital for treatment.

This morning police were faced with the task of processing the prisoners for early arraignment in this city of 528,000. A chief jailer said, "we want to maintain the dignity and rights of every single person, and allow anyone who can raise bond to return home."

Two policemen were treated at hospitals for minor injuries, and several others, including Duval County Sheriff Dale Carson, were hit by missiles.

At one point police tried to disperse 75 children and teens looting a grocery in a residential section, but were forced back by a barrage of rocks, bricks, and bottles. The crowd reportedly grew to 400 and police pulled back, returning a half hour later with the "Monster" and tear gas.

Firemen said looters and arsonists were responsible for "60 separate fires, 10 of them major structural blazes."

The fire department confirmed some of its men had been shot at, and Carson said.

Fire Damages An Apartment

Fire officials said the fire started at 4:30 a.m. in an apartment on the lower floor at 338 Keller Street occupied by D. Jacobson.

Firefighters said damage to the lower floor and its contents was extensive, but said damage to the second floor apartment was light.

Officials were investigating the cause today. No damage estimate was available.

Computer Bid To Replace Checks

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Federal Reserve Board, warning that the nation's banks could strangle on the 22 billion checks Americans write each year, Thursday urged adoption of a computer system which would automatically transfer funds between bank accounts.

Under the board's proposal, for example, a person's pay could automatically be credited to his bank account by his employer, without the writing of a paycheck; and regular payments which the worker owes —such as car payments or rent —could automatically be sent to his creditors' accounts when due.

George W. Mitchell, a member of the board, said the policy statement issued Thursday had been in preparation for a year. He said there is an urgent need to reform the checking system before the economy smothers under a pile of paper.

Mitchell estimated that at least half of all checks could be eliminated in favor of an automatic transfer of funds directed by computers. This was particularly true, he said, of checks which are the same every month, such as for car or mortgage payments.

Mitchell also suggested that the use of checks for retail purchases could be eliminated in favor of a card, similar to a credit card. Some checks would have to remain for such items as irregular purchases or for cash.

To encourage development of the transfer system the Federal Reserve Board plans to expand its wire communication system and permit banks to use it free to transfer amounts of $1,000 or more. This will allow the nation's commercial banks to make virtually instantaneous payments anywhere across the country.

Mitchell also said the board would expand the regional clearing system which surrounds each of the 12 Federal reserve banks.

Unless changes are made, the number of checks —now 22 billion a year —will double by 1980, Mitchell said. In addition to the volume the problem for banks is compounded because the average check is handled 10 times before it is cleared.

The direct automatic payment system, Mitchell said, would save money for both bankers and customers since, for one thing, it would eliminate the need for paying postage because bills would no longer have to be mailed.

PIONEER APPROACH

Petaluma Meeting Growth Head-On

By BONNIE BARD
(First of two articles)

The city planning approach of past decades — based on the belief that growth at any price is good — is under serious question in California as residents seek a better quality in their surroundings, even to the point of restricting growth.

Residents of Marin andSouthern Sonoma counties especially are taking close looks at the character of their towns and untouched open space and are weighing past policies that would encourage more growth. Visions of a sea of rooftops and seemingly endless subdivisions reminiscent of hurried development in the South Bay region cause many to fear the same future might be in store for the North Bay.

In Marin the changing attitudes are seen in protests of plans for a new rapid transit bus system that was construed by some as an open invitation to more population and more undesireable development to house it. The Marin Municipal Water District heard residents complain that increased water supply from the planned Sonoma-Marin Aqueduct created development possibilities, while limited water supply would limit growth.

The future of West Marin and renewed planning to restrict zoning and density there to control the future population is again an indication that a new approach to planning is on the way.

While most of these new and restrictive policies are not yet established policy in many regions in Petaluma they are an accepted fact. The city council adopted a five-year development policy aimed at cutting the growth rate by half to contain future growth so that amenities can be provided for present and future residents.

Planning consultant Sidney Williams of the San Francisco firm of Williams and Mocine said that with the exception of a city somewhere in Southern California, Petaluma is the only city to come to grips with its growth problems and is meeting them head-on.

"Petaluma is in the forefront," Williams said, "and reflects a change of attitudes in the past three or four years."

"The Chamber of Commerce approach of growth at any price was the basic philosophy in the 1960's," he said. "Attitudes have now changed, in part because of sophistication and the fantastic concern with environment."

In a questionnaire distributed to all residents and returned by 2,400, the consultants found most Petalumans want the city to remain below a population of 40,000. Williams said he believed that many new residents chose Petaluma for their permanent home to escape from more urbanized locations.

"A lot of them moved to Petaluma because it was cheaper than Marin County, but only later found the reason for that was that the city didn't have parks, playgrounds and other facilities," Williams said.

When did Petalumans come to realize that further rapid growth must be halted until facilities can be improved to meet the needs of those already there?

Accepted by most as the prime impetus for the "slow growth movement" are the crowded conditions at Eastside schools. Not only did parents find their children forced on double sessions at crowded schools, but discovered they had virtually no place to play after school hours.

This lack of city and school facilities spawned the establishment of homeowners associations like the Petaluma Gardens Homeowners, East Petaluma Civic Association, Petaluma Valley Homeowners and Adobe Community for Improvement of Our Neighborhood.

Marvin Hale, civic association president, said of his fellow residents living east of Highway 101, "Many moved here from other parts of the Bay Area where community services were available to them and they think the same services should be offered here."

The groups, both individually and en masse, have urged the city council to provide better facilities in parks, playgrounds, fire, ambulance services and school facilities.

"We (eastsiders) had 40 per cent of the population, but no representation on the city council and everyone was aware of that and blamed the council as the reason for our having fewer facilities," Hale said. Since the formation of the organizations, two Eastside residents, Robert E. Daly and Richard W. Clecak, have been elected to the seven-member council.

City Mgr. Robert H. Meyer, who has headed the city staff since 1962, says he believes that no one could have foreseen the rapid growth that was then in Petaluma's future. "The planners would have needed a crystal ball," he said.

While the sagging economy curtailed some development in other communities, Petaluma experienced its fastest growth.

Since March of 1959, the city has issued 7,547 building permits, largely for single family homes developed in large tracts on the flat, easily and cheaply developed land east of the freeway.

The city averaged 525 annual permits in the early 1960s. The number jumped to 790 in 1965-66. Figures from March of 1970 to last February show a record 1,093 permits and Meyer said another 600 may be added before the fiscal year ends this month.

Petaluma's population, nearly doubled in 10 years, also reflects the city's growth as a bedroom community. The 1960 census was set at 14,035 and rose by 1965 to 19,050. The latest official head count, completed on March 1, indicated a population of 26,850.

"When the crunch hit, the schools couldn't sell any of their 5 per cent interest rate bonds," Meyer said, explaining the lag between the burgeoning population and school construction.

School conditions and double sessions were the result.

"People became exercised over that and everything else connected with growth," Meyer said.

In September, the first through fourth grades at La Tercera School will be on double sessions in the Eastside Old Adobe School District as well as students at Kenilworth Junior High School. Petaluma Senior High School, feeling the population pinch, will open on a staggered schedula with some students beginning school at 8 a.m. and others at 9 a.m.

Meyer believes the planned doubling of sewer connection fees from $300 to $600 speeded up the schedule for developers, hoping to take advantage of the lower rate.

Leafing through the recently adopted development policy which will be his "bible" for the next five years, Meyers said, "it's a whole new ballgame now," hoping citizens will also recognize the new era coming and give the city council the support it will need to implement it.

(Tomorrow: The plans and problems of the Petaluma decision)

WALNUT PARK — The tree-shaded Walnut Park with its charming bandstand and play equipment provide cool surroundings on warm afternoons for residents of West Petaluma. Playground equipment, picnic tables, barbecue facilities and tennis courts are also available at six other westside parks while the burgeoning eastside must make do with future plans to develop similar facilities there. (Independent-Journal photos by Bob Hax)

DEVOURING DEVELOPMENT — The open meadows on the eastside of Petaluma have been consumed by the rapid development of subdivisions. La Tercera School, once standing alone in the open field, is now being surrounded by homes. With four grades at the school on double sessions, the administration offices for the old adobe school district have been forced to take refuge in the mobile home. The sounds of hammering and earth moving equipment are constant reminders to schools Supt. Dean D. Magowan of present problems of crowding and those yet to come.

Plea Says Werber Still Is Innocent

Frank N. Werber, 41, pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to felony charges of possessing marijuana and cocaine and a misdemeanor charge of possessing narcotics paraphernalia.

Werber, former manager of the Kingston Trio and former owner of the Trident restaurant in Sausalito, was arrested June 10 by Marin drug agents who were informed by federal agents that Werber had drugs at his DeSilva Island home.

The federal agents said they had seen the drugs earlier that day when they went to Werber's residence to arrest him on a warrant charging him with being a convicted felon in possession of firearms.

Werber is also scheduled to be tried the week of July 19 on charges of possessing heroin, LSD, marijuana, cocaine, peyote, codeine and mescaline in connection with the March raid.

He is to appear in Federal District Court in San Francisco July 8 in connection with the firearms charges.

He is also out on bail pending an appeal of a six-month jail sentence and $2,000 fine imposed last year after he was convicted of marijuana possession and cultivation stemming from the seizure of six seabags of pot at his home in 1968.

HAYFIELD PARK? — No, it's the 30 acre undeveloped Lucchesi Park on Maria Drive in east Petaluma. A little league baseball diamond and five acres of grass for play are currently its only facilities. Eastside residents anxiously await the day it will be complete with tennis courts, play equipment, picnic facilities and a small lake for miniature boats. Plans have Been approved by the city council, but funding is not yet assured.

Compromise On Works Budget

Marin County supervisors completed action on the $6 million proposed public works department budget today by compromising on additional engineering manpower sought by Public Works Director Donald R. Frost.

He has asked addition of $12,000 above the proposed budget to hire another junior civil engineer — a proposal opposed by the county administrator. Frost argued that the county's private building industry was reviving after last year's slump. This plus more in-house projects would require more manpower, Frost said.

The board voted to add $8,000 to the engineering extra-hire budget and said Frost's successor — he is leaving his post July 16 — could return to the board for a full-time man if he workload materializes.

Principal increases reflected in the budget approved today were in road projects which do not affect the property tax rate.

However, the supervisors approved nearly $60,000 for the county garage to buy new road equipment, trucks and county pool vehicles.

During yesterday's hearing the board asked the staff to investigate revenue bonds for development of Gnoss Field, overruled objections to buying a new $25,000 road striping machine but refused to buy a new $25,000 bookmobile and approved job reclasification of engineers and technicians in the department's engineering services section.

The supervisors also switched a total of $40,000 from long-range funding for the Miller Avenue extension project in Mill Valley and the South San Pedro Road project, east of San Rafael, to finance a slide repair project on Ocean Parkway in West Marin, an item that had not been included in the proposed budget.

The action left $185,000 in the budget for Miller Avenue right-of way and planning; and $1,180,000 for right-of-way, plans and phased construction of San Pedro Road. Only $250,000 of the latter is new funds, the rest was carry-over and contributions from San Rafael city funds.

The widening of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard from Laurel Grove Avenue to Maple Avenue was approved to the tune of $634,000 — only $250,000 in new funds. Other minor projects also were approved.

None of the road projects affect the property tax rate, County Administrator Alan Bruce and Frost pointed out. They are financed by gasoline and highway user taxes, vehicle fines and other sources.

Former Supervisor William A. Gnoss and airport users were unable to persuade the board to allocate $170,000 for fill and paving of a recently-acquired five-acre addition on the east side of the airport. The speakers said the money was needed to supply more tiedown spaces and prepare for hangars that would be built by airport tenants.

Supervisor John F. McInnis suggested a revenue bond might be the answer.

The board did approve $5,000 for a bridge to the new area and other minor improvements.

The engineer and technician reclassification was voted despite the objections of spokesmen for the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees. They argued that the change should be postponed until after Tuesday's election to determine a bargaining representative for the county employees.

Bruce advised the board to proceed with the reclassification recommended by the county personnel office and Frost, arguing it would make no difference who represented the employees in any grievances that might arise.

The supervisors, long displeased with the dais that leaves one member of the board far back in a corner, ordered up to $5,000 spent on remodeling it and revamping the room's ineffective public address system.

Innocent Plea To Hashish Charge

He is to return to court Monday for setting of a trial date. Two codefendants, David Stuart King, 26, of Billings, Mont., and George S. Garr, 23, of no known address, are to enter pleas Monday.

King is also charged with possessing the drug for sale and Garr is accused of possessing it.

Charting Waterways

JUNEAU, Alaska (UPI) —A photo plane and four government ships are charting Alaska waters this year, including some areas that have not been surveyed in more than 50 years. The data, gathered by the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration, will be used for 23 charts for fishing and deep-draft cargo vessels.

Convict's Attorney In Walkout; Judge Finds Him In Contempt

An attorney representing a San Quentin inmate in a stabbing case faces a contempt charge after storming out of Judge Samuel W. Gardiner's Marin Superior Courtroom yesterday.

The attorney, Lawrence E. Weiss of San Rafael, had earlier unsuccessfully attempted to remove Judge Gardiner from the case.

His challenge that the judge was prejudiced was denied Wednesday after a hearing before another Superior Court judge, Henry J. Broderick.

Yesterday Judge Gardiner denied a peremptory challenge because he said Weiss did not make it at the proper time when the case was assigned.

The judge then proceeded to listen to testimony from a San Quentin official who was called after Thomas said that both prison officials and the sheriff's department had asked that Talamantes be restrained during the trial.

When Talamantes interrupted the proceedings twice, the judge threatened to remove him from the courtroom. The lawyer then reportedly said that the judge shouldn't be hearing the case and stormed out.

He was fetched back by bailiffs on Gardiner's orders, found in contempt of court and removed from the case by the judge.

Gardiner then named George Douglas Vaughn, another San Rafael attorney, to represent Talamantes, but it was uncertain whether the prisoner would cooperate with Vaughn.

Talamantes said yesterday, "I don't recognize these proceedings."

Weiss said today that he intended to "expose the kind of justice cons (convicts) get in Marin courts."

He cited a 1969 case, where Judge Gardiner excoriated a jury which found a convict innocent of a knife charge.

A hearing on the contempt matter has been set for Monday, when a new date for Talamantes's trial is also to be set.

Talamantes, who is serving a five-year-to-life sentence for two Los Angeles robberies, is accused of assaulting another prisoner in March 1970.

Research Scheduled On Noise Pollution

FRANKFORT, Ky. (UPI) — An interim legislative committee plans to research legislation on noise pollution created by the expressway and interstate highway system in Kentucky.

State Rep. Bruce Blythe said his home near I-64 was inundated by the noise from trucks down-shifting for a long grade.

Tiburon Seeks New Panelists

Public spirited Tiburon residents who would like to serve on the city's parks and recreation or planning commissions have been asked to contact Asst. City Mgr. Robert L. Kleinert at city hall.

He said two seats on the planning group and four seats on the parks commission will become vacant July 1 and the city plans to fill at least half those seats immediately.

According to Kleinert, Mayor Denis T. Rice has indicated he will wait to fill the remaining posts until the Strawberry annexation election in September. If the election is successful, according to the assistant city manager, the mayor hopes to appoint persons from the newly-annexed areas to serve on the commissions.

Today is Friday, June 18, the 169th day of 1971.

The moon is between its last quarter and new phase. The morning stars are Mercury, Venus, Mars and Saturn. The evening star is Jupiter.

Those born on this day are under the sign of Gemini.

American artist James Montgomery Flagg was born June 18, 1877.

On this day in history:

In 1812 the United States declared war on Britain for the second time in its brief history.

In 1935 Adolf Hitler signed a treaty with Britain, promising not to expand the German navy beyond 35 per cent of the strength of the English navy.

A thought for today: French writer Sebastien Chamfort said, "The most wasted day of all is that on which we have not laughed."

Door Slamming Proves Costly

An 18-year-old San Anselmo youth, apparently upset with a $50 fine he was ordered to pay Wednesday in West Marin Justice Court, slammed the door as he left court and ended up in Marin County Jail for two days.

Werner P. Schmidt of 59 Austin Avenue was fined after pleading guilty to using threatening and abusive language to state rangers June 6 at Samuel Taylor Park.

Judge David R. Baty added two days in jail for contempt of court when Schmidt slammed the door as he was leaving.

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Instead Of Just Grumbling, Give Some Thought To Hand

Some players think that they can ask for a new deal if they get a hand like West's in today's diagram. They're right: they can ask for the new deal. But the opponents don't have to give them anything but a hoarse laugh. In real life, West would wind up with a healthy minus score on such a hand. Today, we see that West can make a profit if he thinks instead of just groaning about his terrible luck.

WEST TOO BUSY

When the hand was actually played, West was too busy grumbling to do any thinking. West opened the seven of spades, and South squeaked through.

Declarer won the first trick with the king of spades and led the nine of hearts for a finesse, losing to the king. East returned the queen of clubs, hoping South would misplace the king in West's hand.

South took the ace of clubs, ran his spades and hearts, and then led the queen of diamonds. East could take the ace of diamonds, but he couldn't continue the attack on clubs. Game and rubber for South.

BETTER CHOICE

West chose the wrong black seven as his opening lead. He should have known that neither opponent had a really good hand, which meant that they held only about 26 or 27 points together. Since there are 40 high-card points in the deck, East was sure to have about 13 or 14 points.

If East had a decent spade suit, he would surely bid or double at his first turn. East's failure to act suggested that his length was in the minor suits. West should therefore open a club, hoping to strike his partner's length.

FINESSE TRY

South would win an early club trick and would try the heart finesse. East would then be in position to defeat the contract with one heart, one diamond and three clubs.

DAILY QUESTION

As dealer, you hold:
♠ 10 4 3
♦ A J 6
♣ K Q 10 8.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid one club.

With only 13 points you have a borderline opening bid, but the high-card structure is excellent; you have two tens, and you will have no trouble with a rebid if partner responds in a new suit.

Vow To Name More Women

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Sen. George S. McGovern, D-S.D., said yesterday if elected president he will fill the first vacancy on the Supreme Court with a woman.

McGovern the only announced candidate, said he also would name a woman as U.S. ambassador to the United Nations and appoint several women to the Cabinet.

Addressing the Women's National Democratic Club, McGovern said "one of the first priorities I would set is the business of getting many more women into the top levels of government."

Yachtsmen Protest At Hearings

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A California yachtsmen's representative today protested the high federal standards of sewage treatment in the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency's proposed regulation on marine sanitation.

The first witness at a 12-hour public hearing was William Hynes of San Francisco, representing Boats, Inc., a statewide organization.

Hynes told the three-man hearing board that the regulations are unfair, unnecessary and impractical. The standards far exceed the capability of most shore-based devices, he said.

Hynes said his organization felt the regulations discriminated between types and sizes of vessels and that it was unfair to require holding tanks and pump-out facilities for pleasure boats as proposed.

If pleasure boats contribute only 48 one-thousands of 1 per cent of pollution, as was estimated in Lake Erie, he said, they should be allowed to meet a lesser standard.

Hynes said the "chlorinator-macerator" sewage treatment device which can be carried aboard pleasure boats, would receive the approval of his group.

The federal agency scheduled today's hearing to run until 9 p.m.

Similar meetings will also be held in New York, Chicago and Miami.

Party Or Business? Affair Is A Mystery

A private party for public officials reminiscent of one held in April in Fairfax will be held tomorrow for Larkspur city officials at the home of a local developer.

Cocktails will be served at 4 p.m. with a buffet to follow. Besides that, little else is known about the agenda of the social gathering at the home of Alice B. Vincilione, executriz of the large Tiscornia Estate, which is involved in civic controversy over the blocking of Baltimore Canyon.

Invitations to the party were sent last week to members of the city council, planning commission, library board, parks and recreation commission and several city employees.

Those city officials contacted by the Independent-Journal said they were in the dark as to the reason for the party but several ventured that Mrs. Vincilione was giving a tour of the old Escalle Winery — now under renovation.

On April 30, several Fairfax city department heads, two city councilmen and three planning commissioners attended a controversial cocktail party hosted by a major land developer who hopes to build on the Marin Town and Country Club property in that city.

Which Larkspur city officials plan to attend tomorrow's dinner party was uncertain today. Only one of three city councilmen contacted said he was going.

"I think it's a birthday party," said Councilman Neil R. Brixon adding that his wife had returned the invitation saying they would attend.

Robert H. Lee, the only planning commissioner contacted, said he also planned to attend.

He said he did not think the development of Tiscornia Estate property (half of all undeveloped land in Larkspur) would be discussed.

"If I felt I was going to be compromised, I wouldn't go," he declared. "I'm going because I've always been interested in seeing what the Vincilione place is like."

Claim Reagan Will Try Again With Welfare

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —A California labor organization claims Gov. Ronald Reagan is "secretly considering" an attempt to put his welfare reform program on the June 1972 primary election ballot.

The statement was made Thursday by the California State Council of Service Employes, AFL-CIO.

"It is predictable that a filing with the attorney general for the initiative may be made sometime in late August or September," the statement said.

A press spokesman in Reagan's office declined to comment on the report on grounds that to do so "would indicate that we had given up in our efforts to achieve passage of true welfare reform in the legislature."

The governor's main welfare reform bill has been killed by a Senate committee, but other changes require only amending administrative regulations.

Highspeed Police Chase Ends In Two-Car Mishap

A highspeed chase, involving a San Rafael policeman and a carload of suspected shoplifters, resulted in a two-car accident that sent six persons to Marin General Hospital, yesterday.

According to the California Highway Patrol and San Rafael police, a car driven by Kenneth Jefferson, 20, of North Richmond, was being pursued by a motorcycle policeman when it collided with a vehicle driven by Renee Weitz, 37, of 18 Corte Ramon, Greenbrae near the top of Wolfe Grade.

Riding in Jefferson's car were four young persons from Richmond, Louella Lizzatt Scott, 14; Judy Scott, 19; Lunessa Laruth Scott, 16; John Reed, 23, and Janice Wallace, 18, of 1836 Fifth Avenue, San Rafael.

According to police, Jefferson and his companions had been seen by an employee at Macy's in San Rafael and reported to the police as shoplifters.

Police said they were seen carrying various pieces of merchandise, for which they had not paid, from the store. A saleslady remembered the make and license number of their vehicle.

Police saw the vehicle eastbound on 4th Street and began the chase which culminated in the accident.

The six members of the Jefferson party were taken to Marin General and treated for injuries ranging from minor cuts to a broken leg.

Judy and Lunessa Scott have been transferred to Martinez Community Hospital, Contra Costa County. Jefferson, treated for injuries to his back and neck is to be released from Marin General today. Miss Wallace is in good condition at Marin General.

According to police, Jefferson will be charged with reckless driving, causing injury, failure to yield to a red light and a siren; going the wrong way on a one-way street and speeding.

Trading Stamp Option Killed

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —A bill to give consumers the option of taking trading stamps or cash with their purchases was killed Thursday by the Senate Business and Professions Committee.

Sen. Anthony C. Beilenson, D-Beverly Hills, author of the measure, called stamps "parasitic" and said they only add to the cost of merchandise. He noted his bill still permitted an option.

Police Hunt For Slaying Figure

YUBA CITY, Calif. (UPI) — A material witness in the Yuba City mass murders ws sought by Sutter County authorities today for failing to honor a subpoena to appear at a preliminary hearing for suspect Juan Corona.

An all points bulletin was issued Thursday for Juan C. Mosqueda, 50. He failed to show up at the hearing Wednesday for Corona, who is charged with 10 counts of murder in the killing of 25 itinerant farm workers.

DINING OUT AND INNS

By HARRY CRAFT

New Family-Style Mexican Restaurant For San Rafael

Barring unforeseen circumstances, it appears now that there definitely will be a new restaurant at 1 Vivian Way, San Rafael (former location of Taberna) about the middle of next month.

It will be called Celia No. 5, a family-type place serving Mexican and American food. Owners Celia and Perfecto Lopez have their other four Mexican restaurants at 4019 Judah Street and 5723 Geary Boulevard in San Francisco and in San Mateo and Palo Alto. They have been in business many years and I am told they enjoy a good reputation in San Francisco and on the peninsula. They also are large property owners in Mexico.

They have applied for the Taberna on sale general liquor license, so will retain the bar there. But the entire place is to be redecorated Mexican sylte. Menu will feature all the popular Mexican dishes — at popular prices.

The lease transaction was handled jointly by Harry Abras of Don Timmer Realty in San Rafael, who had the listing, and Tivon Realty in San Francisco, who had the prospect.

LIKE GOOD SINGING?

But now there's a steady one here booked for Sunday and Monday nights (the first that I can remember). She is Toni Cameron, now a Marin resident, who can be described without any strain as a doll. Formerly a professional singer in Southern California, who took time out to raise a family, she is back again limbering up her vocal chords most pleasingly, using a mike and moving from table to table in the lounge starting at 8 p.m. She brings in her own accompanist.

NOT EVERY ORGANIST can necessarily play a pipe organ. But you'll find three who can at the new Marin Pizza Pub at 526 Third Street, San Rafael. Look for Larry Vannucci there on Thursday and Friday nights, Warren Lubich on Saturdays and Sundays and Bill McCoy Mondays through Wednesdays.

This is a Robert Morton instrument, an original theater pipe organ built in 1926 to accompany silent movies, so it has all the special sound effects of those days. Coincidentally, Larry Vannucci says he played it years ago in the Burlingame Theater.

It took many manhours and technique to install it at the Pizza Pub. Jack Strauss of McPhail's, who supervised the air conditioning installation there, was so fascinated watching the procedure that he almost hooked up his own system with the organ blower.

Make it a point to drop in some evening and listen — and sip beer and eat pizza.

MCKEE'S in San Rafael, which has had its dining room closed on Mondays, now has it open from 5 to 9 p.m. Monday night special is a spaghetti dinner, including salad, French bread and wine at $1.50.

Other daily specials during the week at $1.95 are stuffed pork chops on Tuesday, short ribs on Wednesday, corned beef and cabbage on Thursday, stuffed filet of sole on Friday and roast beef on Saturday.

The dining room here has been glassed in to cut down the overtones from the adjoining bar. And Jim McKee reports that the air conditioning hasn't gone out with the coming of warm weather.

HECTOR RUBINI seems convinced that San Rafael Joe's will indeed be open again by the first of July. I dunno — it seems to me there's still a lot of work to be done, but then I always did look at jobs like this from the standpoint of my own slowness in getting them finished.

THE SONOMA COUNTRY WINE GROWERS ASSOCIATION has published a new brochure listing 16 wineries in their area as far north as Parducci Wine Cellars near Ukiah in Mendocino County.

A new listing in the borchure is the old Simi Winery in the northernly outskirts of Healdsburg which has a new owner and is being restored and improved. A new tasting room is being completed this month.

For a day's trip it's not a bad idea to select several wineries — all in one area. For example, it you take in Simi, make it a point to visit Cambiaso, also in Healdsburg, Foppiano, two miles south of there — and of course the new Windsor Winery between Santa Rosa and Healdsburg.

The northernmost group would consist of Nervo, Geyser Peak and Pedroncelli at Geyserville, Italian Swiss Colony at Asti and Parducci at Ukiah.

A valley of the Moon tour could take in Sebastiani, Buena Vista, Hanzell, Valley of the Moon Winery and Pagani. But since not all of these give tours, you might find time either to cross over the 101 Highway and include Martini and Prati west of Santa Rosa and Korbel at Guerneville — or make a separate trip for the last two.

Send for the brochure first, as visiting hours are not the same at each place.

THERE'S STILL SNOW in the mountains around McCloud River Inn in Siskiyou County, but Nick Kobseff reports fishing will be good in about two weeks. And he and Mary are looking for some of the Marin fishermen who go up that way to look in on them at the inn.

IF I HAVEN'T already mentioned it, Cazanoma Lodge in Cazadero is now on its summer schedule and open for dinners Tuesdays through Sundays. Closed Mondays.

A RESTAURATEUR you should know: Leon Chevalley at Tiburon Tommie's for more than eight years as maitre d'.

Leon, must now be in his 70s, was born in Switzerland and became a motion picture comedian and character actor in the early days of the silent movies. He is a quiet little man, scholarly and something of a philosopher.

Meet him, talk to him — and you'll like him.

THE LION'S SHARE in San Anselmo has the Denny Zietland Trio for entertainment tonight tomorrow night and Sunday. Kris Kristofferson will be featured next Thursday through Sunday.

Vets May Apply For New Loans

Veterans of World War II and the Korean Conflict who financed their homes with Veterans Administration guaranteed loans are now eligible for additional home loan benefits, the administration has announced.

The estimated seven million veterans who financed before May 1968 have accrued about $37.5 billion in unused home loan benefits, according to E. W. Christensen, director of the Northern California Regional office of the Veterans Administration.

Big Brother Issue Gets An Airing

San Anselmo City Council last night sliced $4,264 from the proposed $342,596 police department budget, but left $40 for a one-way window for the police office despite one councilman's strong objections.

Councilman Lewis Stewart called installation of the window "the first step toward an ultimate armed fortress in what used to be a friendly police station."

"People already are disturbed by reports of wire tapping and eavesdropping and the whole 'Big Brother is Watching You' attitude," Stewart told the council.

The window would allow police in the office to see outside to the entrance to city hall on San Anselmo Avenue.

Although the rest of the council opposed Stewart's suggestion to cut the item from the budget, Councilman James F. Reed was the most vocal.

"We're not talking about machine guns and spotlights on the roof or I'd back away too," Reed said. "There's no one else in town that can make a determination about the amount of security necessary here."

Reed, supported by Police Chief Raymond Buchignani, explained that a police woman is often alone in the office throughout the night while officers are on patrol.

"If she has a few extra seconds to pick up her radio and call for help —should some malcontent walk in — it may save her life," Reed declared.

He added that he would add a television monitor to every entrance of the building if it were possible.

Councilmen appeared to be in agreement that recent fire bombings of police stations in other parts of the state were causes for additional precautions.

"I'm almost positive that within a year, you'll have to have a police officer sitting at that desk all night," Councilman Woodrow Capurro said.

Another councilman, Warren R. Perry, said, "I don't think it's being paranoid to be worried about it. I do feel concern for the girl who has to be here alone."

Following the discussion which indicated Stewart was clearly alone in his thinking, he declined to make any motion to cut the item from the budget.

Budget cuts were made in four sections of the proposed $342,596 police budget.

Salaries for temporary employees were decreased by $2,000 for a total $15,055; $500 was deleted from the automotive service account for tires and repairs, leaving $3,000 budgeted; $200 was cut from motorcycle maintenance for a total of $600 and two items were cut from machinery and equipment.

Councilmen, after considerable discussion with the police chief, eliminated an $829 request for a radio for the motorcycle and $735, the city's share for a closed circuit television operation. (Depending on pending legislation, the state would have assumed 60 per cent of the cost.)

In approving the total budget of $338,553, the council agreed to retain several new items, including a two-week course in executive development for law enforcement administrators, $590; (to be reimbursed by the state); new filing cabinets, $377; new radio equipment, $1,789; chemicals and equipment to analyze marijuana, $250; and three special measuring devices, $63.

Another $4,515 was cut from the administrative budget for special microfilm equipment intended for the police department.

City Administrator-Controller Alfred C. Kaeppel suggested the equipment be eliminated this year to allow the chief and his department sufficient time to study use of microfilm in other departments.

Buchignani did not protest the cut.

The council also reviewed the library budget proposal of $73,723 and cut $1,690, representing the cost of relocating the office, $1,500, and a chair and file cabinet, $190.

Approved was a total library budget of $72,033 which includes an additional full-time librarian at a salary of $4,830.

The council voted 3-2 to include the new librarian. Opposing were Councilmen Perry and Capurro.

And, even though the chair was cut from the budget, the council approved $175 for a new desk for head librarian Lucy Palo.

Both the librarian and Louis Yates, chairman of the library board, attended the council's two-and-a-half hour session to answer questions.

Maloney Reports Legislation Proposed To Defray Trial Cost

Legislation being drafted in Sacramento is expected to help Marin County recover part or all of the heavy costs of the trial of Angela Davis and Ruchell Magee, County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney reported yesterday. (Another story on the trial, page 1)

But Marin County should retain in its 1971-72 budget the half-million dollars it had earmarked for the trial expenses, Maloney advised.

In a written report to the board of supervisors, Maloney said his talks in Sacramento Wednesday and yesterday also led him to recommend delaying any lawsuit against the state to recover the costs. Bills prepared by Marin's Assemblyman William T. Bagley and Sen. Peter H. Behr should first be allowed to test their fortunes in the legislature, the county counsel suggested.

The supervisors ordered a three-pronged attack on the cost issue Wednesday, calling for legislation, lawsuit and amendment of the indictment against the two accused after the bloody Aug. 7 shoot-out.

Maloney's trip to Sacramento was in reaction to a ruling from California Atty. Gen. Evelle J. Younger that Section 4700 of the California Penal Code did not apply to the Davis-Magee trial. The section requires the state Department of Corrections to pay for trials involving crime committed within state prisons or escapes.

Maloney reported yesterday that he had worked with Younger's staff and Bagley and Behr aides to draft amendments needed to make Section 4700 apply to Marin's problem.

The amendments will be attached to Bagley's Assembly Bill 644. That bill originally was intended to require state payment for living expenses of parolees, but became "stuck in committee because of substantial opposition by the Department of Corrections," Maloney wrote.

Presumably because the attorney general's office will back the legislation pertaining to the Davis-Magee trial, AB644 will be able to clear the committee. Bagley expected to gain initial hearing on the assembly floor within two weeks, Maloney reported.

"If the bill passes the Assembly, Behr and Sen. Milton Marks (R-San Francisco) will insure that it is expedited on the Senate side," Maloney said.

Bagley also will meet with the state Department of Finance and other officials to seek inclusion of the trial's costs in the state budget.

Two other bills have been introduced in the senate and one in the assembly that might be helpful if AB644 is roadlocked, Maloney said. All three would require the state to share costs of homicide trials.

Maloney urged against suing the state over the Marin trial because it would put the attorney general in the position of being unable to support Marin's legislation at hearings.

Passage of the bill "will not be an easy matter" because of its local nature, Maloney predicted. But, he said, Bagley and Behr have made the cost recovery legislation Marin's primary goal for this session of the legislature.

Meanwhile, Younger's chief aides have "assured us that they will provide full and complete cooperation and assistance" in seeking the legislation, Maloney reported.

Although Marin's budget probably will be adopted before any bill could become law, the supervisors should be able to trim about eight cents from the final, official tax rate if the county wins its campaign in Sacramento for both the law and the state funds, Maloney explained.

Radar Out On Marine Jet At Time Of Crash

DUARTE, Calif. (UPI)—The Marine jet fighter that collided with an Air West DC9 June 6 killing 50 persons was operating with a useless radar transponder, a federal investigator reported Thursday.

George R. Baker, chief investigator for the National Transportation Safety Board, said the F4 Phantom was equipped with a transponder, which is designed to enhance detection on air controllers' radar scopes. He said it was inoperable.

Baker said the condition of the transponder was disclosed by Lt. Christopher Schiess, radar officer aboard the military craft and sole survivor of the crash.,

Baker said there was no apparent violation of civil air regulations, noting that it was not required that transponders be used.

Anniversary For Nixons Monday

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President Nixon has a double celebration coming up—Father's Day on Sunday and his 31st wedding anniversary on Monday.

But the Nixons, still tired from the hectic social activities surrounding the wedding of their daughter Tricia to Edward Finch Cox, would just as soon skip any more festivities.

"Don't talk about any more parties," said First Lady Pat Nixon Wednesday.

Mrs. Nixon kept the secret when asked by reporters Wednesday where the honeymooners were hiding out. But she ruled out Camp David.

TODAY'S EDITORIAL

State Attempts To Shirk Responsibility

The state Attorney General's "informal" opinion that the state is not liable for the cost of the Angela Davis-Ruchell Magee trial came as a shocker.

It is true that Atty. Gen. Evelle J. Younger leaves the door open for possible "legislative clarification" or a court interpretation, which might result in some cost-sharing between the State and Marin County.

Even with these reservations expressed by the attorney general, his ruling that the Department of Corrections is not liable for any of the trial costs was completely unexpected.

The attempted escape and shoot out of last Aug. 7 occurred because San Quentin prisoners were on trial in the Marin Hall of Justice.

IF THE PRISON had not been located in Marin, the trial would not have taken place in Marin, and the entire tragic episode would not have occurred, or would have erupted in another county.

Section 4700 of the state Penal Code provides for state reimbursement of the cost of a trial stemming from an escape or attempted escape from a state prison.

Taking the lawyer's prerogative, the attorney general interprets the Penal Code section literally and argues that the main charges in the Davis-Magee case are kidnapping, murder and conspiracy, not escape or attempted escape.

SINCE THE PENAL code provides reimbursement in the case of escape or attempted escape, the Marin case does not qualify, under the attorney general's literal interpretation.

Meanwhile, back in Marin County, where taxpayers face the biggest tax rate jump in its history, legal technicalities offer little solace. The taxpayers about to be hit by an additional tax of 10 to 20 cents because of the Davis-Magee trial and attendant costs such as higher insurance cost and the need for added security.

TO THE MARIN layman not versed in the technicalities or the loopholes in the law, the question of state responsibility is clear-cut. We had counted on the state's acknowledging responsibility, at least for part of the cost. At worst, we expected some haggling over the apportioning of those costs.

If, however, the attorney general's opinion is to prevail, and the state fails to acknowledge its responsibility, Marin has no recourse but to ask in all seriousness: Take the prison out of our county, and let some larger county with a big industrial tax base bail out the state. A small bedroom community like Marin cannot afford to.

Olive Blossoms

Many of Marin's olive trees are blooming now. The flowers are so small that they might go unnoticed by a casual passer-by. Likewise, their fragrance is pleasant, but very subtle and unobtrusive.

The tiny, cream-colored blossoms and their pollen are very evident to anyone who parks a dark-colored car under a blooming olive overnight.

Olive blossoms are a non-showy, but very pleasant manifestation of spring in Marin.

Lick Welfare Abuse Now Or It Will Wipe Us Out

By GEORGE TODT

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — There are many pressing problems facing California and the nation today, and among the most critical ones is reform of welfare abuses that take from the needy and give to the greedy.

It is a hard task to attack entrenched bureaucracies as a columnist, and some editors won't even let you try. That happened to me last year when I was in the vanguard of those speaking out for welfare reform. One written about a high-salaried school teacher who applied for welfare didn't even see the light of day.

Today, my editors around the State of California are made of sterner stuff than the gentleman who flagged me out — so let's try again. Welfare abuse must be reformed now. We can lick it or it will lick us in the end. Just that simple!

THE FIRST GREAT haymaker blow which landed solidly was Governor Ronald Reagan's brilliant address on the subject early in March this year. Somehow, the loyal opposition was so horrified at hearing a message on welfare reform that he was denied use of the legislative halls of Sacramento to make his speech.

So the resourceful Reagan availed himself of Town Hall in Los Angeles, where he spoke to an overflow audience of top leaders from all strata of business, labor, industry and the press.

HE RECEIVED tremendous ovations from the representative California audience although I noticed liberal members of the media made caustic attacks on his program before he delivered his address.

On that occasion, I asked the Governor a question after he had concluded his outstanding appeal to reason and common sense:

"Governor Reagan, the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints (Mormon) has had an effective, voluntary welfare program going on for more than 30 years. It has been their exemplary boast that none of their members has been on the public assistance rolls. Are you familiar with that program and , if so, would you comment on it, please?"

THE GOVERNOR REPLIED that he was indeed familiar with the Mormon plan and it was apparent he held it in high respect. He philosophized a bit and indicated that yomewhere along the line our national government ought to have taken the welfare program to the American people for solution along the lines that the Mormons had done so successfully.

However, being a realist, Reagan observed that it is too late now to look to voluntary programs to accomplish the needed goals today.

"But my proposed program," he told the Town Hall audience in response to my question, "will come as close as possible now to taking it to the people for a worthwhile solution."

WHEN ASKED HOW the public might best support him in accomplishing his needed welfare abuse reform program, the Governor said simply:

He pointed out that it could be expected that vested interests in welfare bureaucracy and their propagandists would do their level best to bring undue pressure on the California legislature in the future.

He said the only real chance he had to achieve his goal was through the power of an aroused California public that believed primarily in good government — and would work hard to obtain it.

The mills of the gods grind slowly, but they grind exceedingly fine. The grass roots are being heard from in the Golden State. A new group called California Committee for the Governor's Welfare Program has been formed under the chairmanship of Hon. Al McCandless, the much-respected chairman of the Riverside County Board of Supervisors. This action is commendable and worth looking into in the future.

How About Keeping Courthouse 'Park'

As I pass the old Courthouse often I always enjoy to watch the little "park" in front with people resting there — the only beautispot left of old San Rafael — but now of course the oldest part must go. But how about keeping the "park" with the boy untouched, make a parking area between that and the newer addition?

It seems there is a great need for convention halls as the Civic Center is spoken for a year ahead! San Rafael has a lot of good stores, does not need more competition; but more people to shop in them. And if a hall and senior citizens recreation was right in the middle, there should be a lot more people coming. Could the City of San Rafael not make some money that way — enough to keep the old town as is?

Give Pensioners Full Tax Exemption

With a great deal of pleasant surprise, your editorials of June 10 and June 12 leave me with renewed hope for the long ignored tax paying, small home owner.

There are a substantial number of tax paying small home owners, who at tax paying time give up a large share of their small incomes, to support Governor Reagan and other politicians in the manner to which they have become accustomed. Thousands of these people are pensioners, who with their limited incomes are trying desperately to save their small homes. Should they fail, more bureaucracy, more welfare, more low cost housing for the needy, and more taxes for the dwindling number of tax payers who are unfortunate in their search for a tax loophole.

A full tax exemption for pensioners would have some interesting results. School bond issues might just pass. Pensioners votes are numerous enough to defeat these bonds, and most pensioners feel they have already paid more than their fair share. Some childless couples on pensions are still putting other people's children through school! A little sensible legislation might work wonders?

Camper Ordinance 'Not Enforceable'

On Monday night the San Rafael City Council will adopt ordinance 1019 limiting parking of recreation vehicles on private property.

This is my comment on an unenforceable ordinance.

1. One unit per dwelling? How about the family who has a small camper truck to tow his larger recreation vehicle? Does this ordinance stop him from parking both units in his driveway?

2. Three successive night's use in 90 days. Are the police to check every unit at night to see if it is occupied? Or is the ordinance to be used selectly against certain people or vehicles?

3. The five feet from property line or closer than 10 feet to any building. This is not very realistic in view of driveway and/or house placement on most lots in San Rafael.

4. The sanitary and cooking facilities not be used. Who is going to check to see if they are being used, and at what time of day or night?

5. It also states that the vehicle be in rear of the dwelling. This is impossible in many cases as there is not clearance to get the vehicle to the rear because of roof overhang or trees.

6. Does any member of the council own or use any type of recreation vehicle?

7. Does this ordinance prohibit the children from pitching a tent in the back yard and sleeping there?

Clamp Down On Needless Spending

I don't believe I could argue with Dr. Blinder (except endlessly) the merits or demerits of certain federal or state or local taxes, one against the other. (Let's instead be grateful a tax has not yet been imposed in San Anselmo on the second or third "biffy" in the house as was proposed for Mill Valley some time ago!) It is necessary to find less innovative ways to spend — not more innovative ways to tax!

The attention of taxpayers should come to clear focus at budget time. The tax is not primarily at fault — it is the philosophy that the "people" are demanding service and the consequent spending for items totally irrelevant to basic government protection.

The San Anselmo city budget sessions have been set for June 14, 15, 17, 23 and 24. These sessions are the spending times for the whole year to follow. The local tax rate will be determined in August, based on the agreed upon spending which five councilmen will be deciding these summer evenings.

I look forward to having Dr. Blinder and others join me at budget sessions in City Council chambers. It would be a pity to have the budget sessions be the lonely (almost without any audience) hearings they were last year!

Don't Allow Dumping Of Raw Sewage

As a result of the recent Richardson Bay confrontation over county enforcement of the sanitary and building codes for houseboats, the Board of Supervisors will consider a request for a one-year extension of the present unofficial enforcement moratorium.

I would like to point out to the Board and the many friends of the oppressed marine dwellers that a large portion of southern Marin County bordering Richardson Bay is now facing a cease and desist order by the Regional Water Quality Control Board. The new RWQCB discharge regulations for Richardson Bay include very low nutrient levels which are meant to control the undesirable growth of algae and aquatic plants. During the past week we have seen a spectacular algae bloom in the immediate vicinity of the houseboats. The algae bloom is not apparent in either of the outfall areas of the two sewage plants on Richardson Bay. As I recall the same condition occurred last summer.

Clearly the houseboaters are not different — sanitary-wise, and probably are a major factor in pollution of Richardson Bay. Since the Mill Valley and the Richardson Bay sanitary districts are attempting to comply promptly with the new RWQCB discharge regulations, it seems only reasonable that the county not grant the houseboat dwellers another year of dumping their raw sewage.

Viet Withdrawal Hinges On Release of War Prisoners

1—The most authoritative spokesman of the Democratic Party, National Chairman Lawrence O'Brien, is openly praising President Nixon for getting out of Vietnam.

2—He believes that withdrawal will be so complete by next year that Vietnam will not be an issue in the election — and he says the Democratic Party wants it that way.

3—Hanoi's latest refusal to give any firm assurance that American POWs will be released even if the United States gives a date certain for total withdrawal is tending to bring the Democratic Party as a whole nearer to the president's position. This will become more evident in the next few weeks.

THE FULL IMPACT of what is happening is just beginning to be visible because so far the Democrats have been centering nearly all their attention on what the effect would be if Hanoi grapsed the Clark Clifford proposal and told Nixon he could have all the prisoners within 30 days after the date for withdrawal has been settled.

That would enable the Democrats to get large credit for a highly popular agreement which would bring the end of the war nearer.

But — and this is the nub of the newly developing situation —what if Hanoi refuses the Clifford proposal as now seems most likely? Where will that leave its many Democratic advocates?

LOOK AT IT this way. If the responsible Democratic leaders — the Cliffords, the Muskies, the Humphreys and others — say we should totally withdraw with a publicly fixed date in order to get Hanoi to release the POWs, then they would logically, by their own line of argument, have to oppose withdrawing totally as long as Hanoi refused to release the prisoners.

Surely the sponsors of the Clifford approach must realize that there would be no incentive whatsoever for Hanoi to release the prisoners, if the Communists could count on the Democrats to continue to press for total withdrawal after Hanoi has rejected the POW release.

I put this crucial point to Chairman O'Brien the other day, and he frankly said that if the Clifford plan is spurned by Hanoi, then it would be up to the president to decide what to do next —and he added significantly: "I think we would support the president."

THE THING THAT makes all this politically important is that all the evidence is that Hanoi will continue to refuse to make any firm commitment about prisoners even if we offer a fixed public date for withdrawal.

In an interview, the top North Vietnamese representative at the Paris talks, Xuan Thuy, said that, after a satisfactory date is set for withdrawal, the prisoner issue "will be settled," not "may be settled."

But the next day he took it back. He would only say that naming a withdrawal date" would lead" to "discussions" of the prisoner release.

It should not be overlooked that in the fall of 1968 Hanoi told President Johnson that stopping the bombing of the North "would lead" to "discussions" for ending the war. They're still going on — and so is the war.

WHY DOES HANOI refuse to promise more than "discussions" of the prisoner issue if the date for withdrawal is announced? The answer is clear to those familiar with Communist negotiating tactics. Hanoi does not propose to exchange prisoners for withdrawal. It wants something more —like getting the United States to overthrow the Thieu government on the way out of Vietnam.

So it comes down to this. If Hanoi refuses to bring about the absence of U. S. troops in Vietnam by refusing to release the POWs, can the responsible Democrats do other than stand with the president for the presence of U.S. troops in Vietnam until they are released?

GOP May Be Hurt By Hike In Income Taxes

By ERNEST B. FURGURSON

Roughly 22 million Americans will be hit with additional tax bills next April, atop what is being withheld from their regular paychecks — unless they have paid attention to a nearly frantic Internal Revenue Service (IRS) campaign aimed at warning them to juggle their exemptions now in order to lessen the impact next spring.

What makes not only the IRS but also the White House and the Republic National Committee quiver is that the victims of this tax withholding shortfall who will have to pay up in April are in the traditional middle and upper-middle-class hardcore of GOP strength. And although the fault cannot be traced to any Administration-sponsored tax increase, the psychological effect on that vital 20 million will be as if a sharp and unexpected boost had been passed — and in a presidential election year.

IT IS NOT the sort of thing two politicians like Mr. Nixon and John Connally would do intentionally.

Nevertheless, the people affected are mostly professionals, salaried or making good wages — educated citizens likely to know quite well that it remains possible for some millionaires to get by without paying any federal income taxes at all, and who have read about the Administration's controversial "gift" of nearly $3 billion in liberalized depreciation allowances to business, retroactive to the first of this year.

A BETTER INFORMED few among them also may realize that the problem they face relates in part to changes in the tax laws intended to benefit those at the very bottom of the economic ladder. So there they are, 20 million of them, bracketed between the loophole-happy rich and the corporations on one side and the poor who are getting an overdue break on the other. It is not going to make the victims generous toward the Administration.

What happened, for one thing, is that the 1971 withholding tables carry the standard deduction of 13 per cent beyond the legal $1,500 cut-off point, and thus will require extra payments by many on the day of reckoning. This detail and many others in the changed laws could be covered fully only if the current tables were expanded to deal with every conceivable tax eventuality, according to the IRS — and that would mean an annual table that would fill a whole bookshelf. The slip-up at hand accompanies the IRS effort to keep the tables as compact as possible, since most major employers use data processing machinery that cannot handle an endless assortment of legal and mathematical possibilities.

THE GROUPS THAT will be hit are these:

1—Those with salaries of $11,500 or more who either take the maximum standard deduction of $1,500 of itemized deductions which total less than 13 per cent.

2—Single persons making $15,000 or more.

3—Married persons making $25,000 or more.

4—All working couples.

When the IRS realized the potential in this situation back in March, it began cautioning companies to advise their employees of it, for if employees take the trouble to change their exemptions, they still might prevent or soften the coming blow.

They can ask their employers to cut their exemptions back to zero, so more will be withheld on each check and an extra bill will be less likely. They can make an estimate of their probable total tax due next April, and if something less drastic than cutting exemptions to zero will suffice, they can try that. They also can authorize withholding even beyond the zero exemption rate. But it is certain that those who make no such adjustments in advance are going to wish they had when April comes.

KNOWING THIS, IRS not only sent its cautionary note to companies, but put out public warnings in April. Press conferences and formal statements from the IRS brass have followed. But they have been largely ineffective.

Thus IRS now is considering scheduling broadcast spots to force the message home. That is the way politicians make a point, and IRS is becoming uncomfortably aware that the politicians now in power, already acknowledging the economy as the softest spot in their ambitions to stay there, have an urgent interest in preventing any taxpayer revolt in the election year of 1972.

Adults Muff Opportunity To Close Generation Gap

The over-30 crowd left their hearing aids at home last week and missed a big chance to jump right over the generation gap.

Shyly — and without much finesse — students brought a proposal for an experimental school at Terra Linda and San Rafael high schools before the San Rafael Board of Education.

Granted, the program was a little vague in areas and more work was needed before the board could consider it.

But it was totally disheartening to see what almost 200 parents, teachers, citizens and board members alike did with the idea once it was explained.

THEY POUNCED on it. They didn't just nibble at it, they took a big bite. Rolled it around on their tongues awhile and decided, yes, it WAS a great idea. Why hadn't they thought of it?

Nearly everyone who spole — and nearly everyone did — first expressed what a sensational idea it was before adding their suggestions on how to improve it.

The crowd became quite caught up in the spirit of the program, but, unfortunately, missed the concept behind it.

When they took hold of the idea, the thoughts and ideas of the students — who, after all, had enough on the ball to dream up the plan in the first place — were left far behind.

SO MUCH TIME was spent listening to what the over-30's wanted to see done with the experimental school, there was not enough time to hear what the students wanted.

As the adults debated various points in the plan — often getting tangled in misinterpretations — students were unable to speak. Frustrated, they sat with their arms in the air waiting for a turn that didn't come.

CERTAINLY THE crowd can justify their actions by saying they only wanted to see the program succeed and, with more years of experience on their side, why shouldn't they make suggestions?

They shouldn't make suggestions because kids today want to do things themselves. They want to make their own mistakes and nurture their own ideas.

ONE OF THE very things they are rebelling against is the overpowering urge of their parents and other adults to do things for them.

It may be a better-planned school, but a lot of ground was lost in the struggle between generations.

If more tact had been used — why not drop the same suggestions over breakfast some morning? By the time the student got to school, the idea would have been his — that infamous gap might have closed a little.

Housing Fund Drive Advances By $4,000

A $50,000 fund drive for new projects for the Ecumenical Association for Housing has been kicked off with $4,000 from an anonymous donor.

At the association's meeting Wednesday, Jean H. Lovejoy, president, announced the gift and said the fund will provide a revolving seed money pool to pay project pre-construction costs. A Sept. 1 goal was set to complete the fund through community donations.

The association elected Richard Rosenberg, vice president.

It was announced that Pilgrim Park, the association's first project for low and moderate income housing was fully rented, and 18 of the 61 units are leased to the Marin County Housing Authority for lower income families.

A general contract was awarded to Herrero Bros. Inc., for construction beginning in 1972 of the Martinelli House for the elderly at 1327 Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael.

Francis A. Hayman Jr., of the National Corporation for Housing Projects, said his corporation can work with the association to provide seed money for pre-construction costs.

Ellis Kaplan, architect for the reconstruction of the Hilarita project on the Tiburon peninsula, invited community suggestions before drawing up final plans for the low income family units.

Marinites Named Council Officers

Justice Sims was elected senior vice president and Garety vice president for Marin County in an annual meeting in Oakland of the regional organization which provides health and welfare planning for five Bay Area counties.

COUNTY COMMENT

By WILLIAM D. (BILL) FUSSELMAN

Some Shabby Treatment For Residents Of West Marin

This will not be the column I had planned to write this week. Instead, it seemed that the two front page articles in the Wednesday I-J called for comment. — "West Marin's One Man Court Ordered To Merge" and "Supervisors Act To Preserve Rural Area" were the respective headings.

There was a lot of hoo-mali-mali involved in both actions of the supervisors. I was on the board when the Municipal Courts were established and was one of those who worked to bring them into being. We recognized the reasonableness of the requests of the folks out in Western Marin that they continue to have a justice court so they would not have to travel those many miles to San Rafael, so we voted to have it remain when we drew the boundaries for the Municipal Court District. Dollar-wise it has paid its own way and then some. I also voted for David Baty to be judge when a vacancy occurred.

HERE IS SOME of the hoo-mali-mali — This from the Monday issue: "Baty who favors the consolidation which would bring him a $30,000 a year judgeship, has promised to oppose the West Marin court closure unless the county promises to establish a regular branch 'circuit court' in West Marin, which would sit there at least once a week. This weekend, Baty told the Independent-Journal he will refuse the judgeship if the branch is not set up in West Marin."

Now more of the hoo-mali-mali: Tuesday, The Board of Supervisors heeded West Marin resident's pleas that Baty continue to sit regularly in Point Reyes Station. . ."Just who are they kidding? This board can not bind any future board, even if that board of supervisors had anything to say about it when the new court is established.

WE PROMISED, in those long years ago, that the same thing would happen in Novato. Do you see any Municipal Courts out there? I ask you?. . .

Yup, some more h-m-m in the Wednesday story. "Although he had sought abolition of the coastal court in prior years, county Administrator Alan Bruce had no role in the merger, board members said." Maybe you can figure that one out. I can't. From the Monday story: "The question of finance which County Administrator Alan Bruce lists as his chief reason for supporting the closure — (He) believes that money used to operate the West Marin court should be channeled into the new Municipal Court, which will cost approximately $180,000 a year to operate." Then in the same article: "Bruce contends the trips from West Marin to San Rafael are 'really not that far' ".

A SHABBY WAY to treat the folks out on the coast and no mistake. The zoning action which the majority members pushed through respecting property out there (disregarding the planning staff recommendation) was equally unfair. The pendulum swings but always comes back, then comes the time for the extremists to duck. Bouquets to supervisors Baar and McInnis for voting against both of these manoeuvres.

Monday will be Billie's birthday. Please think of her a little.

Tomales Roadwork Bid Opening Set

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — The Division of Highway will open bids next Wednesday for slope improvements along a mile-long stretch of Route 1, south of Marshall on Tomales Bay.

This section of highway is very close to the water, which breaks along the road embankment and tends to erode it, especially in stormy weather.

Construction of the protective improvement is expected to cost approximately $150,000. Work on this storm damage project is tentatively planned to start in mid-July and to be completed during October.

MAYBE A LITTLE eyebrow pencil? Ross Hospital Volunteer Mrs. Robert E. Crowe creates fun and an interest in their appearance among patients at Ross Hospital psychiatric facility with her new weekly sessions on makeup and grooming. Her Friday morning sessions have been so much fun that patients have her stay on into the afternoon, she says.

Makeup Class Popular

By BARBARA HOSMER

Volunteer Val Crowe's new sessions on makeup and grooming for psychiatric patients have proved to be one of the most gratifying things she's done.

Now each Friday morning the announcement to patients at Ross Hospital's psychiatric facility, "Val's downstairs for makeup," brings a group of interested women — and some curious men —to the first floor dining room for informal, individual sessions with bottles of cosmetics, eyebrow pencil, mascara and lash brushes. A whole array of sample lipsticks range from the palest hue to deepest red tint, and the creme sachets give off an enticing aroma.

"I've never been a professional cosmetologist, but I've done reading about it and had theatrical makeup courses," Mrs. Crowe explains.

"I TRY to keep up their participation as much as possible, so they try on their own makeup," she says. "We try different things, while the others stand around and make comments about color, what they like or don't like. Often they say, 'That doesn't look good on you,' or 'I like that better on you' while one patient participates," she says.

Putting on their own makeup gives the patients confidence, and besides, Mrs. Crowe confesses that her hand isn't too steady throughout a two or three-hour makeup session.

"Have you ever tried to put mascara on somebody else?" she asks.

"Some have gotten their interest back in their appearance," she said of the patients.

One woman who had shown little interest in her appearance before came to the Monday night bingo game wearing eyebrow pencil and mascara she'd put on herself, Mrs. Crowe related. She'd gone and bought herself "just some cheap things," she explained to Mrs. Crowe.

"It's been so pleasant and gratifying." The first makeup session the patients were "so enthusiastic they didn't want me to go home," she said.

Quite often her sessions go on into the afternoon, though she begins about 10 a.m. Sometimes the men come to observe and comment, and some of the younger ones say they don't believe in makeup for women, they like the natural look.

"They're interested, enthusiastic and fun —everybody making cracks and jokes," she says.

The wife of Fairfax's new city administrator, Robert E. Crowe, Val and her husband arrived in Marin in March from Sacramento, but are "Southern California people." Since she was active as a hospital volunteer in Montebello, the first thing she thought to do in Marin was to volunteer at a hospital. She joined the Ross Hospital Volunteers immediately and began work in the main hospital.

In April she became a volunteer also for "south wing," the psychiatric facility across the street from the main hospital.

Now she volunteers both places, wearing the volunteer uniform for her seven hours' volunteer work each Wednesday at the main hospital.

Fridays and Monday nights she's doing makeup sessions, bingo participation and just visiting with patients along with the other south wing volunteers.

"It makes the time go faster for the patients," Mrs. Crowe explained of the volunteers' participating.

Val Crowe had once done cultural education for military dependents overseas, and she got the idea of trying makeup sessions at Ross Hospital.

She discussed it with Mrs. Howard Hetzner, head volunteer for the psychiatric facility, and the staff doctors. All thought it a good idea. She appealed to the cosmetics firm in Marin, since it was close, and had the things she needed the next day.

The enthusiasm of the patients and the fairly rapid turnover at Ross are two solid reasons she plans to continue the demonstrations. Besides, "they're fun," she says.

Women 'Shocked' By U.S. Clothes

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UPI)—The clothes the fashion industry has been offering the American women has left many of them in "a state of shock."

The description comes from Jerry Silverman, a prime mover on the U.S. fashion scene. "Women haven't liked the look of clothes for a long time," said Silverman,e president of the manufacturing firm that carries his name. "It is our challenge to makethem believe in us again." In short, start buying instead of sitting on their charge accounts.

SILVERMANN WAS one of a five-member panel that participated Wednesday in a discussion of the question, "Does the American Fashion industry meet the demands of American women?" The question never quite got answered but the heated back-and-forth among the five at one point caused Bess Myerson, the moderator and the New York commissioner for consumer affairs, to comment:"We have a boxing ring set up in thekitchen."

The occasion was a breakfast at the Hilton Hotel where all this week fashion reporters, some 200 strong, have been checking the style scene for fall and winter. The sponsor was the International Ladies Garment Workers Union

Silverman believes that basically the American designer "knows his business". But somewhere along the line "we lost the consumer. What the consumer has seen in the stores has turned her off completely. She has been frightened. The average American woman is truly conservative. She doesn't understand the 'way out' " . . .

That's why, he said, so many retailers "have gone to Europe to find clothes they felt could stimulate their business."

BUT THE NEWS for fall is good, Silverman said. And another panelist, Henoch Mendelsund, vice president of ILGWU, and general manager of the New York Cloak Joint Board agreed. The swing for fall is back to "more believing clothes."

Mendelsund, describing "what's cooking" for fall especially in the coat and suit fiels, said, "We have given feathers back to the Indians, the Gypsy back to fortune tellers, the prairie back to urban renewal.

"The traditional, the civilized look, is back ... there is very little 'far out'. The silhouette is mostly straight or semi-fitted.

"HEMLINES HAVE stabilized at just below the knees," which must come as gladsome news to women who've been seesawing between the midi and the mini these past few seasons.

Optimism for 1971 came also from Samuel Sandhaus, executive director, the New York

In 1968 she was chosen in open aduition to dance with the Bolshoi Ballet in its ballet school, presented at the Opera House in San Francisco.

Marin Women To Attend Workshop In Menlo Park

Several Marin County women will attend the Judean Society workshops conducted by Dr. Finis E. Dew, professional counselor at San Francisco State College, on Saturday and on July 17 at Vallombrosa, 250 Oak Grove Avenue in Menlo Park.

Roberta Boyd of Novato, director of the Marin County Society, says it is partially sponsored by the Catholic church, but the organization is open to all divorced Christian women.

Registration for the workshop will be held at 9 a.m. Eleanor Dolan, also a Novato resident, has been appointed secretary-treasurer.

For Simple Styles

Diane Von Furstenberg, introoducing her fall and winter collection, said women are "sick of the crazy look." "We want simple styles but lovely material, classic looks but yet sexy," she said. The collection included very soft, floaty dresses that moved with the body and featherweight silk jerseys.

The Natural Look

Two For One Error

Two separate stories were inadvertently combined into one dispatch in yesterday's Marin Women section of the Independent-Journal under the headline "The Cookie-Cutter Fashion Era Out." The I-J regrets the mistaken combination.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

DEAR HELEN:

Your column of male backlash against women — yes, that's what it was! — needs rebuttal.

First: The letter from "Wally" whose wife wears pants suits constantly and he wonders "if he married a woman." If he doesn't know by now, he can't have much of a marriage.

In wanting his wife to go around showing her "great legs," he exhibits his emotional infantilism and lack of interest in her as a person. Why doesn't he bare his hairy chest (if he has one)? He's undoubtedly the type of creep who ogles every secretary and thinks the playboy bunny trip is really exciting. His wife's legs must be some kind of status symbol to him.

(NOTE FROM HELEN: Maybe he just enjoys looking at them. Pants suits are great but, really, I can't see that occasional leg exposure detracts from a wife's status as a person.)

Second: The male women's page editor! This type has been giving women lousy male advice for years, outlining what's "ladylike" and what isn't.

By offering three booklets (on Women's Liberation, washing machine hints and weight reduction) then comparing the response, he attempts to prove that women have no interest in their liberation and rights.

Of course, the little hausfrau in HIS club-and-wedding audience wouldn't send for the first offering. She's the cardboard, stereotype, helpless female idiot locked in her kitchen and starving for his "advice" on how to wash clothes or look like a man-trap.

Women are real, honest-to-goodness people, not automatons who can be programmed into pulling up their hemlines so some male can lick his lips, or into sending for pamphlets that don't tell them anything relevant to the real issues of their lives.

Women come in all varieties and shades of awareness and opinions. Let's stop putting them all together in "bags" and saying "women do this" or "women don't like men" or "women love to cook" or "women are all on diets" or "women aren't logical," etc., etc. It's about time we realized that women are!

Let's stop insulting women's intelligence: stop sending them messages that tell them they're inferior, for this is what your two correspondents are doing! The editor with his scroungy booklets set up a cheap experiment to prove his point and say, "See, I told you, women don't care; they love being second class."

If these types of psychological put-downs would magically cease, I think the women's liberation and rights movement would find it had won, and no longer needs to exist. Meantime, it grows by leaps and bounds as women realize inwardly (if not outwardly) that much of what it is saying truly speaks to them.

Up with personhood! — A FEMALE WOMEN'S PAGE EDITOR

DEAR EDITOR:

(And I still say we have the best of two worlds, if we can be smart — and energetic enough — to juggle them.) — H.

Ed's Sister Captures Washington's Attention

By HLEN THOMAS

The tall (5-foot-10) slender New York socialite captured Washington's attention with her sophisticated manner and her mod clothes. She wore the new grandma style dresses with flat Italian shoes at all the parties where her brother Edward, 24, and Tricia were being feted before the White House wedding.

Mazie, 25, whose light brown mane falls loosely on her shoulders, is not used to the constant spotlight that focuses on the first family, but she took it in stride and appeared to enjoy the attention.

She bears a strong resemblance to her tall, slim mother, has a disarming smile, piercing blue eyes, and is friendly with the press.

WHEN ASKED if it would be a good marriage, Mazie said: "I love my brother."

While walking down the aisle in the Rose Garden last Saturday as maid of honor, Mazie was so much at ease, she tried to catch her brother's eye to

Looking and acting like a model, Mazie loves fashion. She was one of 10 girls who have just graduated from the Yale School of Architecture. And she will be looking for a job — but not soon.

First she wants to travel across the country and is joining up with several friends who will make the journey in a big rented truck.

She says she has traveled every summer and prefers to rough it rather than go first class. She has been to Mexico and India, among other places.

Mazie attended Chapin school in New York while Tricia was a student there. "I was a terrible student," she said. But with her family pushing, she decided to go on to college and chose Smith where she majored in history and later architecture.

MAZIE APPARENTLY is not in a mood to settle down. She had her best beau, Brink Thorne, with her at the wedding. But she moaned when she caught Tricia's wedding bouquet — by bridal design of course.

"I'm in trouble," sighed Mazie.

ON BEING BLACK

One Girl's Braiding Operation Thrives

By SANDRA HAGGERTY

"Next," said 13-year-old Lucinda, motioning to one of the seven little girls seated around her on the front porch. Tina happily handed the big girl her comb and brush and sat down to have her hair braided.

"It started as a game last summer," said Lucinda, her own "natural" shining and perfectly molded. "Then some of the little girls started asking their mothers if I could plait (braid) their hair every day. And since it saved the mothers quite a bit of time and I did a pretty good job, the mothers offered to pay me.

"The little kids think it's a lot of fun — like playing beauty parlor. Since most of them are so young, their mothers want them to wear braids. You'be be surprised how many different ways you can plait hair. Even the girls with short-short hair and natural get tired of the same style, so I make up new styles for them.

"IT'S HARD to find a summer job, especially when you're under 16, so this has turned out to be a good way for me to make a little money. Gee, one morning I had 11 girls from right here in my neighborhood."

Most black women remember well the ordeal of "hair-combing" when they were young. Because many of us had kinky (very curly) hair, the comb and brush did not glide effortlessly through our hair like it did for those girls with straight hair. A noted black psychiatrist has a theory about the psychological damage done to black female children as a result of painful hair combing.

As the mother of two young daughters, I fully appreciate Lucinda's services. My girls, like many others, scream bloody-murder when hair combing time is in progress. No amount of caution can eliminate the wails entirely. The work "ordeal" best describes the situation for both mother and daughter.

But when Lucinda uses the same amount of force to get the rats (tangles) out, my little dears hardly bat an eyelash. A mother could be driven to child brutality by watching their sudden exercise of quiet control. Of course, little girls admire a teen-ager like Lucinda and will go to great lengths just to be in her company.

LUCINDA ALSO offers little extras. Some mornings she puts flowers, compliments of the neighborhood rosebushes, in the girls; hair. And she encourages the girls to keep their combs and brushes clean and to save bits of ribbon and the rubber bands off the daily newspapers for use in their hair.

Says Lucinda, "One family of three little girls doesn't have any money pay me, but I do their hair anyway. If I didn't, it probably wouldn't get done."

Lucinda's summer job could probably be duplicated by young girls in your neighborhood, There are no transportation problems, and the overhead for operations is practically nil.

MUSIC REVIEW

By JAMES E. WILLIAMS

SAN FRANCISCO — Henry Mancini, who probably has had more public exposure than any other living musical composer, returned last night to the Opera House for another personal triumph with the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra.

The full house got Mancini's famous standards — "Pink Panther," "Peter Gunn," "The Days of Wine and Roses," "Charade" and "Moon River" — plus works from other well-known composers in the pop field.

Having been introduced to the Mancini sound when the composer-arranger made his debut with the symphony last spring, the treats of the evening for this reviewer were Mancini's arrangements of the overture to the rock opera "Tommy," and a medley from "Jesus Christ, Superstar," which will hit the boards tpis fall as a musical.

While enjoyable, Mancini's arrangements for a "Portrait of Simon and Garfunkel," were a little too flowery. The famous duo's scores are good enough just left alone.

The orchestra, decked out in its "pops" uniforms — tuxedos instead of white tie and tails — seemed to thoroughly enjoy the change of pace. There were some sterling individual performances from orchestra personnel and the sound on the while was full-bodied and golden. However, Mancini brought along a few imports in the brass section for such numbers as "Fist Full of Dollars" and "Panther." Featured as soloist in "Fist" was trumpeter Graham Young, whose big sound echoed throughout the house.

The low-key Mancini intertwined his music with small talk and occasionally took a turn on the piano for solo passages.

Following "Superstar," which he halted midway in the medley and restarted due to a foul-up, Mancini seemed almost apologetic, but rebounded later by lauding Seiji Ozawa for having such a "fine band."

For an encore Mancini offered what he called the only "X-rated" encore in history, "The Stripper," and then sent the happy audience home with a repeat of "They're Off," from his film score of "The Great Race."

Mancini will repeat the concert tonight at the Opera House with another full house expected as the symphony ends two weeks of "specials" which began on an operatic note with Eileen Farrell and James McCracken as soloists.

MOTION PICTURE GUIDE

The Marin Motion Picture and Television Council provides these ratings of movies now being shown in Marin County. The council's findings are from the California and National Parent Teacher Assn. magazines and the Parent's Magazine unless otherwise noted. More complete reviews may be obtained by calling the San Rafael Library.

FAMILY

"Aristocats" — A family of cats have a series of adventures that turns Paris of 1910 upsidedown. Delightful entertainment.

"Boatniks" — The jam packed boat harbor of Newport Beach, week-end yachtsmen and an accident prone sailor all add up to a hilarious comedy for all.

"Let It Be" — A candid look at the Beatles as they work on recording their last album is a warm and lighthearted treat.

"Song of Norway" — An operetta based on the early life of Edvard Grieg. The scenic splendors of Norway and magnificent music make a family spectacular that is outstanding and entertaining.

ADULTS AND TEENS

"Andromeda Strain" — A team of trained scientists race against time trying to identify a fatal disease transported to earth by a space probe satellite. Settings and technical scientific details are fascinating. Destruction of people and animals might be frightening for young children.

"Butch Cassidy and the Sundance Kid" — A deft sophisticated comedy about two bandits. Imaginative camera work, wonderful score and witty performances. Very violent ending.

"Cactus Flower" — A frothy comedy about a dentist who drafts his proper nurse, who is secretly in love with him, to masquerade as his estranged wife and rescue him from a complicated love affair with a zany girl friend.

"Gunfight" — Two "retired" gunfighters succumb to pressures and have a shoot out in a bull ring with a very unique solution. (Catholic film Newsletter).

"House That Dripped Blood" — Four separate tales of horror centering around the rental of an old Gothic house in northern England. Good of its kind.

"Paint Your Wagon" — Lusty, sprawling musical of the California gold rush days where two miners share a claim as well as a young wife. A raucous and at times tasteless absurd farce.

"Walk In The Spring Rain" — A mature love triangle. A lonely married woman is attracted to a vigorous earthy handyman. The involvement of two people worlds apart is very slow moving.

"Whatever Happened to Aunt Alice" — A grisly horror story about a homocidally insane widow who murders her housekeepers and buries them in the yard to get their bank accounts.

"What's The Matter With Helen?" — Two women, one of them a psychotic, set out to prove the innocence of their sons in a murder. (Boxoffice Magazine).

BORDERLINE
(Most sources say adults only)

"Bananas" — A raw, raucous satire on subjects formerly held sacred or taboo. Woody Allen plays his usual character except this time he is involved in a South American revolution.

"Bob & Carol & Ted & Alice" — An irreverent social satire has a sharp bite in its characters, dialogue and frank appraisal of modern marriage.

"Claire's Knee" — French film with English subtitles is a study of uncontrollable love, is as fascinating as it is revealing.

"Going Down the Road" — Realistic tragedy about poor, uneducated and untrained men in the big city. Grim, earthy and dull in spots with some tasteless nudity.

"Little Big Man" — A very violent tragic-comic history of Indian-white relations as recalled by 121 year old ex-gun fighter. Very thought provoking, bloody with some sex scenes.

ADULTS ONLY

"Best House in London" — Bawdy farce is a showcase for profuse nudity and all kinds of sexual deviations.

"The Body" — An explicit and quiet clinical examination of the body structure. The cycle from birth to death including love making and child birth and views of pulsating body systems and organs would appeal to viewers familiar with human physiology.

"Five Easy Pieces" — A self indulgent, but talented man seeks love on different levels, but is unable to return it. Explicit sex and crude dialogue.

"Gimme Shelter" — The Rolling Stones at Altamont, shows the drugs and violence that ended in death. A frightening view of some segments of the younger generation.

"M.A.S.H." — Nothing escapes the mockery of this ribald blook-soaked comedy of wartime Korea. Several scenes are as gruesome as they are funny. Very adult satire.

Prison Inmate Is Attacked

A San Quentin inmate, convicted of second degree murder, was reported in serious condition today with head injuries following an attack by another inmate.

Associate Warden James W. L Park said today Melvin Miller, 40, was hit with a blunt instrument about 11:15 p.m. Wednesday in his cell in the west housing unit. He was taken to the prison hospital in serious condition.

One suspect is locked up, Park said, but he declined to name the man at this time.

Miller is serving a sentence of five-years-to-life at San Quentin where he has been since June, 1969.

Officer Running In Sheriff Race

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Police Inspector William C. Bigarani, 39, who gained notoriety in 1960 when he was known as the "Beat Generation" patrolman, announced Thursday that he was a candidate for county sheriff.

The 39-year-old Bigarani, who has the permanent rank of sergeant, told a news conference that "San Francisco county needs a new sheriff." He added, "I don't intend to run against the incumbent, but for the job."

Bigarani said there were several "problem areas" in the sheriff's department. Among them, he said, were conditions in the county jails and the department budget.

San Rafael Council Adds $27,000 To Big Budget

The San Rafael City Council last night concluded its scrutiny of proposed departmental spending for 1971-72, although it still must consider employee salary requests and a capital improvements program.

The council took up the requests of seven department heads, winding up a night of additions and deductions by increasing the record $4.8 million budget more than $27,000.

The bulk of the increase — $26,000 — was added to the public works budget for San Rafael Canal survey work. San Rafael and the state have been involved in a long dispute over settling the original boundaries of the canal, and legislation empowering the city to do its own survey is pending in Sacramento.

At the urging of mayor C. Paul Bettini, $4,000 also was added to the finance department budget to cover an expected rise in the city's general and liability insurance. The amount appropriated for premiums was $46,000, up from $44,860 this fiscal year.

Bettini, an insurance agent, said insurance companies were becoming increasingly wary of covering government buildings, referring to attacks by extremists.

The council heard a request by Robert A. Roumigiuere, president of the board of directors of the Louise A. Boyd Science Museum, for funds to help support the facility, which operates at a deficit.

Although it expressed interest in contributing, the council was wary of giving public funds to a private organization. The parks and recreation commission was asked to investigate a procedure under which the city could contribute funds via taking part in some fashion in the museum's activities.

City Mgr. James H. McCown told the council adoption of the budget awaits completion of negotiations with city employees and the outcome of review next month of proposed capital spending.

Budgets approved last night were for parks and recreation, finance, city attorney, city clerk, city manager, treasurer and city council, totaling about $1.5 million.

Bases At League Field Are Stolen

The Babe Ruth League reported to Novato Police yesterday that baseball equipment, valued at $95, including three bases, was stolen from the field at San Marin High School between 7:35 and 8:30 p.m. Tuesday.

Longshoremen's Strike Disrupts

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The inland ports of Sacramento and Stockton today reported difficulty in keeping the heavy load of work diverted from the Bay ports by the dispute between the Pacific Maritime Association and its longshoremen.

Sixty ships also were affected in Los Angeles and Long Beach Harbors when the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's union called a 24-hour work halt Thursday.

No break was seen in the standoff here, which concerns demands by Local 10 of the ILWU for a better distribution of work among its 3600 members.

Auto Is Stolen

Antone Davi Jr. of 7397 Boris Court, Rohnert Park, told police his 1961 blue Lincoln was stolen Wednesday night from the apartment parking lot. It had license number BJY 073.

Alan Hennig To Receive Eagle Rank

Gregory Alan Hennig of Boy Scout Troop 2, Corte Madera, will be awarded the Eagle rank in a Court of Honor at 7:30 next Thursday at Granada School.

Hennig, 15, has been in scouting for four years. He has served as assistant patrol leader, patrol leader, scribe, den chief, librarian and senior patrol leader. He has 23 merit badges, and is a member of the Order of the Arrow.

For his Eagle project, he planted 100 Monterey Pine seedlings on the Corte Madera Ridge. His hobbies include amateur radio, electronics, nature study, fishing and hiking. He participated with his troop on a 50-mile hike last summer.

He is entering his junior year at Redwood High School, where he is a member of the California Scholarship Federation and the radio club.

Hennig is the son of Mrs. Joseph Salvo of 147 Mariner Green Court in Corte Madera, and Benjamin Hennig of San Francisco.

FBI Recovers El Greco Oil 33 Years Later

NEW YORK (UPI) —A painting by El Greco, conservatively valued at $1 million, has been recovered by the FBI nearly 35 years after it was stolen from a Madrid home during the Spanish Civil War.

The FBI office in New York announced Wednesday the painting, "Assumption of the Virgin," had been the object of a three-year FBI search at the request of Spanish police who reported the masterpiece had been smuggled into the United States.

The FBI said an investigation was in progress to identify the individuals connected with the theft. But it declined to trace the route of the painting from Spain or pinpoint where it had been found.

He said the painting was in very good condition.

'Night With Agape' Set In Marinwood

A dance, "A Night with Agape," will be presented next Friday by the Goya of the Greek Orthodox Church of Marin. (Agape means universal love).

The dance will be held from 8:30 p.m. to 1 a.m. at the Marinwood Recreation Center at 775 Miller Creek Road.

Novato Chamber To Seek Sign Reprieve

With the city set to move against more than 100 nonconforming business signs, Novato Chamber of Commerce directors yesterday agreed to push for a six-month extension of the deadline for removal.

Chamber president Charles Lewis said there would be some "sort of chaos" if the city attempted to have "more than 100 businesses" conform immediately to the ordinance.

The signs became noncomforming three years ago when the city adopted a new sign ordinance with more stringent regulations than had existed in the past.

Sign owners were given three years to amortize their investment and "the three years is now up," Lewis explained.

"We're talking about $100,000 worth of signs," said Richard P. Nave, a member. "There has to be a compromise."

Director Phillip Coady said merchants have a choice of applying for a two-year extension, applying for a variance or removing the sign.

He predicted that the majority would seek the extension, resulting in a lot of time, money and effort expended by the merchants and the city to process applications.

Therefore, Coady proposed that the chamber seek a two-year extension for all, but directors later voted for a six-month extension.

During the six-month period a committee from the chamber and Downtown Merchants Association could work with the city on review or the ordinance, directors agreed.

Director Robert Lagle asserted that the majority of merchants would be granted extensions. "You're likely talking about expensive signs, free-standing signs. You obviously can't write off $10,000 in three years."

Lewis commented: "That darn thing is hard to understand. A lot will have to go in for variances."

Chamber directors also approved spending $350 for printing an informational brochure about Novato.

The chamber will have its annual installation dinner at 6:30 p.m. tomorrow at Sportsman Lodge, with state Sen. Peter H. Behr, R-San Rafael, as the speaker.

Sausalito Panel Eyes School Site

A special meeting to discuss possible acquisition by the City of Sausalito of the Sausalito School District's Central School has been set for June 30 at 8 p.m. in city hall by the Sausalito Planning Commission.

According to Planning Director H. Eric Borgwardt, city officials are considering acquiring the school property for civic purposes. For example, he said Sausalito could use the Central building for a new city hall, library, senior citizens center or youth center.

The property will not be used for classes next year, since all students in the district will be housed in Martin Luther King and Bayside schools.

Last November, Sausalito voters approved a $560,000 bond issue to purchase six waterfront lots for construction of a new city hall and library or for other civic uses, but no construction has taken place.

Price of the central property has not been discussed and is still unknown, the planning director noted. He said the planners will study the proposal at the special meeting, then make recommendations to the Sausalito City Council.

A public hearing on a master plan for development of the Sausalito Yacht Harbor also will be held at the June 30 session.

Stanford Professor's Nomination Confirmed

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Senate has confirmed, with neither debate nor dissent, President Nixon's nomination of Ezra Solomon, a Stanford professor, to his Council of Economic Advisers.

The Senate Thursday also confirmed the reappointment of former Rep. A. Sydney Herlong Jr., a Florida Democrat, as a member of the Securities and Exchange Commission.

Judge Overrules Bennett Verdict

By C. P. McCARTHY

A Marin Municipal Court jury returned a guilty verdict yesterday in the drunken driving trial of William M. Bennett and was promptly overruled by Judge Robert A. Smallman who then dismissed the case against Bennett.

Reaction of jurors, who had spent six hours deliberating, was mixed.

Bennett, 52, a resident of Kentfield and member of the State Board of Equalization, had no comment on the guilty verdict or the judge's action.

Smallman had announced prior to final arguments — but outside the presence of the jury — that he would reject a guilty verdict.

Before allowing the case to go to the jury, however, he denied defense motions that the case be dismissed or the jury be directed to return an innocent verdict.

He said that he was allowing the case to go to the jury because he had faith in the jury system and he feared if he dismissed the charges prior to a jury verdict, that "certain elements of our society would hold this was political pressure."

Smallman later told the jury of five men and seven women that it was the first time in his six months on the bench that he had not agreed with a jury verdict.

He said he had not only reasonable doubt that Bennett was not guilty, but "I am convinced beyond reasonable doubt of his innocence."

He told the jury he based his decision on testimony by persons at the scene of arrest. Three Sausalito policemen who were there testified that Bennett was intoxicated. A Boston attorney, his wife and Bennett's wife, who were in Bennett's car, testified he was "cold stone sober."

"You'd have to disregard the testimony of all the people in the Bennett car not to have a reasonable doubt," Smallman told the jurors.

The jury did find Bennett innocent of a second charge of driving under the combined influence of alcohol and drugs.

Bennett's wife, a daughter and three sons were present in the courtroom for the verdict.

When Smallman announced his decision to the exhausted-looking jurors, who had arrived at the Hall of Justice for final testimony 11 hours before, juror Robert L. Sideroff of San Rafael asked the judge to explain "where we went astray."

Smallman replied the jury had not gone "astray," that it was simply a "difference of opinion between the jurors and himself.

"It well could be you're right and I'm wrong," Smallman said.

That was no comfort to Deputy Dist. Atty. John R. Thomas Jr., who prosecuted the case.

Thomas said Smallman's action "undermines the jury system."

Thomas said he was particularly concerned, because Smallman's dismissal of the case prevents appeal or any further action on the charges by the district attorney's office. "We're powerless," he said.

Jury foreman Lawrence E. Senger of Novato said he had "no reaction" to the judge's rejection of the verdict.

"We're all going to go home with an extreme sense of frustration," juror Richard Shlegeris of Mill Valley told Smallman as he asked the judge to explain his decision.

Other jurors appeared disgruntled, but would not comment.

One juror was thrilled with Smallman's action.

Bonney L. Cockburn of San Anselmo, said the jury was split 9-3 in favor of a guilty verdict at the beginning of its deliberation. Eventually she was the sole holdout for acquittal, but she finally went along with the rest of the jurors, she said, when she began to distrust her own judgment.

Mrs. Cockburn thanked Smallman after court was adjourned.

Because of security regulations at the Hall of Justice, Marin juries are usually allowed to suspend deliberations at 6 p.m., go home and return in the morning.

However, special arrangements were made yesterday when the jury, which began its deliberation at 3:15 p.m., had not reached a verdict by 6 p.m.

Smallman said he could not release the jury because a story on his prior announcement that he would overturn a guilty verdict appeared on the front page of yesterday's Independent-Journal.

The jury reached its guilty verdict at 9:15 p.m.

Bennett was arrested April 25 in the parking lot of the Valhalla Inn in Sausalito after Officer Blake Hoffman, 22, saw Bennett's state-owned Chrysler, with its high beams on, cross over a double line before pulling into the parking lot.

Bennett charged in court that while Hoffman was driving him to Marin County Jail for booking, he stopped the car on Bridgeway, got out and slugged Bennett in the mouth.

Hoffman further, according to Bennett, slammed on the brakes of his patrol car three times while they were on Highway 101, slamming Bennett's face into a screen between the front and back seats of the car.

Bennett was later treated at Marin General Hospital for cuts and scrapes on his forehead, nose and lips.

Testimony in connection with Bennett's appearance at Marin General, resulted yesterday in an extraordinary court session where a defense witness resumed the witness stand outside the presence of the jury and after the jury had begun its deliberation.

The witness, Dr. Seymour Farber of San Francisco, who went to the hospital at Bennett's request, termed "an outright lie" testimony given earlier yesterday — before the jury — by Dr. Harper J. Buck of the Marin General Saff.

Buck, 37, a Mill Valley physician, testified yesterday wearing a modish, bright red shirt open at the collar and flared pants. He told the jury that Farber was intoxicated — even more so than Bennett was alleged to have been — at the hospital following the arrest.

Farber, 58, Dean of Continuing Education at the University of California Medical Center in San Fancisco, was outraged yesterday as he denied Buck's testimony.

Farber, wearing a conservative blue suit, white shirt and tie, criticized Buck's "outlandish" dress, said Buck's conduct at the hospital was "unprofessional" and indicated he would seek action against Buck by the county and state medical societies.

Still pending in Marin Municipal Court is a drunk in public charge against Bennett. That case, which is scheduled for trial July 15, stems from a March 4 arrest, also in Sausalito.

Arraignment On Check Count

Vanna Estelle Dugger, 29, of 339 San Anselmo Avenue, Room 15, San Anselmo, was arraigned yesterday in Marin Municipal Court on felony charges of car theft and fraudulent possession of checks.

She was to plead to the charges today.

She was arrested Wednesday by San Rafael police shortly after she attempted to cash a check at Crocker-Citizens Bank, 409 Third Street.

Police said the check had been stolen from Beverly Stevens of 78 Graceland Drive, San Rafael, earlier Wednesday. Mrs. Stevens' car was also stolen from the street in front of the first Presbyterian Church, Fifth Avenue and E Street, San Rafael, police said.

Post Locates Ed And Tricia

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Edward Finch Cox and his bride, the former Tricia Nixon, have been found honeymooning in the Virgin Islands at secluded Caneel Bay Plantation, it was reported today.

The couple is staying at the plush resort on St. John's Island, the Washington Post said in today's editions.

Western Weekend Opens; Big Crowd

Novato's Western Weekend Country Fair opened last night with a packed house at the Novato Community House and one of the largest first night crowds in recent years at the fairgrounds.

There wasn't any count of the fairgrounds crowd, but it was a "good turnout," said Dorothy Merla, publicity director.

The traditional beard contest was judged with William J. Glass winning a trophy for having the best full beard and the best beard of the show.

Frank J. Antonio also was a double winner with the best Abe Lincoln and the longest beard, while Max Maxwell had the best Van Dyke and Irving D. Chapman Jr. the best novelty beard.

District's Preliminary Budget Set

A $271,628 preliminary budget for 1971-72 was approved unanimously last night by trustees of the Bolinas-Stinson school district, Supt. Lester M. Horning reported.

Although the proposed budget is slightly higher than this year's $266,763 figure, the superintendent said it will mean no increase in the district's current total tax rate of $2.25 per $100 of assessed valuation. He said the increase will be absorbed by increased valuation of property in the district.

The district's proposed $155,640 expenditure for salaries next year includes across-the-board $400 annual salary increases for the district's nine teachers, approved by the board last night. A 3 per cent wage hike for the district's three full-time classified employees also won approval.

In the budget are the following expenditures: $24,690 for plant operation and maintenance, $14,000 for pupil transportation, $26,614 for fixed charges, including retirement and insurance costs and $17,868 for capital outlay, including school furniture and audio-visual equipment.

Horning said the budget as approved reflects a $34,656 reserve fund. The spending program will now be submitted to the county schools office for review, he said, then returned to the district for final board adoption by August 1.

The school board authorized the superintendent to obtain an appraisal of the district's buildings for insurance purposes, since its present insurance carrier has decided not to renew the district's policy. A factor in the company's decision was the arson fire which gutted Stinson School in April of 1970, according to Horning.

Trustees asked Horning to study the feasibility of the district's operating its own bus service next year. Currently, the district contracts for bus service with Patchett's Bus Service, a Richmond firm.

Cotati Council Delays Commission Abolishment

The Cotati City Council last night agreed to delay action on abolishing its planning commission, saying the matter needed further study.

No date was set for reconsideration, but Mayor Jack Groom assured the concerned audience that the discussion would be listed on the agenda and given advance publicity.

At a special meeting last week, the council introduced an ordinance to abolish the commission and called it ineffective and said it was unfair to some applicants.

Councilmen Herbert Winter and Alfred Falletti attended an impromptu citizens meeting Wednesday night and heard the group of 40 people plan a petition to urge the council to retain the commission.

Some citizens reportedly urged a recall election against the council, but the majority dismissed the recall move as not productive.

The Cotati City Council also:

POLICE — Received a memo from Police Chief Tony Locarini asking that policy be changed to permit the five reserve police officers to ride along in patrol cars. The council balked at the request and asked City Atty. William Cutler to prepare a new policy on reserve officers after researching the legality of their position.

SEWER — Approved an ordinance increasing sewer connection fees from $50 to $125 per living unit. It will become effective in six months, but an exception was granted for the Holiday Park subdivision which will be allowed nine months.

GENERAL PLAN — Set a special meeting for June 28 at 7:30 p.m. to hold a public hearing on the proposed general plan.

APPEAL — Received a petition from residents objecting to the use permit granted to the Barrel of Suds Bar to operate an outdoor beer garden. The council said a hearing on the appeal will be held July 1.

Rohnert Park Nose Count Shows Hike

Rohnert Park has grown by 5 per cent in the past year to a total of 6,450 residents, according to a count completed April 1 by the state department of Finance.

The federal census completed last April reported a population of 6,133.

The Free-Wheeling 'Spy-Swap' Attorneys

WEST BERLIN (Toronto Telegram News Service) — Two or three times a month a car with East Berlin number plates is allowed to pass without any border controls through a Communist checkpoint into West Berlin.

Unlike most of his fellow East Germans, Herr Vogel has a very special privilege —a passport which enables him to travel freely outside Herr Ulbricht's walled-in Communist capital — East Berlin. And no questions asked.

Vogel may be visiting his West Berlin counterpart, Dr. Juargen Stange, who acts in a similar capacity for the Brandt government and also for the Allied powers, but who does not hit the newspaper headlines with quite the rrequency that Vogel does. After all, it is usually the Communists who have the prisoners to barter.

Another reason Vogel might go to West Berlin could be to carry out a top-secret assignment that would lead him to London, Paris, or New York, as he sounds out government officials on whether yet another "exchange" can be arranged.

Not surprisingly, perhaps, these two lawyers — the sauve Herr Vogel and the hearty, sandy-haired Dr. Stange — have been dubbed the "Cold War spy brokers."

While it would be wrong to describe the two men as close friends, they do have an extremely amiable working arrangement.

When phone links were cut between East and West Berlin 19 years ago by the Communists, the two men swiftly had Telex machines installed in their respective offices so that they could retain easy contact with one another.

Although there are no restrictions barring the two men from crossing the wall to visit one another, it is a complicated business going through the checkpoints. For this reason they are mostly in touch by Telex.

A bottle of Schnapps is usually on the table when the two meet in Dr. Stange's elegantly furnished office in West Berlin's tree-lined Bundesallee. And when a deal has been satisfactorily concluded, it is with champagne that they celebrate.

The two men are courteous when quizzed by newspaper men about their work, but rarely disclose any details about the way they operate.

Vogel lives in an attractive and (by Communist standards) relatively luxurious two-floor villa in Friedrichsfelde, a pleasant residential district in East Berlin.

Once, when asked point-blank whether he was employed by the MFS — the East German secret service — he countered by saying to the reporter who had posed the question: "No. Why? Are you paid by the CIA?"

He claims that he does not even belong to the East German Communist Party.

Herr Vogel, who smokes cigars in preference to cigarettes, has figured in every major spy-exchange deal in the past decade.

In the 1962 swap of American U2 pilot Garry Powers for Soviet master-spy Col. Rudolph Abel, he acted as a go-between who set up a series of meetings between top U.S. State Department officials and Soviet representatives.

Later, he was to play an even bigger role in the exchange of British "businessman" spy Greville Wynne, seized by the Russians while attending a trade exhibition in Hungary, and Gordon Lonsdale, the Soviet agent, now dead, who masterminded the Portland, England, nuclear-submarine spy ring.

In each case, Berlin — the city in the heart of Europe split by the diametrically opposing worlds of Communism and capitalism — was chosen as the site where the prisoners were to be exchanged.

Only 10 lawyers are allowed to have private practices in East Germany. Vogel, needless to say, is one of them. He takes skiing vacations, likes wearing well-cut 'trendy' suits and sports jackets.

He appears to have a definite arrangement with the American and British governments whereby he automatically represents their citizens who are brought to trial in East German courts.

He has never won any of his cases, but that is not a reflection on his ability — for if a Western national has been acquitted by an East German court it cannot be remembered.

He never fails to point out after a trial that but for his efforts the prisoner would have got a much higher sentence than the one he actually received. But as Western officials are never allowed to attend the trials anyway, nobody can dispute his claims.

Dr. Stange is heavily relied upon by the West. This chiefly stems from the fact that the British, French and U.S. governments do not recognize the Ulbricht regime. Thus, there are no "normal" diplomatic channels with the East Germans.

A tall man who enjoys walking in the Berlin woods at weekends, Dr. Stange deals almost exclusively through Herr Vogel on any enquiry about a Western national.

Allied officials in West Berlin concede that the Stange-Vogel tie-up while perhaps hardly an ideal arrangement is the only one they have. It does not always work out to the benefit of the West.

One person who strongly believes that the West should try for alternative means of negotiating with the East Germans is British sculptress Renee Heisler, 53.

Her Australian-born daughter, Karin, 15, was held by the East Germans for seven months because the Communists suspected Mrs. Heisler of aiding a refugee to escape to the West.

The sculptress says British and Australian authorities both told her that she must deal through Dr. Stange. "I had no option. I wanted my daughter to be released. But I did not like the way Stange went about his business.

"Months went by and I received no word from him about how his enquiries were going. When I complained, I got no satisfaction.

"Dr. Stange stressed that I was not to tell the press about my story. But it was only when I did that things started to move. A week after the newspapers ran the story about my daughter, she was released.

"I am convinced that but for the press outcry my daughter would still be in East Germany," said Mrs. Heisler.

Another complaint made by the sculptress was that through Dr. Stange she sent a parcel of clothing to her daughter. It never reached Karin.

When the school girl was finally released in January this year, it was Herr Vogel who suddenly produced the parcel from the boot of his car and gave it to her —without explanation for holding it.

This type of allegation against the two lawyers is not unusual. "They have things all sewn up here," is the way one diplomat put it to me. "They don't always act according to normal rules of behavior. But then, Berlin is no normal city."

Dr. Stange and his wife attent the Press Ball in West Berlin every year. "It's quite an occasion here," says the lawyer. "The last time, my wife won three bottles of champagne in the Press Bail lottery."

Questioned about his work, he says somewhat irritably: "People cannot really expect me to disclose details. I do try to do the best for my clients. But it is not always easy dealing with the 'other side'."

Recycling Called A Big Success

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI)— Lucky Breweries has redeemed more than 10 million beer cans and bottles since launching its recycling program last year, company president Peter N. Widdrington said Thursday.

"Our success with recycling strengthens the promise that private enterprise can play a greater role in solving our environmental problems," he told a luncheon of business leaders.

Widdrington said the brewing company already was planning to change its operations to comply with a new Oregon law requiring deposits on all beer and soft drink containers after Oct. 1, 1972.

Around The World Journey For Agnew

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Vice President Spiro T. Agnew will make an around-the-world trip starting July 26, journeying first to Korea for the inauguration of President Park Chung Hee.

After Korea Agnew will visit Singapore, Kuwait, Saudi Arabia, Ethiopia, Kenya, the Democratic Republic of the Congo, Spain, Morocco and Portugal.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Horseshoe Pitching Said To Be Better Than Bowling, Golf

Jack's bean stalk had nothing on a giant hogweed plant grown by a Britisher. The plants were started from seeds. Shortly thereafter, his 12-year-old son and wife developed a poison ivy-type rash with blisters and itching. In time, the man discovered that the rash appeared only after the boy played near the plant and when the wife weeded near it.

This implicated the giant hogweed and the father decided to cut it down. Despite wearing thick clothing and heavy gardening gloves, he developed a severe eruption. The plant extract had also penetrated through a heavy shirt and pullover.

ACCORDING TO Today's Health, an unnamed physician regards horseshoe pitching as better exercise than golf or bowling. Having played two games last weekend, I fully agree. Each shoe weighs 2½ pounds. It must be picked up, aimed and thrown to a stake 40 feet away. All of this brings into play the muscles of the hand, wrist, arm, shoulder, back and leg.

A COMPETITOR in tournament play walks five miles between stakes and bends down at least 500 times. He lifts and throws more than a ton of metal.

INFANT FEEDING methods have changed and some mothers give their babies full-strength milk. The tendency is to overfeed the tyke leading to a pattern of excessive intake. Unfortunately in these babies, the stools are larger and firmer than in children who are breast-fed.

AT ANY RATE, a British physician reported that 10 infants, six to eight days old, were admitted to the hospital with rectal bleeding. The babies were otherwise healthy and the most obvious diagnosis was that the larger stool had stretched and torn the rectum.

TV, SMOKE, ASTHMA

Mrs. T. H. writes: We are a retired couple. My husband loves TV and sits watching it most of the day, smoking a pipe. My asthma has been much worse since he is home all the time. Tom was offended when I told him the smoke bothers me. Am I being too picky?

REPLY

The smoke may be responsible for your wheezing but why not experiment? Ask your husband to smoke out of doors for a week and see if your symptoms improve. The alternative is an exhaust fan in the TV room. Ater all, there are other causes of wheezing and it would be a shame to make him give up his enjoyment of puffing at his pipe as he watches TV, especially if tobacco is not playing a role in your asthma.

EXCESS SALIVA

A. S. writes: I have an unusual amount of saliva in my mouth. Is there anything that can be done to eliminate the problem?

REPLY

Consult the dentist concerning the condition of your teeth and gums. If nothing is found, there is a good chance that your salivary glands are overactive due to nervousness. Many older people have too much saliva and drooling occurs when there is sagging of the corners of the mouth. Certain drugs have a drying effect on the mouth and may be helpful. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on this disorder.

LIFE WITH TAPEWORM

W. M. writes: How long can a person live with a tapeworm?

REPLY

Many years, if complications do not develop. Much depends upon the number of worms present, their total mass (which may block the intestine), and whether the larvae have found their way into other tissues, such as the brain.

New Look For White House's Vermeil Room

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The White House Thursday officially unveiled the newly refurbished Vermeil Room and a $25,000 English crystal chandelier in the Grand Hallway.

The room, on the first floor, houses the 300-piece collection of a Vermeil silver service—gold inlaid on sterling silver—donated to the White House during the Eisenhower administration by the late Margaret Thompson Biddle of Philadelphia.

The chandelier, described by White House Curator Clement Conger as "the most beautiful thing I ever saw," once hung in the palace of an Indian maharajah and was donated by the Cafritz Foundation of Washington.

Among the new furnishings in the Veremil Room are a $14,000 Heneke rug made in Turkey in the middle 19th Century.

Federal Law On Bald Eagles Held Weak On Poison

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Despite a federal law prohibiting the poisoning of bald and golden eagles, the Interior Department says it cannot prosecute those responsible for the deaths of Dozens of eagles in Wyoming.

Charles Lawrence, head of the management and enforcement division of the Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wild Life, said Thursday, "At the moment, there is insufficient evidence to merit prosecution under the bald eagle act."

He said the act requires the federal government to prove there was deliberate intent to poison the eagles, a difficult process.

Variance Bid For Better Span Vista

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Covering more than a half-acre of the bay for a Tiburon home was defended yesterday as necessary to get a view of the Golden Gate Bridge.

This unique justification was offered to the Bay Conservation and Development Commission by the attorney for a San Francisco couple seeking a fill permit for their two-story home.

They also plan a deck, boat dock, swimming pool and two rental units on the two-lot property at 2326 and 2330 Mar East Street.

David A. Lawson III, San Rafael attorney representing the applicants, Mr. and Mrs. John C. McGuire said that adding the bridge to the view "would enhance an already beautiful view."

He said the view of the bridge had been cut off by a nearby duplex, and that building the home up on dry land would "ruin the design aspect."

Also defending the application was the McGuires' architect, Donald K. Loomis of Tiburon. He said that locating the home over the bay would improve the view of the bay for passersby on Mar East.

The only critic of the application was Emma Gilman of Larkspur, who said the proposal was "certainly contrary to the principles of the (BCDC) bay plan and does not justify an exception." Its approval would be a bad precedent, she declared, adding, "I don't know where it would end."

Under commission procedure, voting on the permit was postponed to its next meeting, on July 1.

Commission regulations permit up to 25 per cent of a home to extend over the bay, allowing a higher percentage only in case of "exceptional circumstances" such as an otherwise unbuildable lot. In the McGuire proposal, 90 per cent of the home would be over the bay on pilings.

The proposal has been approved by the Tiburon Board of Adjustments.

The application to the commission argued that it was a justifiable exception to the 25 per cent rule even though the desire for a better view was not included in the law as an exception. "By their very nature, 'exceptional circumstances' are usually not foreseen by legislative draftsmen," according to the application.

Film Fair Slated For Oct. 8-11

A film fair will award prizes to independent and student film makers at the Marin County Fair for Oct. 8 through 11 at the Civic Center.

Marcelle McCoy, fair manager, said the county's first film competition will be open to all residents of nine Bay Area counties: Marin, Alameda, Contra Costa, Napa, San Francisco, San Mateo, Santa Clara, Sonoma and Solano.

Prizes of $500, $250 and $100 will be given in the independent category, she said. This is open to any independent film maker or company.

First prize in the student category, open to students working in conjunction with a school, will be $250 with additional prizes of $100 and $50.

In addition, there will be a special award of $250 for the best entry using "Man and Nature" as a theme, Mrs. McCoy said.

Entries must be in the mail by Aug. 15, Mrs. McCoy said, and addressed to the Marin County Fair, Box 4010, San Rafael. Winning films will be shown in the auditorium throughout the fair.

Nine-County Conservation Agency Approval

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The Assembly Local Government Committee has approved legislation creating a nine-county San Francisco Bay Area Conservation and Development Agency.

The 40 elected members of the agency would have three years to develop a "resources plan" including proposals for the bay, transportation environmental quality, open space and regional parks.

The nine counties in the agency are San Francisco, San Mateo, Santa Clara, Alameda, Contra Costa, Solano, Napa, Sonoma and Marin.

Disaster Prep Conference Set

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —Gov. Ronald Reagan says state and federal officials next week will attend a five-day disaster preparedness conference in Sacramento.

Reagan said Thursday those attending the program conducted by the Offices of Emergency Services will learn "to serve local governments when a disaster strikes." The program starts Monday.

TELEVISION REVIEW

No Longer Snobs, Stars Like Video

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — There's much talk in the television industry over the fact that movie names like Anthony Quinn, Shirley MacLaine, Tony Curtis and Glenn Ford will star in video series in the fall. The talk centers around the belief that the snobbish attitude of motion picture stars toward the home screen medium is just about gone.

After all, some industry executives point out, John Wayne had a special this past television season that drew a whopping rating. And James Stewart will also have a series in the fall, as will James Garner and Dick Van Dyke. And other movie names who already have weekly video shows include Doris Day, Henry Fonda, Dean Martin, Tony Randall, Shirley Jones and Fred MacMurray.

The television executives admit that most of these movie names who have turned to the home screen don't have the boxoffice appeal with motion picture audiences that they used to (which, frankly, is why many of them finally crossed over to video). But, still, their reputations are indeed identified with movies, and intra-industry snobbishness is definitely on the wane.

Nevertheless, knowledgeable television executives are not at all sold on the theory that movie names are automatic guarantees for video success, and concede these performers are subject to the same pressures as most others —time slot, series competition, the writing and concept of their own shows, and so forth.

And, in fact, most toughthinking video decision-makers would probably prefer taking a chance in a new series with an established television name than with a movie figure who isn't quite the potent star he or she once was. The thing is, television stars often have quite a different appeal to the home audience than movie figures. It is a more intimate, usually more friendly, kind of appeal. And you never really know whether a star has it until the ratings are in.

For example, consider the enormous television success of such names as Raymond Burr, Efrem Zimbalist Jr., Elizabeth Montgomery, Mary Tyler Moore, Lucille Ball, Jim Arness, Carol Burnett, Lorne Greene, Michael Landon, Dan Blocker, Dan Rowan and Dick Martin. Except for Miss Ball, a pure star in any medium, and Burr, a top movie character actor, none of these have had what could be called true success in motion pictures.

Yet Zimbalist has had two long-running video hits in "77 Sunset Strip" and "The FBI." Rowan and Martin, who bombed out in a movie even during their television peak, have "Laugh-In." Greene, Landon and Blocker have "Bonanza." Arness has "Gunsmoke." Miss Ball, of course, has had a string of top-rated series. Miss Moore struck video gold twice, in the old Van Dyke show and now in her own weekly comedy.

Miss Burnett, like Miss Moore, went nowhere fast in movies—probably because not enough attention, or skill, was given to proper choice of roles. Yet she is a video phenomenon, not only outstanding but also high-rated and, to top it off, undoubtedly beloved. She's lasted a long time.

Miss Montgomery, of curse, has "Bewitched." Then there is Robert Young, once a leading movie name, but actually a television star in almost everyone's mind because of his success in "Father Knows Best" and "Marcus Welby, M.D." and Burr went from one video hit, "Perry Mason," to another, "Ironside."

If you were a television executive planning a series, you'd probably have a safer ratings bet with these video names than with most movie figures, who might be top talents but are, in the end, trying on a new medium with idiosyncrasies all its own.

POLICY SWITCH

Latin American Arms Aid Jumps

By ALAN RIDING
London Financial Times —UPI

MEXICO CITY —A sudden decision by the United States to step up military aid to Latin America at this time signals a switch in policy which has largely been dictated by changing political circumstances in Latin America.

The reversal is also in belated recognition of the failure of America's old policy, which was aimed at reducing defense expenditure by the economically hard-pressed governments of Latin America.

Six years ago, the United States Congress prohibited the sale of advanced weaponry to Latin America with the result that several governments immediately looked elsewhere, particularly Europe, for their equipment. Peru, Brazil, Argentina and Colombia have all bought or ordered French Mirage supersonic jets; Argentina, Peru and Ecuador bought French-built tanks; Brazil purchased British warships; and Peru and Ecuador bought patrol boats from West Germany.

This evidence of Latin America's growing independence of Washington contributed in part to President Nixon's change of course on military aid and United States Embassies are now expected to make special efforts to recapture this market.

Even more important was the political disintegration that has taken place in South America since a revolutionary military government took power in Peru in 1968. This was followed 11 months later by a similar leftist nationalist military coup in Bolivia and by the victory of the Socialist candidate, Dr. Salvador Allende, in the Chilean elections last year.

The prospect of a Communist South America suddenly went from seeming a distant nightmare for Washington to being a real danger. Argentina and Brazil, both ruled by conservative military regimes, were particularly worried by the rise of leftists among the Andean countries and this concern has been often expressed to the U..ited States. Both governments, struggling against leftist guerrilla activities, were also anxious for increased United States military assistance even though between them they already account for well over half the money spent on defense throughout Latin America — (excluding Cuba which spends about $300 million to Brazil's $650 million and Argentina's $380 million.

Brazil and Argentina also led the opposition to a Colombian proposal at a recent meeting of the Organization of American States (OAS) to set a limit on arms purchases in Latin America. The proposal was eventually shelved by being sent back for debate by the OAS Permanent Council.

Coincidental with Mr. Nixon's decision to double arms aid from $75 million to $150 million came the disclosure of a special arms deal with Argentina, Brazil, Colombia, Guatemala, Venezuela and Uruguay.

Guatemala and Uruguay are both struggling against well-established leftist guerrilla groups and are obviously in need of United States assistance. Colombia and Venezuela, on the other hand, are going through a period of tense relations that has stimulated each to step up arms purchases. Washington's logic is clearly that, if arms are to be bought, they might as well be American-made.

There is also the open understanding that governments with leftist tendencies will not benefit from the new military aid. These countries will have to seek arms in Europe or, in the case of Chile, possibly in the Soviet bloc.

Despite the frequent warning cry of an imminent arms race in Latin America and Washington's complaints about the diversion of resources from economic development to defense expenditure, however, the continent still spends less on defense than any other region. Brazil, the fourth largest country in the world and the biggest military spender in Latin America, ranks only 21st on a world defense expenditure list which is predictably headed by the United States, Russia, China, Britain and France.

Still the question still remains: why does Latin America need sophisticated arms at all? It is, after all, one of the most peaceful areas of the world; there has been only one major war between Latin American countries this century -the Chaco War between Bolivia and Paraguay in the 1930's -and none seems imminent.

In part, Latin America's move towards arming itself coincides with its new mood of independence. Governments feel they can no longer rely on outside powers to defend their real interests and the political and ideological differences between many of the countries make for increased mutual suspicion.

On a more practical level, small arms are needed in many countries to fight leftist insurgency, while aircraft and gunboats are required by several nations, particularly in South America, to enforce claims to 200-mile territorial waters.

Although an arms race is not in progress in Latin America, the continent is apparently unwilling to fall too far behind other regions in defense capacity.

Open Leader Harris Gets Help From Tough Course

By JOHN G. GRIFFIN
UPI SPORTS EDITOR

ARDMORE, Pa. (UPI)—Tough and tricky Merion Golf Club's East Course threw back the challenges of Lee Trevino and several other players today as they began pursuit of first-round leader Labron Harris Jr. in the second round of the 71st annual U.S. Open Golf Championship.

Harris, who was scheduled to tee off at 1 p.m. EDT, had a three-under-par 67 in the first round and that figure was defying the efforts of early shooters to catch up.

Trevino, the colorful former champion from El Paso, Tex., actually caught up for a few minutes when he started out with three birdies in the first four holes. But then he staggered with a bogey and triple bogey. He managed to struggle to the turn with a par 36 but then bogeyed both the 10th and 11th and disappeared from the leader board with, to that point, four birdies, three bogeys, a triple bogey, and only three pars.

Tom Weiskopf, starting out only three strokes behind, shot a stunning eight-over-par 44 on the first nine on this hot and humid day. Weiskopf took a triple-bogey seven on the first hole.

A couple of dark horses moved up to challenge. Jerry McGee of Lake Worth, Fla., clipped four strokes off par on the front nine with a 32, parred the next six holes, and was two-under-par to that point. Bob Erickson of Sanford, Fla., had a 35 going out and then birdied the 11th and 14th to stand two-under after 15.

Bobby Nichols also was two-under after three holes and Bob Goalby two-under after four.

Tournament favorite Jack Nicklaus, starting the day one-under-par, still was there after seven holes with a birdie on the second and a bogey on the third.

For the second round, the Open was using the longer of two tees on the ninth hole, so the course measured 6,544 yards, compared to 6,528 for the opening round. The weather pomised to be much hotter than Thursday's high of 82 degrees.

The U. S. Golf Association took notice of slow play in the opening round by warning the players to speed up and "try to line up putts before it is your turn to play."

Harris, from Stillwater, Okla., had a three-under-par 35-32—67 in Thursday's opening round for a one-stroke lead over a second-place trio that included colorful Doug Sanders, Bob Goalby, the man who oddly is trying to "live down" having won a Masters championship, and Lanny Wadkins Jr., the current U.S. Amateur champion.

And he was two strokes up on tournament favorite Jack Nicklaus, Bobby Nichols, and dark-horse Jim Colbert, at 69 the only other players in the prestigious field of 135 pros and 15 amateurs to break par on opening day over the short but demanding 6,258 yards of the Merion Golf Club.

Most of the big name pros were done in by Merion's famed last three holes, three of the toughest finishing holes on any course in the country. Harris managed a par on each of those killers, and that included a flirtation with disaster on the final hole when Lady Luck admittedly came to his assistance.

Harris' first shot on the par-four 18th was in the rough at the right near a concession stand. His second took a bounce and hit a spectator in the back, or it could have gone on even further into who-knows-what kind of trouble, and dropped, still in the rough. Then he came up with a brilliant 59-yard wedge out of the rough five feet past the cup, and putted back to save his par and his lead.

"On the 18th, I could have made six," Harris pointed out. "But the ball just kept bouncing around people and through people and through trees, and I made four.

"When things like that happen," he said with a grin, "it's hard not to win sometimes."

Harris posted his 67 on the board early on a hot and humid day and the stars took pot shots at it all day and couldn't bring it down. Time and again, it was those last three holes that turned back the challenge. Goalby, the fellow who won the Masters the year Roberto de Vicenzo signed an incorrect scorecard and has unjustly had to listen to criticism ever since, was running for a four-under-par total when he went into the "terrible trio" and he was stopped by a double bogey five on the 17th. Nicklaus had a bogey on the 17th. And then there was poor Larry Hinson.

Everyone agrees that the 26-year-old Hinson of Douglas, Ga., who has overcome the handicap of a crooked arm to produce a polished golf game, is going to win a big championship one of these years. And it seemed that the time might just be coming when he went a fantastic five-under-par Thursday after 11 holes and held it through 13. But then came utter collapse—bogey, bogey, bogey, double bogey, and bogey—losing six strokes to par in five holes to wind up at 71.

Villanova Announces Forfeit

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—Villanova University Thursday acknowledged what Howard Porter all along denied and the result spells forfeiture of honors won in the 1971 National Collegiate Athletic Association basketball season.

It said the 6-foot-8 college star had agreed to an initial payment of $15,000 Dec. 16, 1970, in exchange for his multi-talented services with the American Basketball Association.

Jack Dolph, the ABA commissioner, initialed the agreement and it was turned over to Pittsburgh Condors when they drafted Porter.

Porter eventually signed with the Chicago Bulls of the National Basketball Association for $1.5 million. However, en route to the Windy City a squabble developed.

The Condors claimed Porter was their property. Porter repudiated the ABA pact, sending a letter, which was revealed in court documents, telling Dolph he didn't wish to play in the ABA "under the terms of the document dated December 16, 1970..."

And on the suburban Villanova campus the athletic director asked Porter to sign an affidavit saying he hadn't violated NCAA rules and jeopardized the Wildcats' records.

Porter signed and the school said they took the "outstanding young man" at his word when he said he wasn't under a pro contract.

The controversy didn't affect Porter's play as he paced the Wildcats into the NCAA finals, surprising Pennsylvania and Western Kentucky before being defeated by UCLA, 68-62, in the championship game.

The Wildcats finished their greatest season with a 26-7 record, and Porter was named the tournament's most valuable player.

The Condors and the Bulls eventually settled their squabble out of court, but when Richard G. Phillips, Porter's attorney, asked for the records to be sealed.

Faced with the court records, Rev. Robert J. Welsh, Villanova president, sent a letter to the NCAA Thursday, forfeiting honors and money Villanova received in its best season.

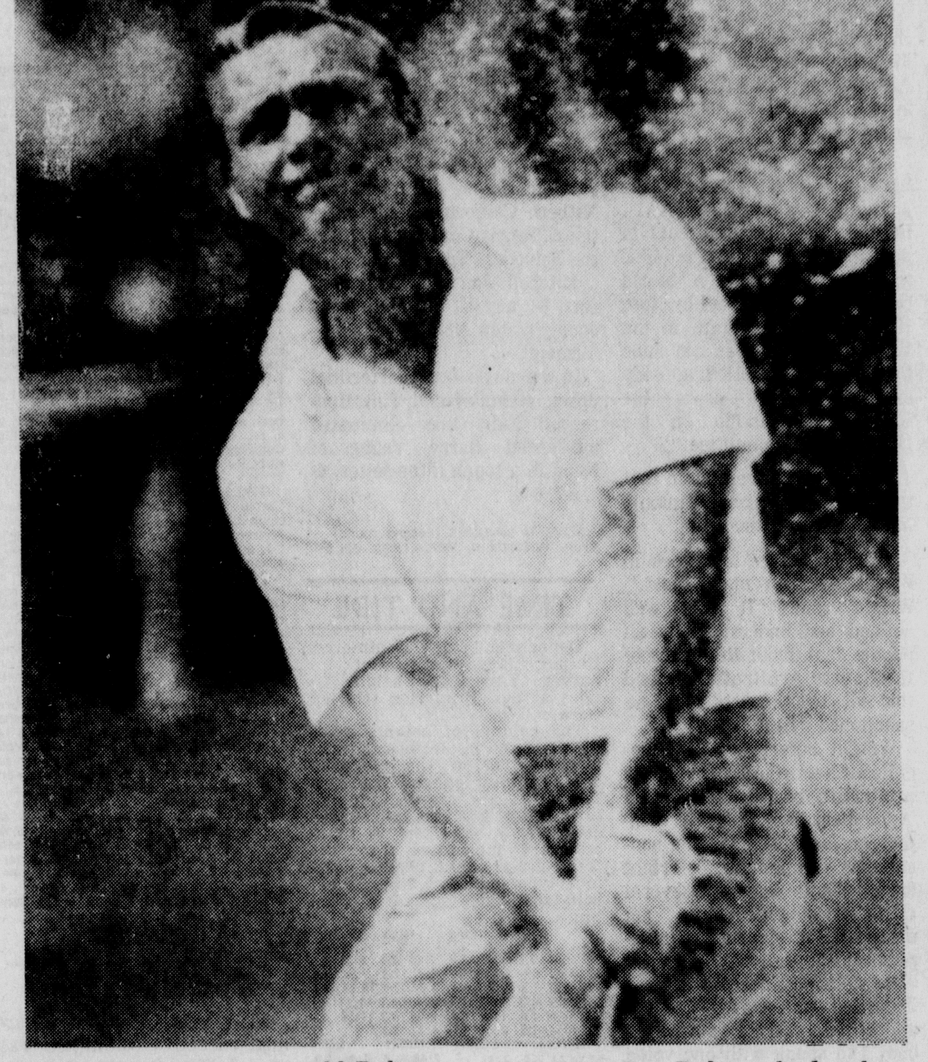
Rev. Welsh said that unless "Howard Porter can demonstrate otherwise, Villanova was not eligible to compete in the national collegiate Basketball Championship this year."

In the absence of additional information, he said, Villanova "will and should forfeit its records in the season and tournament and any receipts..." the money totals about $66,000.

Phillips said he and his client, who is reported sparkling in rookie camp, would discuss the matter, along with Villanova officials.

Porter refused to comment.

Phillips charged that many college stars violate NCAA eligibility rules and that if every college team played only with one member in violation "Tufts will wind up with the national champion."



BLASTING OUT — Arnold Palmer blasted out of a sand trap on the third hole during yesterday's first round of the U.S. Open at Ardmore, Pa. Palmer had a bogey five on the hole, and finished the round at 73.

North Overpowers South; Novato's Judnick Is MVP

By DAVID EINSTEIN

John Kidder capped a five-run seventh inning with a two-run double, and Novato High School teammate Dave Judnick finished up with three-and-a-third nearly perfect innings of relief pitching as the North routed the South, 9-3 last night in the second annual Marin County All Star high school baseball game at San Rafael's Albert Park.

The game, sponsored by the Knights of Columbus with proceeds going to scholarships, was long — three hours and 10 minutes — and for the most part quite dull. But most of the 1,500 or so fans stayed to the end.

Judnick, the only Marin County Athletic League player to be chosen in the major league draft this year, came in with two men on and two out in the bottom of the sixth. The score was tied at 3-3.

He struck out the first man he faced, and over the next three innings fanned seven more without allowing a hit. In fact, the only balls hit off him at all were a one-hopper back to the mound, and a broken-bat foul popup.

Not surprisingly, the tall righthander won the game's most valuable player award. But at least four other guys from the North played major roles in the victory. Jim Thompson of San Marin, Jim Thorne of San Rafael and Kidder all had three hits each. And Novato's Randy Jackson was a perfect two for two, with a single and a solo home run.

Thompson scored the first run of the game in the first inning on a delayed steal of home, and drove in the final run in the eighth with a sacrifice fly. He also scored during the five-run outburst.

Kidder's double was a 400-foot blast that cleared the centerfield fence on one bounce. It followed a run-scoring single by Terra Linda's Steve Codington, and drove that worthy home along with Holt Greene of San Rafael.

The first two runs of the inning scored when South shortstop Tom Olson of Marin Catholic nullified a brilliant stop by throwing the ball away at the plate. All five runs came off losing pitcher Lex Rzepelia of Drake.

The South had but one brief moment of glory, scoring all its runs and collecting all three of its hits in the fifth inning to tie the score. Centerfielder Mark Shepherd of Drake led off the inning with a home run down the leftfield line. Mike Johnson of Tamalpais accounted for the other runs with a single that scored Drake's Steve Hale, who had walked, and Olson, who had singled.

Each team used three pitchers. Len Hoffman of San Marin started for the North, and went three no-hit innings, striking out seven. He was followed by Trra Linda's Scott Seefeldt, off whom the South scored all its runs.

Johnson pitched the first five innings for the South. He was followed by Drake's Lex Rzepelia, who suffered through the North's big inning. John Moresco of Redwood relieved Rzepelia and went the rest of the way.

AT CANDLESTICK

Giants, Padres In Doubleheader

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — For those who don't mind a hot dog or peanuts for dinner, history of sorts is being made this evening at Candlestick Park.

For the first time in the 11-year existence of Candlestick, a twi-night baseball doubleheader is being staged between the San Diego Padres and San Francisco Giants. First game started at 5-30 p.m., which is just enough time for the Giants faithful to get from their offices to the ballpark.

First baseman Willie McCovey of the Giants was expected to have his bum knee x-rayed today. Then orthopedic specialists will check the x-rays and the knee to determine if surgery is required.

If McCovey is forced to have an operation, then the Giants are toying with the idea of recalling Jim Ray Hart from Phoenix of the Pacific Coast League. Hart, who had a pre-season operation to mend a shoulder muscle, has only recently been playing regularly at third base with Phoenix.

However, word from Phoenix is that Hart has been slamming the ball with authority. His ability to throw hard remains the problem.

"We'd like to have Hart around if he's healthy," said manager Charlie Fox.

Hart, Hupp Sparkle In NCAA Trials

By JOE SARGIS
UPI Sports Writer

SEATTLE, Wash., (UPI)—Karl Salb, the Kansas strongman, seeks to become the fourth man in collegiate history to win the shot put title three straight years today on the second program of the three-day NCAA track and field championships.

Eddie Hart of California shoots for his second 100 dash title and Ray Hupp, a comparative unknown who operates in the obscure world of decathlon athletes, tries to lock up a title no one thought he had a chance to grab.

Hupp was the big hero of opening day compeition Thursday as he set an American high jump record of seven feet in the decathlon while taking the lead after five events of that gruelling competition with 4,090 points.

He starts today's action 65 points ahead of Phil Washington of Washington State and admittedly confident only in the discuss. The 100 meter high hurdles, pole vault, javelin and 1,500 meter run conclude the decathlon.

Salb, throwing only hard enough to qualify, led 12 men into today's final of the shot put with a heave of 63-9 3-4. The only other shot putters ever to win three consecutive NCAA titles were Harlow Rothert way back in the 20s, Alfred Blozis in the 40s and Dallas Long in the 60s.

Hart paced 16 qualifiers in the 100 as he zipped through his heat in a sparkling 9.3. He has his work cut out, though, because no less than five rivals —George Daniels of Colorado, Warren Edmondson of UCLA, Norbet Payton of Washington State, Willie Deckard of Southern Cal, and Jimmie Harris of Ohio State—did 9.4 in the trials.

Other finals today are in the 120 high hurdles, the six mile, the long jump and the hammer. Saturday's concluding program lists 14 finals, and, of course, will decide the team title.

Henry Hines of Southern Cal, who has the best in the world this year, topped long jump qualifiers with a leap of 25-11 1-2, and is the favorite in that event today. Fourteen competitors are listed for the hammer with no clear-cut favorite.

Garry Bjorklund of Minnesota, the collegiate record holder with a best of 27:30.8, is the man to beat in the six mile.

Rod Milburn, the NAIA champ from Southern University, and Lance Babb, the Pacific 8 champion from Southern Cal, are the favorites in the 120 hurdles.

Other performances of note Thursday were matching 4:00.7 clockings by Marty Liquori of Villanova and Craig Carlberg of Nebraska in the mile trials; and 8:47.1 clocking by Jeromee Liebenberg of Western Michigan in the steeplechase trials; a 257-3 throw by American record holder Mark Murro of Arizona State in the javelin qualifying, and a 13:34.6 clocking by Steve Prefontaine of Oregon in the three-mile run.

Players Agree On NFL Pact

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (UPI) —A dispute between the National Football League Players Association and the club owners was settled Thursday. Player representatives signed a four-year collective bargaining contract.

The dispute grew out of an agreement reached last summer which ended the players strike but was not signed by the ownes. The players charged the owners were misinterpreting the agreement.

Leonard Lindquist, attorney for the players, said the players association would withdraw the unfair labor practice charge now before the National Labor Relations Board (NRLB).

Lindquist said the new contract defines more clearly the jurisdiction of a neutral physician, provides for selection of a panel of neutral arbitrators with the commissioner having the right to select three, and provides for general arbitraton procedures in injury grievance cases.

Eight More In Cleveland Field

CLEVELAND (UPI)—Eight more touring golf pros have signaled their intentions of competing in the $150,000 Cleveland Open June 24-27.

Entries were received Thursday from Bobby Nichols, Bruce Crampton, Bob Lunn, Orville Moody, Bob Charles, Billy Maxwell, Cesar Sanudo and Terry Dill.

The Ninth Cleveland Open will be played over the Beechmont Country Club course.

Cubs' Kessinger Has Incredible 6 For 6

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Don Kessinger of the Chicago Cubs is doing some last minute campaining for the National League All-Star balloting.

The slick fielding shortstop, who currently ranks a close third in the voting for the NL All-Star team behind Bud Harelson of New York and Maury Wills of Los Angeles, turned in the finest single game hitting exhibition by a Cub in 34 years Thursday when he collected six hits in six at bats to lead Chicago to a 7-6, 10-inning victory over the St. Louis Cardinals.

Kessinger, who raised his average to .287, became the 62nd player in the National League to get six hits in a game and the first Cub player to get six hits since July 5, 1937, when Fred Demaree went 6-for-7 in a 14-inning game.

Kessinger scored three runs in the game, including the winning run in the 10th. He led off the inning with a single, moved to second on a sacrifice and scored on a single by Ron Santo. Kessinger also doubled and scored the tying run in the eighth.

"I can't explain it. Doesn't everybody hit that way?" said Kessinger. "There's luck in it. I never hit that way before. Today I might go 0-for-5. But yesterday I could see the ball good, and like they say, hit it where they weren't.

"I haven't changed anything. Same bat, same stance, same everything. I just marked the bat well so I'll know it again. I used the same one on all six hits."

Baltimore beat New York 3-1, Kansas City blanked California 5-0, Detroit nipped Cleveland 43, and Minnesota topped Chicago 7-6 in American League action.

Kessinger's hitting offset home runs by the Cardinals' Joe Torre, Julian Javier and Ted Simmons. The Cardinals also tied a major league record by using five pitchers in one inning—the eighth—as they tried fruitlessly to prevent the Cubs from tying the score. Jim Hickman had a homer for Chicago.

Lee May collected a single and a double to drive in three runs as the Reds beat the Braves. Jim McGlothlin went the distance for Cincinnati, scattering seven hits to record his third victory in seven decisions.

A's Hunter Goes After Win No. 10 Tonight

MILWAUKEE (UPI) —Righthander Jim Hunter, who got two extra days rest thanks to Vida Blue, chases his 10th victory tonight against the Milwaukee Brewers.

The A's, leading the American League West by 6 1-2 games over Kansas City, play four games against the Brewers and follow with four in a row at Minnesota.

Opposing Hunter (9-4) will be Skip Lockwood (3-5). The Brewers inhabit the cellar of the AL West, 16 1-2 games off the pace set by the Athletics.

Manager Dick Williams of the A's asked Hunter if he wouldn't mind skipping a turn Wednesday night against the Washington Senators so Blue could have a crack at them. Hunter agreed.

Williams said he wants to have Blue ready to pitch against Kansas City at the Oakland Coliseum next Friday rather than Saturday which is a big promotion day. It was a matter of trying to get two big crowds two games in a row, said Williams.

John Odom pitches for the A's against the Brewers Saturday with Chuck Dobson and Diego Segui scheduled to go on Sunday.

AAU In Rebuttal To Blast

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI) —The Amateur Athletic Union has charged the United States Track and Field Federation tried to "provoke and intimidate" the AAU with a statement issued last Tuesday.

Stan Wright, head track coach at Sacramento State, and chairman of the AAU's national track and field committee, issued a statement Thursday in reply to the USTFF. He said their charges are not true.

He called the Tuesday statement "a deliberate attempt to provoke and intimidate the AAU."

Tuesday, the USTFF issued a statement at Kansas City "declaring war" on the AAU. It charged the Union threatened to declare athletes ineligible for AAU events if they participated in the USTFF championships last week.

Federation President E. Wayne Cooley listed three grievances against the AAU. Besides the alleged threats to athletes, he charged the AAU refused to submit a world record 13.2 seconds set by Tom Hill of Arkansas State in the 120-yard high hurdles last June to the world sanctioning body and refused to grant the USTFF membership on the U.S. Olympic Committee.

Wright said in refutation that the USTFF "has wantonly misrepresented the truth."

"What occurred last week in Wichita was an 'open' meet," Wright said. "It was well defined and understood by all parties that under the terms of the Sports Arbitration Board that all 'open' meets must be sanctioned by the AAU."

Wright referred to the so-called Kheel Agreement of the arbitration board. "The Kheel Agreement defined 'open' competitions as those involving non-student competitors," Wright said. "Quite clearly several competitors who are not designated as students...participated in the meet."

He said the Kheel Agreement identified the AAU as the appropriate U.S. governing body "to speak with one voice in the international aspects of track and field competition. This function also entitles AAU the assurance about the conditions under which the claimed record was set."

Wright said the refusal to grant the federation membership on the U.S. Olympic Committee was a decision by the committee and not the AAU.

"We would suggest that Mr. Cooley...check with the proper authority—the USOC," Wright said. "If he applied to the AAU for membership in the USOC, then he is more befuddled than we had thought."

Wright said the racial discrimination charge involving Hill "does not dignify any reply whatsoever."

Yale track coach Robert Giegengack, a member of the AAU national track and field committee, said the USTFF meet in which Hill ran was not sanctioned.

Stock Car Qualifying Set Today

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (UPI)— Qualifying for Sunday's NASCAR Winston Golden State 400 stock car race was scheduled for today and from the looks of things, Bobby Allison appears to be the rabbit.

Allison will have a couple of things going for him, namely his '70 Dodge that turned a 106.938 mile-an-hour practice lap here Thursday. That time was about six miles per hour slower than last year's high qualifying set by Parnelli Jones.

But Allison didn't spend too much time on the track and he did have a little bit of trouble in the esses. His car hit some dirt but neither it nor Allison was hurt.

Second, and probably an innovation which will become part of every race driver's winning formula, is a two-way radio head set, inside Allison's helmet. Allison will be able to talk to his pit crew and they to him.

Indianapolis 500 winner Al Unser had a one-way radio in his helmet for the Memorial Day weekend race but he could only talk to his crew — they couldn't talk to him.

DEFEATS SOUTHERN ILLINOIS

Southern Cal Wins NCAA Title

OMAHA, Neb. (UPI)—For the second year in a row, the third time in the last four years, and the seventh time in 25 years, Southern California has won the college baseball championship.

The Trojans, playing before 13,945 fans at Omaha's Rosenblatt Stadium Thursday night, registered a convincing 7-2 victory over the Southern Illinois Salukis in the silver anniversary championship contest.

The Californians hammered Saluki pitching for 10 hits, including back-to-back homers over the left field fence by Craig Perkins and Frank Alfano, which notched their last two runs.

Pitcher Steve Busby, after allowing one run in the second which gave Southern Illinois a 1-0 lead, effectively stifled the Saluki bats until the ninth inning, when Southern Illinois loaded the bases on two singles and a walk.

Larry Calufetti then knocked a single up the middle to bring in the second Saluki run. For Calufetti that last hit meant the batting championship of the series with a mark of .532.

The Trojans scored twice in the third inning, added a single run in the fourth and two more in the fifth before Perkins and Alfano delivered their over-the-wall blasts in the seventh.

Busby boosted his pitching record to 11-2. He struck out six and allowed eight hits.

Starting pitcher Dick Langdon took the loss for Southern Illinois. It was only his second defeat in 14 decisions. Langdon pitched 5 1-3 innings and was knocked out of the box for the first time this year.

The Trojans lost, 8-3, to the Salukis in an earlier round but had wins over Seton Hall, Brigham Young and Tulsa in addition to the title game victory.

The Salukis drew a bye into the championship contest after Tulsa, Southern California and Southern Illinois came through four rounds of play with 3-1 records.

The Trojans were number one-ranked coming into the series and wound up the year with a record of 53-13. The third-ranked Salukis finished at 43-9.

Jury Back In Finley Discussions

OAKLAND (UPI) —An eight-man jury resumed deliberations today in a $100,500 breach of contract suit brought by a former Oakland Athletics executive against owner Charles O. Finley.

The jury got the case Thursday and deliberated several hours before retiring for the night. The jury foreman asked that a portion of the trial's transcript be reread to the panel today.

William Cutler, current owner of the Portland Beavers of the Pacific Coast League, brought the suit against Finley in May 1969.

Cutler claims he signed a contract with Finley in 1967 and it was supposed to run until Dec. 31, 1971. Cutler worked four months as a vice president of the A's after the franchise was transferred from Kansas City to Oakland.

He maintains he was fired for refusing to become the farm director of the Athletics.

According to Cutler, he was told by Finley in prior discussions that he would oversee all front office functions of the baseball organization. But Cutler said he eventually signed as vice president in charge of public relations "hoping he'd (Finley) stick to his agreement."

Cutler contends he signed a contract that was to pay him $27,000 the first year, $28,000, $29,000 and then $30,000 annually.

The trial was before Judge Leonard Dieden in the Alameda County administration building. An eight-man jury, rather than the customary 12, was agreed upon by both parties.

BOWLING TIPS

Be careful when shooting for the 2-4-5-8 spare. Since bringing down all of these pins is like getting a "small strike," the 2-5 area should be considered as your pocket. If you casually throw into the middle of this group of pins, you're more than likely to leave the 8-pin standing.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Public Offering Is Sign Of Future

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I have just found out that Merrill Lynch is planning a public offering of its shares. Is this the first brokerage firm to do so? Do you think others will? Can you give me any information on Merrill Lynch? — G. E.

A. While not an industry first, the proposed ML public offering is of major importance because of the company's leading position in the industry. Donaldson, Lufkin, Jenrette in its 1969 filing actually paved the way for others interested in public ownership to follow. Some 13 over-the-counter kirms are publicly owned and a number of others have been acquired by publicly-held companies in other fields.

There is little doubt that the Merrill Lynch offering is a turningpoint for what will probably be an industry trend. The need for permanent capital has been amply demonstrated by the approximately 50 brokerage failures and at least as many shotgun marriages.

Proceeds from only half the shares being offered will accrue to Merrill Lynch, the remainder going to selling shareholders. Maximum filing price is $35 for the shares and Big Board listing will be sought. A broadly diversified financial entity, Merrill has 1,500,000 individual and institutional customers served by 5,000 registered representatives in 202 offices.

In spite of its wide range of financial activities, ML's business is directly affected by economic conditions and its income is closely tied to the volume of trading in securities. Trading volume began increasing in late 1970 and so far this year has been running at virtually record levels on an annual basis. The gain is reflected in MI's 1970 earnings recovery and in the first quarter results for this year. Interim earnings were 90 cents a share compared with 31 cents a year earlier on three million fewer shares.

Although this new offering will probably be warmly received by the public, earnings have traced a rather erratic record and despite the company's size, shares will not be immune to market declines.

NEW KIND OF BRA

What the Vilem B. Haan company of Los Angeles calls a 'car bra' is modeled by Cord Carnot, who peeked through the oddly shaped item. Vilem says the bra will fit the front of a sports car snugly to protect the finish from sontes, bugs, road tar and the like.

Japan Approves $100 Million Auto Investment

TOKYO (UPI)—The Japanese government has approved a $100 million deal between Chrysler Corp., America's third-largest automobile manufacturer, and Mitsubishi Motors, the No. 3 car maker in Japan.

It was the Japanese government's first approval of U.S. investment in Japan's automobile industry, which is second in the world only to Detroit's. The agreement was approved by the Foreign Investment Council, an advisory organ of the Finance Ministry. The ministry customarily follows the council's recommendations in issuing its final ruling.

Chrysler will purchase 35 per cent of the Mitsubishi stock for $100 million over the next three years. Mitsubishi will sell its cars in the United States through the Chrysler sales network, and Chrysler will distribute its products in Japan through Mitsubishi.

Softness, Decline In Early Market

NEW YORK (UPI) —Stocks were lower on relatively light turnover through the second hour of tradint today.

Analysts attributed softness to normal pre-weekend, evening-up pressures, uncertainty about money rate conditions, and concern that the economy may not be recovering fast enough to slow the nation's unemployment rate.

Among the day's weakest issues were Bausch & Lomb down 3 1-2, Natomas 3 3-4, IBM 2 1-2, and Control Data 2 1-4. Off a point or so were Jersey Standard, Louisville & Nashville Railroad, UAL Inc., Eastern Air Lines, KLM Royal Duth Ciarlines, Flying Tiger, Fairchild Camera, Xerox, Corning Glass, and Walt Disney. NEW PLAYGROUND IN MAKING

A bulldozer and heavy earth-moving equipment level an area for a neighborhood playground on San Rafael hill above Robert Dollar Drive. By yesterday this 150-by-250 foot area was nearing the completion stage. New turf and an irrigation system will be installed after July 1, according to Andrew J. Snyder Jr., parks and recreation director.

Civil Rights Chairman Charges 'Failure To End Polarization'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Despite having "all the laws we need," the federal government has failed in its role to end racial and economic polarization in America, Rev. Theodore M. Hesburgh,, said yesterday.

Hesburgh, president of the University of Notre Dame and chairman of the U.S. Civil Rights Commission, issued the statement at the end of nearly four days of hearings on housing discrimination.

The commission took testimony from more than 60 persons, including three cabinet officers, federal, state and local government leaders, industry representatives and persons who suffer from the discrimination.

"Much of the testimony we have heard here for three and one-half days confirms the findings of our investigations over the past one and one-half years that the federal government has not treated the problem of racial and economic polarization as a problem of the first priority," Hesburgh said.

He said the polarization is "a problem at the heart of the solution of America reaching its ideals."

Hesburgh and his vice chairman, Dr. Stephen Horn, president of California State College at Long Beach, expressed some pessimism of much being done despite several announcements this past week of steps to be taken by the Nixon administration to end housing discrimination.

Hesburgh said the problem of exclusion of minorities from the suburbs overrides all the other forms of discrimination becuase education and jobs are keyed to where the minorities are forced to live.

Hesburgh said he disagreed with Nixon's statement last Friday that the government can deal with racial, but not economic discrimination.

"They are so intertwined it would take a genius to separate them," Hesburgh said. "In 80 or 90 per cent of the cases, they're almost identical."

He said Nixon "perceptively reflected" the problem of low and moderate income housing in the suburbs, but that statement "will not change overnight the present bad situation so deeply rooted in prejudice and malpractice on the part of many in both the public and private sector."

The problem, "often due to government programs, will be possible only if there are affirmative and systematic efforts by the federal government toward this end."

Horn said he was more optimistic than Hesburgh about a solution, although he thought a key to ending it lay in complete reorganization and amalgamation of local governmental bodies.

But he said he was impressed that "with maybe one or two exceptions we have not heard any of the white racism tag which killed the confidence in the Kerner Commission" report issued two years ago.

Nixon Petition In HUD Fund Fight

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— The federal government has asked that President Nixon be dropped as a defendant in a suit by the City of San Francisco charging he illegally impounded $350 million in housing and urban renewal funds.

Assistant U.S. Attorney Brian Denton filed a memorandum in federal court Thursday contending that judicial intervention in the exercise of presidential power was prohibited by the U.S. Constitution.

Judge Oliver Carter set a hearing for next Friday on Denton's petition.

The city, in three lawsuits filed last week by Mayor Joseph L. Alioto, accused Nixon of illegally impounding the funds appropriated by Congress.

Other defendants were Housing and Urban Development Secretary George Romney and the Office of Management and Budget.

Composer Friml Is Hospitalized

Before entering the hospital, Friml said he felt fine and had never been sick.

"My mother lived to be more than 100 and my father was very old when he died," said the composer of "Rose Marie" and other aperettas. "The doctors are the only ones who are nervous."

Ballot On South Span In One Year

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Residents in six San Francisco Bay Area counties will vote in June 1972 whether a southern crossing over the bay should be constructed.

This was assured Thursday with the signing of Legislation by Gov. Ronald Reagan placing the issue on the ballot for residents of San Francisco, Alameda, Contra Costa, Marin, San Mateo and Santa Clara counties.

Author of the bill is bassemblyman Robert Crown, D-Alameda.

A bill approved earlier called for legislative approval before construction of the proposed $500 million bridge could start. But Reagan vetoed the measure and suggested the voters in the region ballot on the issue.

Crown has said that if voters reject the bridge, the state could not build it without permission of the legislature.

The proposed span would be built from San Francisco's India Basin to Alameda County.
